C.A.B. Ends Youth Fare

Many students' travel plans will be severely affected by the elimination of discount youth fares, announced Dec. 7 by the Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB). The National Student Lobby (NSL) and senior citizen groups are seeking to reverse the CAB decision through Congres-

CAB voted 3-2 that domestic youth fares are unjustly discriminatory and should no longer be per-The decision implied the same fate for international youth

"The wolf is at the door," said NSL Executive Director Layton Ol-"Although CAB has set no specific date for terminating youth fares pending a hearing early in 1973, on the effect of such a move, the discounts could very well end as early as March. Since Congress can prevent CAB from eliminating youth fares, students should ask Congressmen Harley Staggers (D-W. Va.), John Jarmen (D-Okla.) and Sam Devine (R-Ohio) to insure that the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee sends the youth fare question to the House floor during the first half of 1973." said Olson, "Students can also ask their own congressman and senators to vote for youth fares when the question comes up.

Senators Frank Moss (D-Utah) and Charles Percy (R-III.) and Cong. legal pressure from Continental James Harvey (R-Mich.) introduced Trailways Bus System, which has bills in the last Congress authorizing lost riders due to low air fares. discount fares for both youth (under age 22) and/or senior citizens admitted that the discount fares speak today at 2:30 p.m. in 223 ment while they work. (over age 65). The youth and aging undoubtedly generate more traffic King Hall. The meeting is open to proups made a powerful coalition. for airlines, but the board argued all. The Moss-Percy bill passed the Se- that the fares are closed to people another issue. NSL will inform its who would otherwise travel full and official take action," said Russell Lehrman, tributing to common fixed costs. revenue to warrant discriminating ment. Interns make widely differ ences for the summer; and to facilihead of Continental Marketing Moreover, if any airline feels it's against middle-aged passengers.

Corp., a Houston-based youth fare losing on youth fares, they can cut Youth fares were made to atsales concern.

In 1968 CAB reversed its own dissenters added. when college students protested the examiner's decision make healthy profits on youth the grounds that young people have that youth fares were unjustly dis. fares except when guaranteeing remore time than money while many criminatory. CAB has soured on servations. Some airlines have sche- middle-aged travelers are businessyouth fares since then after receiv- duled extra planes for youth fare men with travel expense accounts ing mail from older travelers and passengers while others have offi- and fixed schedules.

The Guilfordian

THURSDAY, JANUARY 18, 1973

N.C. Summer Interns

Very few summer jobs provide more than a pay check: summer work is often merely a dull but necessary interval between two school years. The North Carolina State Government Summer Intern Program offers much more. It is an unusual blend of learning, working, theory, and practice. The program offers students a chance to learn while they earn a good summer wage and to supplement their work in the classroom with experience in the Carolina who are currently enrolled a college or university either within or out of the state and who will have completed at least three years of college by May 30, 1973, are eligible.

Interns will be paid $100 per and will be provided with housing on the North Carolina State University campus.

The State Government Intern Raleigh area. Program, begun in 1962, provides an opportunity for 25 undergrad- ing the admission procedure in Doruates to work in state agencies othea Dix Hospital. "where the action is". Students -- A study of improving local comwork for eleven weeks with top munity involvement among minoragency personnel learning about ity groups. The majority of CAB members of Youth for Federal Union, will the many aspects of State Govern-Working with the State Governvolves both a 40-hour work week Carolina legislative history. and widening their knowledge of

"real world." This summer's session ing contributions to their agencies, which lasts from May 30 - August depending upon the agency's needs and the intern's interest and ability Past projects have included: -- A survey of tenant organizations in public housing in North Carolina.

> North Carolina State Parks. --Helping to expand the continuing education program in conjunction with the Community Colleges in the Department of Corrections. -Placing people on jobs in the

-- Preparations of a Master Plan for

-- Evaluation of milieu therapy durment Reorganization Study.

