Quakers Kick Hampton Sydney

ARMPFIELD ATHLETIC CENTER - The Guilford College football Quakers took several large strides in rebuilding their program by whipping Hampton Sydney 15-7 here last Saturday. Although the 15-7 count was no indication of how well the Quakers played, the final result still left Guilford undefeated on the year.

The Quaker offensive unit underwent a severe test in facing the veteran Bulldog defensive team. Even though the offense only scored one touchdown, they capitalized on a costly H-S turnover, while controlling the game tempo with lengthy drives.

One of the most overlooked highlights of the win was the kicking of Butch Foley. Before the game, one of the main unsolved questions of this years team was the placekicking department. Foley responded with two field goals, one a 41 yarder, and added a conversion to run his season scoring total to nine points, tops on the team.

Guilford kept pressure on Hampton Sydney the entire game, particularly the first half. On the other hand, the Quakers maintained ball possession double to that of the Bulldogs, and moved inside H-S territory in all but three cases.

The opening series saw Guilford move from its on 20-yard line to the Bulldog 49, before defensive back David Paxton intercepted a Steve Watson pass. The two teams then exchanged punts before Blaine Tysinger intercepted a Bulldog pass on the H-S 31. The Quakers then moved to the 19 where on a fourth and four it appeared Guilford coach Dennis Haglan was settling for three points. Foley lined up as to kick, but as the snap reached holder Chris Paphites the soph took the ball and rolled to the right and passed. The gamble did not play off as Paxton recorded his second interception of the game.

Hampton Sydney then controled the ball until the opening minutes of the second period before punting. Guilford then drove inside the 50 to the H-S 48. The rushing of Reggie Kenan and Billy Whitley was shutdown after Haglan gambled and won on a fourth and one from the Bulldog 48.

Following a brief punting duel, Mike Ribet returned a kick to the Guilford 45. Watson then found tightend Charlie Groves open twice for 30 yards during the closing minutes of the half. Groves was injured on his second reception and left the game. Then, Butch Foley came in and connected on his 41 yard field goal with only 0:25 left in the half.

Guilford kicked off to begin the second half and the Bulldogs began to show some offensive flair, moving to the Guilford 38. Both teams then punted, with Tony Swainey kicking the ball to the Bulldog six-yard line. Veteran Al Patterson then intercepted a first down pass on the 12-yard line. Watson then cashed in on turnover as he hit Chris Paphites with a pass that was tipped for the score. Foley converted and the Quaker lead increased to 10-0 with 5:30 remaining in the third quarter.

Again the two teams exchanged punts until the opening minutes of the finale. Guilford then caused another turnover when a jarring tackle on Bo Snodgrass forced the wide receiver to fumble after making a long catch. The Quakers then moved to the eleven but failed on a third and goal. Foley then added his second three pointer to the game giving the Quakes a 13 point lead with 4:56 left.

A determined H-S offense then came back to score themselves as reserve QB Donny Cequien took to the air. The Bulldogs moved 73 yards in only five plays as Cequiens fourth consecutive pass completion was an eleven yard TD pass to Snodgrass. Referees tacked on two 15 yard

Garrett Wall: Team Leader

by Fred Taylor
Staff Writer

As you already know, last week the Guilford booters rallied over Greensboro College in the season opener before losing the Duke 7-2 two days ago. Garrett Wall, co-captain and a four year player for the Quakers had these remarks about the team and the upcoming season.

FT: Garrett, how do you explain last weeks lop-sided victory over Greensboro College?

GW: Well, I feel that the team was mentally psyched and ready to play. We have improved alot for the few weeks of practice and everyone wanted a win for G.C. was not an easy team to beat. We had to play good soccer to win and I felt everyone played their best. Had we not, G.C. could have beaten us.

FT: Since most of the starters from last year's team are back, what do you think are the main differences in this team and the team last year?

GW: I feel the main difference is that we've learned to work together as a team. The front line has now shown that it can score with consistency and this is a big improvement. Last year, everyone was playing as though soccer was an individual sport but now we're playing like a team.

Nevets Picks Losers, Skips Town

WHYNOT, N.C. - What am I doing here? Last Saturday night's victory mania drove me out of my room in Bryan Country Club in search of a more peaceful setting until things settle down. Actually I was heading to Pinehurst via route 751 to see my good friend and bookie J. Roscoe Friday. That's when I drove through Whynot. "Whynot," I said. So I did.

It seems the people here are in continually debating over just about anything; the weather, President Truman, whether or not to allow women to vote. You know, everyday current subjects.

Turning back the calendar isn't just a slogan in Whynot, it's reality. It seems there was a curse placed on the town in the late 1880's by Q. Mayhem Pope, owner of a large llama

Duke Crushes Guilford 7-2

Durham-Everyone was pointing to the game with Duke University as a good indicator of this years soccer team. The Quakers looked tough for the opening 15 minutes of the game before being crushed by a strong Blue Devil team 7-2 here Wednesday.

Following the opening kickoff, the Dukes began to shoot almost at will at Quaker goalie Robert Pierce. However, with about 30 minutes left in the half, Guilford's Richard Schumacher took advantage of a one-on-one situation to score after he had slipped by one Duke defender with a nifty display of ball handling.

The goal by the Quakers did nothing to fire the Dukes up even more. The Blue Devils then came back to continue to fire away shots at a shellshocked Pierce.

It took Duke only two minutes to take their first lead in this non-conference game. Continually, Duke swarmed the Guilford net, pushing one goal in before scoring another as the ball deflected off the side post and bouncing back in the goal. Both of the scores came within a two minute time span.

Guilford then suffered a severe blow to their chances of winning as goalie Pierce left the game after being kicked in the head as he attempted to block a Duke attempt. The Blue Devils scored again in this half producing a comfortable 3-1 halftime lead.

Second half play was equally disastrous for Guilford as Duke continued an assault on reserve tender Fred Curtis. The Dukes then went on to score three more times for a six point lead during the first part of the last half.

Left winger Bucky Boykin came back to score his first goal of the season. After receiving a perfect pass, Boykin kicked but the ball bounced off the Duke goalie.
