The Dilemma of Conservatism (page two)

The Guilfordian

Published by the Students of the South's Only Quaker College

Dr. William Burris: Viet Nam and the College Campus

(page three)

VOLUME XLX

GREENSBORO, N. C., DECEMBER 17, 1965

NUMBER 4

Herbert Reid Receives National Science Foundation Award

Herbert G. Reid, Assistant Professor of Political Science at Guilford College, has been awarded a Science Faculty Fellowship by the National Science Foundation. It was one of approximately 350 Fellowships that were awarded by the Foundation on December 6. The Foundation is granting the Fellowships as a means of improving the teaching of science in colleges and universities in the United States. The primary purpose of the awards is to provide an opportunity for science and social science teachers to enhance their effectiveness as

Mr. Reid's Fellowship, which he will use to complete his doctoral program, will require him to take

A good deal of Reid's writing has been concerned with the work of the late Morris Raphael Cohen, Professor of Philosophy at the City College of New York. Reid did his masters thesis on the work of Cohen and in the spring or summer of 1966 he will have published in the Journal of Legal Education (the quarterly of the Association of American Herbert Reid accepts Fellowship.

Law Schools) an article on the legal philosophy of Morris R. Cohen.

Reid received his M.A. from the University of Kansas and his M.A. from the University of Tennessee. He has been at Guilford College

The Messiah Presented by College Choir

by David Parsons Guilfordian Staff Reporter

On Sunday afternoon, December 12, in Dana Auditorium, the Guil-ford College Community Chorus, a group consisting of members of the A Cappella Choir and other interested students and members of the community, presented the Messiah by George Frederick Handel. This annual performance first took place soon after the founding of the choir in 1929 and through the years it has become an institution almost as basic as the choir itself.

Under the fine direction of Jerry Smyre, the chorus and twenty-four piece orchestra provided a spirited background for the four soloists: Soprano Marilyn Burris, wife of Dr. Burris of the Political Science Department; Alto Mary Lou Moran; Tenor Ray Young; and Basso John Von Cannon.

This was the 1965 choir's third performance of the Messiah. The other performances were given at Fuquay Springs and Goldsboro during a brief trip made the weekend of December 3-5.

The vivacity of this year's Mesriah and the recent outstanding performance of the difficult Bach's Magnficat are indications of the energy and understanding of music that Jerry Smyre brings to his second year of directorship.

Campus Gets Signs

The Student Legislature has announced that plans are presently being drawn for the construction of signs for all campus buildings. The problem of building identification created by a need for signs has been a matter of concern for the present Student Legislature. As a result a Sign Committee headed by Rob Jackson was formed. They investi-gated the problem and learned that Mrs. R. E. Williams of Goldsboro had offered to financially support the construction of the needed

The plans of the Sign Committee are tentative and committee members have indicated their willingness to give consideration to suggestions from interested students.

Jackson felt confident that the embarrassing situation which a signless campus has always foster- is to extend the contacts of the class ed, and the confusion which campus visitors and prospective students have experienced will soon be rectified by the erection of signs near all campus buildings.

following is a list of the committee members: Lynn Culler, Nancy

Licensed Campus Radio Station Planned by Four GC Students

whole idea are Bill Guerrant, John Desmond, Ric Schumann and Mike Rinehardt, four students who are presently enrolled at the College. The boys claim that serious thought of establishing a fully licensed college radio station began last year when Guerrant and Desmond constructed a small station within the New Men's Dormitory whose signals could only be received within the dorm. The response of the boys who lived in the dorm was highly favorable and there were numerous offers of records, advice and other forms of assistance.

The inspiration that the dorm station provided as well as their awareness of the fact that all previous attempts to establish a radio station had been unsuccessful, led Desmond and Guerrant to launch their project on April 29, 1965.

Within the last eight months the boys have taken several positive steps towards bringing a Federal Communications Commission fully licensed radio station to the Guilcaution anxious students not to expect anything in the immediate future because there is still a long way to go. Roadblocks that the (continued on page 3, col. 1)

Guilford College may have a radio station, not one of those little intradormitory set-ups, but a real, honest-to-goodness radio station. The generating forces behind the whole idea are Bill Guerrant John F.M. Station must be filled out and sent to the F.C.C. for approval.

When the F.C.C. has finally granted its approval to permit the construction of the station, the building may begin. Upon completion of the F.M. Station, the boys may begin the third step of their operation. This is the program-test-ing phase in which various tests will be conducted. An application for a Non-Commercial Educational F.M. Broadcast Station License will then be submitted to the F.C.C. When the license is finally granted, the station may begin regular program transmission.

It is indeed a long and tedious project and Guerrant notes that "this will be a very involved and time-consuming operation and therefore the earliest possible date of broadcasting, that is considering no delays and that everything goes smoothly, would be sometime during May of 1966."

From the day on which they began their project, Desmond, Guerford College campus. But the boys rant, Schumann and Rinehardt have

Guilford Has Three Fraternities

Although Guilford prohibits the establishment of chapters of national social fraternities on its campus, there have recently been established three fraternities of a sort. Two of these are honorary, and one is a service organization.

