a nap before returning to work. Supper is a light meal consisting of bread and cheese; they don't eat much meat because it is so expensive.

The Irniger family's main interests are music and hiking. Dr. Irniger would sit down at the piano and pick out tunes, and when fourteen-year-old Robert couldn't think of an English word, he would go to the piano and express himself in music.

The Santis Mountains were right outside Gloria's bedroom window. The family took her on a seven and one-half-hour climb on these mountains one day. As they hiked, they vodeled and listened for the echo. After a few seconds they would hear the echo, and after that an answering yodel from another friendly mountain climber.

The eldest son, Walter, is an assistant doctor and is planning to come to the United States in January, in order to study. Gloria is looking forward to seeing her "brother" again.

After two weeks with the Irnigers, Gloria left for a two-week tour of Switzerland. This included such highlights as a trip to the home village of Pestalozzi, a famous educator, and a tour of an embroidery factory. She then returned to spend another two weeks with her family.

Before catching a ship back to the United States on September 8, Gloria joined the other members of the group for five days in Paris.

Gloria is an active and well-known figure at Guilford. She is a Dana scholar and secretary of her junior class. A great deal of her spare time this year is devoted to giving lectures concerning her experiences this summer to various Greensboro organizations.

Founded in 1932, the Experiment in International Living is a private, non-profit organization in the field of international education. It is basically an educational program which endeavors to teach people of one country to live with those of other countries, the goal being that of advancing world peace at the individual level. The members taking part in the program are introduced to the country on its own terms, and through the eyes of its natives.

New Hockey Team

On Thursday, September 24, a group of Guilford men and Dean Atwell met to discuss plans for a hockey team. Everyone that attended this meeting agreed that it would be unsatisfactory to exist as an independent team as there would be a lack of competition as well as lack of funds. The possibility which was unanimously agreed upon, was to join the Greensboro Youth Program League which not only supplies all the necessary equipment, but also plays each other twice a week before the Greensboro Generals take the ice. Additional practice games will take place early in the morning two Sundays a month.

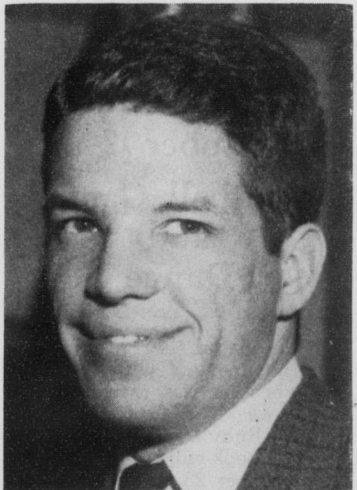

The experience of Dean Atwell who will be the coach and advisor should prove to be a great benefit to the team. The Guilford hockey team started skating on October 8. All students who are interested in the new hockey team are asked to contact Dean Atwell.

ROSE QUALIFIES FOR A.D.C.

Mr. Robert John Rose, son of Kenneth Rose of 3036 Bailey Ave., Bronx, New York, has qualified and been enlisted as an Aviation Officer Candidate at the Naval Air Reserve Training Unit aboard the Naval Air Station, Norfolk, Va.

Upon completion of pre-flight training in Pensacola, Florida, he will be commissioned an Ensign in the United States Naval Reserve. He will then receive advanced training at one of the naval air stations located throughout the United States.

Mr. Rose, graduate of Oakwood High School in Poughkeepsie, N. Y., is attending Guilford College where he is a member of the Society of Advancement for Management, Model "A" Ford Club of America and the Antique Auto Club of America.

M. S. C. Meets

The first official meeting of the M.S.C. was held on September 23. President Gary York explained that Vice-President Pete Benjamin was no longer a student at Guilford. He announced that he had selected Doug Schumann as his Vice-President, deriving the authority to do so from the Student Legislature.

Gary informed the members of the M.S.C. of a desk which had been stolen from the lobby of the New Men's Dorm, and asked them to look for information leading to its return. Dean Atwell mentioned that Mrs. Mathus was concerned about the smoking which was going on at the front door of the library, and asked that each representative mention this in his section meeting.

The next meeting was held on Wednesday night, September 30. Bert Rubin mentioned that the Student Legislature had decided to look into the matter of having refrigerators in the dormitories. In accordance with a request from the Student Legislature, the M.S.C. representative would be responsible for enforcing certain rules pertaining to the use of these refrigerators in the dorms. The selling of any food or drinks in the dorm by students is prohibited by state health laws, and all refrigerators will be checked to insure that they do not become "health hazards," with rotting food, etc.

The Campus Chest drive was launched by Gary York, and he asked each representative to spend one hour that night in his section soliciting funds. Approximately fifty per cent of the goal for men students living on campus was raised this first night.

Gary then appointed Mickey Shore to be in charge of securing cars for use in the Homecoming parade. The group elected Porter Dawson as their Parliamentarian to replace Tom Taylor.

