

PROSPECTIVE OFFICERS for Student Legislature are, from left to right, Dan Hulburt, who heads the ticket as candidate for president; Lloyd Covington, vice president; Paige Via, secretary; and Dick Sifferlen, treasurer. Staff photo.

Hulburt Announces Candidacy

Dan Hulburt has announced he is seeking the office of president the student of government.

Hulburt, a native is currently Richmond, president of 1968 Dorm. Other candidates on his ticket include, Lloyd Covington, vice-president; Paige Via, secretary; and Dick Sifferlen, treasurer.

Hulburt, a rising senior majoring in Sociology, has served as president of Cox Dorm and as a delegate to the North Carolina State Student Legislature, where he was a member of the student house of representatives. He is a member MIG, and its Judicial Board. Among the committees he is active in, are the New student union committee, the steering committee of the union retreat, and the cafeteria meal ticket committee, of which he is chairman. His vice-president, Covington, is the vice-president of the government. She is a rising senior majoring in English and has been a member of the legislature for three years. Lloyd edited the student handbook, the Pathfinder for two years and has served as a member of the faculty committees concerned with building and grounds, and teacher education. Before becoming vice-president, she served as chairman of the secretariat committee.

A rising junior, Paige Via, is the acting president of the Sophomore class. Before Sophomore class. Before assuming the office, she was the class secretary. She is a Binford Dorm floor president and is chairman of the WSC rooming committee. A Dana Scholar, Paige is a member of the choir, faculty committee for foreign studies and secretary of the newly formed seminars committee for New York and Washington.

Dick Sifferlen, the candidate for treasurer, is the current vice-president of the junior class. He is a rising senior majoring in Economics and has served as vice-president of 1968 Dorm, and Cox Dorm. He is a member of MIG and MIG Judicial Board.

In making the announcement, Hulburt listed twelve points he is concerned with. They included establishing a bookstore establishing a bookstore operated by students, open visitation in Men's dorms, expansion of the seminars programs, more parking facilities and freshmen being allowed to have cars on campus, and an increase in library materials, especially for special student groups.

Overcutting Members Ousted

Lowe Terms Leg.

"Irresponsible" Monday night's student mentioned the legislature meeting was, to quote Zack Lowe, president, "a true indication of student in dication of student irresponsibility".

The main purpose of the meeting was to review the 1969-70 student activity fees budget. The $50,000 budget has been under study for three weeks by the legislature finance committee headed by John Moorman.

According to Lowe, legislature was irresponsible, uneducated as to the purpose of the budget, and unconcerned with the complications of their actions. "They were notified three weeks in advance of the importance of the meeting and the probility of having an extended meeting.

In giving examples of his use for citicism, Lowe

Scholarship Society debate and the Athletic fund abolishment.

I'he debate concerning the $100 the legislature appropriates to the Scholarship Society centered around whether or not the legislature ought to pay for recognition pins for the society members. Debate lasted around 30 minutes

The Athletic allottment of $6,000 was abolished after 15 minutes of debate. Abolishment of the fund would mean that students attending any events on campus would have to pay at the door or buy tickets. Dr. Herbert Appenzeller stated that it could mean a decrease in the funds available for the Men's intramural program and curtailment of minor sports on campus such as golf, tennis and wrestling.

Of the 41 legislature members who answered the roll call at the beginning of the meeting, only 32 were present when a quorum was called on an issue under deliberation. After the quorum two legislature members immediately left the meeting, making the call two short of the number needed to co debate. Action on the needed to continue was suspended until Monday

The validity of the spring elections on Tuesday will hinge on action taken by the legislature next Monday night. If the budget is not passed, no candidate's elections will be

Zack Lowe announced in convocations Tuesday morning that the names of all legislature members having more than two unexcused cuts would be removed from the legislature

This is in accordance with a standing legislature rule stating that members are permitted only two unexcused cuts. Members are permitted to send alternates to legislature in their place and this is not considered cutting.

Lowe stated irresponsibility on the part' the legislature members would no longer be tolerated and letters were dispatched Tuesday

(Continued on page 3)

TheGuilfordian

VOLUME LIT

"Meaningful Dialogue" Excites CU Retreaters

By EMILY HEDRICK

"Meaningful dialogue" was the order of the weekend when forty Guilford College students, sponsored by the College Union, retreated last Saturday to discuss the school—its perspectives, its attitudes, its problems.

They came back full of ideas and proposals, as well as with the attitude of "do-something."

The four general areas of concern led by Mark Lessner, Vicki Wyszynski, Val France and Dan Hulburt, respectively, were academic life, social life (attitudes), school services, and school restrictions.

First of all, the physical surroundings and the format of the program were conducive to "meaningful dialogue" among the retreaters themselves. The retreat was held at Betsy Penn 4-H Camp on teh Chinqua-Penn plantation near Reidsville. It began formally Saturday afternoon, following a dinner Saturday meeting Friday evening with the administration and faculty members included in the group. The students had Saturday alone at the camp, breaking up into their separate, pre-arranged groups to try to iron out some of the issues confronting them. They were joined Sunday morning by the older members of the college community, individuals of whom met with the various groups for two hours. After a late lunch, everyone met together for a round-up of ideas, conducted by Dean Jerry Godard.

One of the main things stressed by Sally Peterson, Union president and co-ordinator of the retreat, was that the group was not an official decision-making body, but rather a concerned cross-section of the student body meeting in order to define problems, to bring up suggestions for improvements, and to help in communicating with the entire student body once they returned to campus.

prevalent theme on (Continued on page 3)

MOD TWELFTH NIGHT—Marilyn McIntyre, left, rehearses Shakespeare's Twelfth Night with her fellow cast members, Sally Peterson and Hank Hackett. The "mod" production, directed by Pat Gilbreath, will be given tonight, Saturday and Sunday nights at 8:15 in Dana Auditorium's theatre-in-the-round. Admission is free to Guilford College students. The large cast, many of whom will be making their drama debut tonight, has been rehearsing since February on the play. Photo by Jim McLarty.

Freshmen Visiting Sat.

Approximately fifty candidates for the Guilford Select Freshman Scholarship Program will visit the campus Saturday. The purpose of the visit is to give the students a chance to tour the campus and meet with members of the faculty and the administration. The day will begin with refreshments in Founders Hall, followed by a welcome to the candidates from President candidates from Grimsley Hobbs.

A tour of the campus will be followed by explanations of the new curriculum, the Select Freshman Scholarship Program, and the Richardson Program.

Sally Peterson will address the meeting and acquaint them with the social and cultural activities offered by the Student Union. After lunch each perspective freshman will be interviewed in the Hut.

Fifteen Select Freshman Scholarships will be awarded. Requirements for application for a scholarship were a minimum of 1200 points on the College Entrance Examination Board and membership in the top 25% of the applicants class.

Students who have taken rigorous academic courses and who rank high in their class will be given preference. The scholarships will be awarded principally outstanding on scholarship rather than need.