Alpha Psi Omega

Alpha Psi Omega is a national honorary dramatics fraternity. Its membership consists of outstanding college students who are interested and active in dramatics.

Admission is on the basis of points; the accumulation of fifty is requisite for eligibility for membership. These points are accumulated by some sort of participation in a dramatic production either on stage, behind the scenes, or both. Guilford's chapter was organized in the fall of 1963, and its faculty advisor is Mr. Donald Deagon. At the moment there are seven members. Nestus Gurley is President, and Max Rinehardt is Vice-president and business manager.

The chapter works very closely with the Revelers' Club and the Dramatic Council, and is especially involved with plays on tour.

They serve refreshments at intermissions during dramatic performances, and last year presented awards for the best actor, the best actress, the best supporting actor and the best supporting actress, as well as the best all-around actor to persons who had participated in Revelers' Club productions.

This group is very active behind stage in Dana, and work of its members is very essential to the successful presentation of each production.

Alpha Phi Omega

Omega, nati ternity, has recently been organized here, and is indeed only now in the process of organizing. Approximately twenty-seven men have joined, and the charter hopes to receive its charter by late April, 1966, depend-ing on the completion of a number of projects. Officers elected were Ray Perry, President; Dave Rob-erts, Vice-president; Barry Smith, Secretary; Ric Irwin, Treasurer; Phil Pollet, Historian; and Tim

by Porter Dawson Guilfordian Staff Reporter

visors but as of now the only one who has been chosen is Alan Atwell.

The first project that the new chapter has sponsored was a Christmas collection of articles to send to Americans fighting in Viet Nam. Requested were razor blades, pa-per-back books, playing cards and other practical items that we enjoy in abundance, but that are often scarce in Viet Nam. These were to be placed in large collection boxes situated at various places around the campus and in the Quaker Vil-(Continued on page 3, col. 4)

Christmas Dance Held; Queen Is Crowned

The Monogram Club held its annual Christmas dinner dance on Saturday, Dec. 11, in Founders Hall. It was a semi-formal affair with music provided by the Sabras, four-piece dance band.

The hall was well decorated in the traditional Christmas spirit with large amounts of evergreen and holly and with a Christmas tree by the fireplace.

The Sabras began to play at 8:15 while dinner was being served from 7:00 to 8:15. After dinner was completed, there was dancing until

The highlight of the evening was the presentation of the Christmas Queen and her court of four girls. Miss Roe Pearce of Greensboro reigned as Queen and was escorted by Mr. James Wiles, also of Greensboro. She was attended by Dedicated to the principles of "Leadership, Friendship, and Service," a campus chapter of Alpha Dona Newman, Cheryl Rippy, and Phi Owers, national service fracrowned by last year's Christmas Queen, Karen Schloesser. Bob Mackie presented flowers to the

The price of admission was $2.00 per couple, which included dinner. Non-boarding students were charged an additional $1.50 for the dinner.

Officers of the Monogram Club are Sandy Gann, President; John Van Etten, Vice-president; Jim Al-Tufts, Sergeant-at-Arms. The fra-ternity will have three faculty ad- Treasurer.

Money a Matter of Concern To Freshmen and Sophomores

the freshman class on a four-year struggle of fund-raising. The success of this project will largely determine future activities (parties or dances) of the class. All freshmen have been urged to actively support this current project by selling several boxes of candy during the Christmas vacation.

At the class meeting of December 1, Neal Thomas reported the establishment of an Advisory Committee. The purpose of this committee officers and to act as a sounding board for suggestions and criticisms from freshman students. The

Frosh Raising Funds

by Bob Wilson
Guilfordian Staff Reporter

The selling of candy has started the freshman class on a four-year questions, suggestions, or com-plaints, a class officer or a member of the advisory committee should be contacted.

At the December 1 meeting it was proposed that the next class meeting be held after a short chapel in the hope that more students would be able to attend. After vacation, this proposal will be put into effect.

Sophs Selling Mugs

The sophomore class, which began the present academic year by forming a Class Planning Committee, appears to be headed for another successful year. Though not aspiring to be named the "mug class," the sophomores revamped their freshman year mug project by offering to the students a new type of jug and metal mug with the Guilford College seal on its side. The project, headed by Dave Conrad, has proved to be quite successful.

The success of the Class Planning Committee depended upon the necessity that it contain a varied group of representatives from diverse dorms and interest groups. The Committee's meetings are publicized on campus and are open to Il sophomores who are interested.

President Rusty Maynard has stated that the sophomore projects have placed them in an excellent fi-nancial situation which may result in some sort of social event.

Among the events that the class has scheduled for next semester is the annual sophomore class basketball game.

The officers of the sophomore class are Rusty Maynard, President; Bill Hurt, Vice-president; Carolyn Smith, Secretary; and Patti Thomas, Treasurer.

Roe Pearce reigned as Christmas Queen in Dinner-Dance last Saturday night.