The Internship Program in- -- Researching the sources of North and a concentrated seminar series. -- Working in the Public Informa-

The first three days of the inthe state, interns are faced with a ternship are an orientation period challenging opportunity to work on for the students. The purpose for this session is to provide interns The most important aspect of with some information on state intern's summer is his or her government and politics; to present

Along with working every day in a State agency, students will have the opportunity to explore other areas of their interests in current affairs, government, or politics through a series of seminars designed primarily by the interns. Seminars may include discussions with state leaders, and spirited debates on controversial issues. Daylong sessions may be planned, with interns touring state correctional and mental health facilities in North Carolina. Seminars can range from practical to the theoretical, but they try to provide a learning experience tailored to intern needs

Because of the need for wellinformed citizens in all walks of life, the intern program is not limited to students definitely headed for public service careers. Students interested in business, forestry, engineering, high school and college teaching, and medicine will be appointed as well as those interested in government administration, po litics, and law.

State interns who wish to receive undergraduate credit for their work may enroll by paying a registration fee of $57. Upon satisfactory completion of all work and seminar assignments, they will receive three hours of credit in political science from North Carolina State University at Raleigh.

Photo by Catoe

YFU Speaker

Carl V. Angelis, field director

nate but died in a House-Senate who would otherwise travel dis-cially offered reserved seats at At the same time they are deepen- tion section of the Department of conference due to a stalemate on count fare and are open to people youth fare prices. Both de facto ing their interest in North Carolina Public Instruction. guaranteed-seat youth 200 member schools and other stu- fare to an extent that this age dis-fares are unfair and uneconomical dents when such bills are reintro- crimination is unjust. The minority in comparison to standby fares. argued that the discounts raise so However, the board lumped both problems facing the state. "CAB will continue to defer much added revenue that, rather kinds of fares together in its argufinal cancellation of youth fares than burden full fare passengers, ment that the fares are not suffi. an if students and Congress start to they benefit these travelers by con-cient in generating passengers and work in an agency of State Govern- insights on the potential experi> abolish the discounts, the tract passengers who did not have settled travel habits. The restricted As NSL points out, airlines standby discounts were justified or

The North Carolina School of the Arts Fellowship Players present a program of chamber music by Bach, Mozart, Corelli, and W. Schuman on Wednesday, Jan. 24 at 8:15 p.m., in Reynolds House. The program is free to the public.

Blackout Power

termath of a paralyzing snow storm the power failed. At approximately fifteen p.m. Ron Keene, head of the maintenance department, selves in dark buildings which were watched as a lightning bright blue beginning to grow cold. bolt of electricity arched from a bathing the half darkened and snow cult.

perienced dimmed lights, and the breakage of steamlines. ever, the faulty piece, an oil switch, ble for the failure. after being repaired caused another short out.

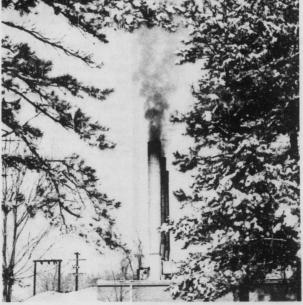

The repairmen briefly surveyed morning.

Monday, January 8, in the af- the situation and decided to shut off power to the campus in order to replace the faulty part. Consequently, campus residents found them-faulty piece of equipment located in the 20's and 5 inches of snow, at Guilford's transformer station, made repair procedures more diffi-Replacement of the covered campus with an eery flash. part was finally completed at 10:30 Lights went out all over the cam- p.m.. If the power had been out much longer the mishap could have Initially, at around 5 that even- resulted in other more serious diffiing, some areas of the campus ex-culties such as freezing and/or boilers supplying Guilford with The maintenance department steam heat entirely ceased to func- and the Duke power repairmen tion. Keene summoned Duke Pow- concluded that the snow and cold er repairmen to investigate the fail- weather, with the accompanying ure. The repairmen replaced a fuse heavy power demands, were possilocated on Friendly Avenue. How-bly, but not necessarily, responsi-

> Despite the dramatic night, classes began as usual the next Guilford's "Old Faithful" back in service.