Robert Moorman, the principal speaker of the Drug Symposium being held this week, is a former drug addict and has served fourteen months in prison for possession of narcotics.

Moorman, 29, began using drugs in 1961 while a student at Cambridge, Massachusetts. He left college in 1962, and became an associate of Timothy Leary.

During the next four years Moorman used marijuana, morphine, heroin, L.S.D., mescaline solvents, glues, romalor, amphetamines, barbiturates and various assorted pills.

Moorman was arrested in 1966 for grand larceny and possession of narcotics. While serving a fourteen month sentence in the Florida State and County Prison system, he began the process of rehabilitation.

Upon his release from prison, Moorman joined the staff of the Mattson Academy of Karate in Boston, Massachusetts. Mr. Moorman is a black belt karate instructor.

He became part of a musical group, The Elephants Memory and in 1969 was married to Timmaris McDowell, a singer in the group. The couple left that group to form a new group, The Autobiography.

Robert Moorman's autobiographical book, "Drugs: A Rocky Road, Baby," will be published soon.

Moorman will deliver a lecture "The Burning Issue," Wed., Feb. 25, at 9 p.m. in the Union Lounge.

Cops Indicted For Crowd Intimidation

BERKELEY, Cal. -- (CPS) -- In the wake of a federal grand jury investigation into their actions during last year's People's Park confrontations, 12 Alameda County sheriff's deputies have been accused of violating civil rights by shooting, beating, or intimidating persons.

U.S. District Court Judge William T. Sweigert issued a summons ordering those indicted to appear in federal court.

Two of the men, Deputy Leonard Johnson and former Deputy Lawrence L. Riche, were specifically accused of discharging shotguns against riot victims James Rector, who later died from the wounds, and Alan Blanchard, who was blinded, last May 15.

In Oakland, Alameda County Sheriff Frank I. Madigan, who was in charge of all police operations during the Park crisis, called the charges "the sickest operation that the government has engaged in."

Madigan said he would be the first to contribute to the defense of his deputies and asked for community support.

Meanwhile, the Alameda district attorney's office has no plans to review the case, Senior trial lawyer DeVaga told CPS that the Civil Rights violations are for the federal, not state statute.

He also questioned the whole federal grand jury process, saying, "I always had doubts about systems where a person could say anything." In such procedures, he said, any kind of evidence is admitted, even hearsay.

of young men and women lack positive goals, personal convictions and reasons for living and thus have become "dropouts," he says, most of them are actively searching for a meaningful way to live.

Deploring drugs, drinking and sexual promiscuity, Dr. Peale also pleaded for greater understanding on both sides and called on old and young alike to "get high on God," beginning with a prayer: "Lord, turn me on. Help me to tune in on life."

"One booklet--isn't going to change everything," he concludes, "but it is a start."