Gary stated that on October 13, the first joint meeting of the W.S.C., M.S.C. and Student Legislature will be held. Gary also mentioned that he wanted to begin planning the proposed M.S.C. weekend. This would consist of a concert Saturday afternoon in Dana by someone such as Mary Wells, followed by a combo that night. It would all be free to Guilford College students.

The following men have been elected alternates to the M.S.C. for their respective dorm sections: in the New Men's Dorm, Dave Mockford for 1st South; Lawrence Buffaloe for 1st North; Robin Tyler for 2nd South; A. J. Carr for

by TOM TAYLOR

The Class of 1968 officially met Guilford College on a cool Sunday afternoon approximately three weeks ago, an afternoon that had been anticipated for at least four months by the Student Legislature and the subsidiary Freshman Orientation Committee. Few students realize the task of planning and coordinating a project involving over 300 new students—the responsibility is tremendous. It was the purpose of the Committee to provide a program that would serve as an introduction and as an orientation to membership in the student body of Guilford College.

Although the week-long schedule of events contained portions that many of the new students did not find enjoyable, the goals of the overall operation seem to have been successful. An introduction to any subject, in order to be complete, must present the gestalt or the total picture of the subject. Therefore, such attributes of Guilford College as tests to determine knowledge or lack of knowledge, lectures to explain the background and program of the college, and presentations to clarify certain rules that must be observed in community living are the necessary bases for the student undertaking a course of study. The seemingly endless rounds of convocations and meetings become monotonous only when the participants feel that they themselves have absorbed all of the information that they deem necessary and essential to success at Guilford College. Often the measure of this success depends upon the degree to which one has devoted his time and attention to acquainting himself with his new environment.

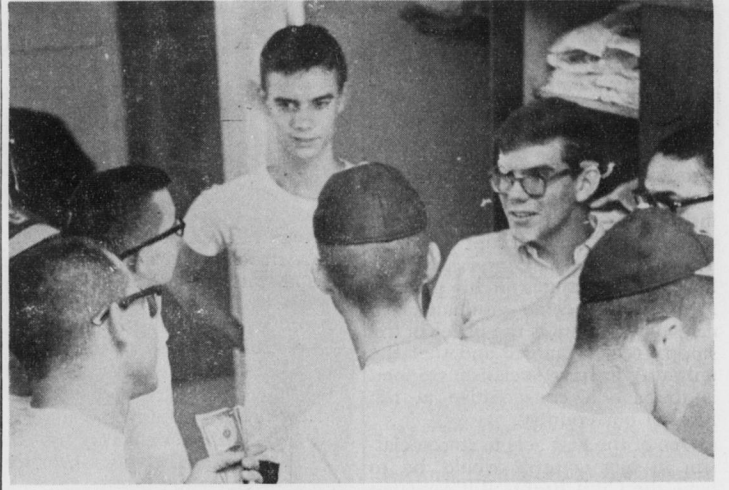

The social and recreational aspects of the orientation week were, as usual, the highlights of the week. The Social Committee did an outstanding job in carrying out its program, but significant was the genuine spirit of fellowship and friendliness that was the outgrowth of an event at the outset of the week, a square dance. With a professional dance "caller" from Greensboro and his supply of appropriate music, the students displayed a lively interest in each other and in the activity. Perhaps this sort of event could successfully be held again, before the students forget the fun of participation.

Quaker News

The 1965 Quaker is striving this year, as it has in the past, to have an improved yearbook. This year the format has undergone many changes and we are looking forward to a most successful production.

Since the student body is the main subject of the Quaker, your co-operation is essential! Please be on time for group and individual pictures. Sittings for individual pictures. Sittings for individual portraits will begin October 19 for one week. Appointment sheets will be placed on the bulletin board of the union, so please, sign up!! Sitting fee will be one dollar. All men should wear dark suits and ties. Women's blouses will be furnished. Faculty and staff members are also urged to sign up for portraits for the yearbook. Remember, cooperation means that the yearbook will be completed and presented to you by the first of May!!

The student leaders who participated in the events of Freshman Orientation Week are to be commended for the sincere attitude of friendliness with which they welcomed the new arrivals. First impressions are nearly always lasting ones. It is hoped that the overall impressions gained by the new students from the entire program of the beginning of the 128th year at Guilford College are impressions that convey a true interest in each individual. If that be true, then the program was undoubtedly successful.

Young Democrats

The primary purpose of the Young Democrats' Club at Guilford College is to interest people in politics. The attitude of many students toward politics is a very lax one. This situation is one which is contrary to that which should exist.

At our first meeting we had Mr. Samuel Johnson, Chairman of Guilford Y.D.C., to speak to the 32 students and faculty who attended. We hope in future to have other speakers who will enlighten us on the subject of politics and the Democratic Party. Our meetings will be every other week on Monday nights. We will welcome your presence.

Social Committee

The Social Committee is an organization consisting of twenty members elected in the spring of each year. Its purpose is to be the social co-ordinator for the students. The Social Committee sponsors combo parties, the Valentine Dance, and other dances during the week in the union. The Social Committee also plays an active part in the social environment of the campus. The committee has numerous activities planned but they can only be successful with the whole-hearted support of the entire student body.
