ANDY GOTTSCHALL CHANGES JOBS

Editor's note: The following memorandum was received on Monday of this week. It will be followed by an interview with Dean Gottschall to appear in next week's Guilfordian.

Because of several unforeseen circumstances in the Department of Sociology, I have asked Andy Gottschall to resume full-time teaching and administrative duties in sociology with the beginning of the coming spring term. While Andy's leadership will be missed in Student Personnel, I am confident that his full-time involvement in the Sociology Department will greatly strengthen that segment of our academic program.

Additionally, upon Andy Gottschall's recommendation, I have asked Ken Schwab to assume the responsibility of Acting Dean of Students. Ken has had several years of experience with our student services programs and I have every confidence in his ability to effectively assume his new duties.

Finally, I would like to take the opportunity of this announcement to thank Andy Gottschall for his three years of strong leadership as Dean of Students, and for his willingness to assist in the resolution of our immediate needs in the Department of Sociology by agreeing to return to full-time teaching and administrative duties a semester earlier than originally planned. With this adjustment, I am certain that our program in sociology will be immediately strengthened, and that the college will be in a distinctly better position to meet its academic responsibilities to several student constituencies.

Kathy Sebo Candidate

Kathy Sebo, popular instructor from the political science department and Being Human in the 20th Century, has announced that she is running for a seat on the Greensboro city council. The well known defender of women's rights has entered a crowded field of 23 candidates competing for only six places. In addition to teaching at Guilford College, Ms. Sebo has been a past chairman of the Mayors' committee on the status of women and the host of a local television program.
