

Cow

Continued from Page 3

soda, we ain't drinking soda, we drinkin' beer."

I let Pitstop out on the highway and he immediately got another ride. "Where you headed, man," the guy asked Pitstop. "To see a three eyed cow," he returned and got in the car. I knew where they were headed.

Life, as you can see is irrelevant and so are this weeks pick.

ELON at GUILFORD

It's hard to use words to describe this game. Elon is tough, everyone knows that. They also have the manpower. But what they lack is the desire of the Quakers. The campus will shake tomorrow night after Guilford upsets Elon 10-7.

NORTH CAROLINA at MARYLAND

The Terps have been a flop so far this year and UNC looks better every outing. While Marylands opponents have been tougher, the Heels still have a boom-boom team. Lets call in 35-28 UNC in another tight one.

CAROLINA at GEORGIA

Those poor Gamecock fans. And USC is only beginning to suffer as the Bulldogs bite their 'Cocks hard 30-7.

MARS HILL at GEORGETOWN

Speaking of flops, how about Mars Hill. True, Georgetown is no power, but watch them walk over MHC. 13-0.

LENOIR RHYNE at P.C.

Lenoir Rhyne is starting to roll this year, but so is P.C. The Blue Hose always play well at home and it should be the difference as they nip LR 14-10.

STATE at SYRACUSE

This one is so easy. The Orange better hope State's team tractor breakdown before Moo U. breaks them 36-3.

VIRGINIA at DUKE

These two perineal losers square off in what should be called the Toilet Bowl. Still someone must win so I'll call it Duke flushing UVA 14-10.

NEWBERRY at CATAWBA

Catawba has been knocking people in unusual positions and Newberry will be no exception. Newberry will see dingleberries as Catawba runs to a 28-7 win.

WILLIAM and MARY at FURMAN

While still in the same conference, Furman is out of its league. W and M will slap Furman 38-14 and I wish all the games were this easy.

Pitstop makes yet another pitstop

photo by E. Howard Hunt

Booters

Continued from Page 3

Guilford has scored 9 goals this year while allowing seven. It is still too early in the year for these statistics to mean anything, but they still are interesting. David Scott is leading the team in scoring with 3 goals and 2 assists, Richard Shimaka has 3 goals and 1 assist, Dennis Salsberg, 2 goals and 1 assist and Bucky Boykin has 1 goal.

Guilford is on its way to another successful season, and this afternoon at 4, they will continue when they host Central Wesleyan.

TOTAL OFFENSE

	Ru.	Pa.	YPG
Watson	4	200	66.6
Whitley	186	0	62.0
Kenan	128	13	47.0
Barnes	31	0	10.3
Oates	29	0	9.6
Foley	25	2	9.0
Taylor	25	0	8.3
James	3	0	1.0
Team	431	215	215.5

PASS RECEIVING

	C	YD	YPG
Paphities	6	79	26.3
Groves	2	30	15.0
Newell	3	41	13.6
Whitley	2	25	8.3
Swainey	1	18	8.0
Schoon'r	1	14	4.6
Oates	1	13	4.3
	15	215	71.6

PASSING

	A	C	Yds	YPG
Watson	35	13	200	66.6
Kenan	2	1	13	4.3
Foley	5	1	2	0.6
Paphit's	1	0	0	0.0
Lindsey	1	0	0	0.0
Team	44	15	215	71.6

SCORING

	TD	FG	1XP	2P	TP
Whitley	3	0	0	0	18
Foley	0	2	7	0	13
Newell	1	0	0	0	6
Ribet	1	0	0	0	6
Paphit's	1	0	0	0	6
Smith	1	0	0	0	6
Kalin	0	0	0	1	2
Team	7	2	7	1	57

Rebuttal: From The Infirmary

C.D.L.'s editorial in the Gullfordinian last year was a wonderful and fairly typical exercise in bourgeois radicalism. Dissatisfaction with the college's health service is an element of college life abounding in places as well-known as Harvard and as obscure as Ferrum College.

While it is true that students may not be receiving the same caliber of treatment that they would had they gone to a doctor with a private practice, it is also true that they are not forking out a $20 visit, even though they may be given the same prescription or the same advice. It is up to the individual student to decide whether or not to report to the Infirmary, or to a local physician; no one is forcing the hands or wallets of students. However, there are several important factors that I believe a student should consider where the infirmary staff is involved before making a decision.

This article has been written to re-acquaint students with their health services, as well as to alert them to the differences between passed-on prejudices and reality.

Certainly C.D.L.'s prophecy, "...the health care system at Guilford will be radically altered..." has been realized. From a staff of four nurses and Dr. Johnson's regular visits, the Infirmary staff has been reduced to two nurses, a live-in student aide for night emergencies, and Dr. Brewer. In addition, the Infirmary will be open from 8 a.m. Monday until Friday at 4; and from 7 to 9 p.m. Mon.-Thurs. after which time students must provide their own transportation to Greensboro College in case of illness.

IRVING

Tracy Schwarz, formerly of the New Lost City Ramblers and the Strange Creek Singers, along with his wife Eloise will be holding a workshop in American rural folk music this Saturday afternoon at 2:00 P.M. at Irving, the coffeehouse in the basement of Bryan Hall.

RUSHING

	C	Yds	YPG
Whitley	45	186	62.0
Kenan	43	128	42.3
Barnes	6	31	10.3
Oates	8	29	9.6
Foley	11	25	8.3
Taylor	4	25	8.3
James	3	1	1.0
Team	117	431	143.6

Sadly, the majority of the students will take out their frustrations and complaints on the Infirmary staff, who are not responsible for this recent shift in policy. Mrs. Edith Hester, head nurse at the Infirmary, hopes that students will try to keep this fact in mind. Harassment of the already-pressured staff is unkind in lieu of all the work the staff has been trying to do for the welfare of Guilfordians.

While many of the changes are not for the better, Mrs. Hester has managed to arrange for a lab to be set up in the Infirmary which will enable students to have blood tests, urinalysis, and several other types of testing done right on campus, and at a much lower cost to students. Mrs. Hester says that lab fees will be approximately one-fourth of what one would expect to pay through a private clinic or hospital, plus the results will be ready the next day after testing. This is a big difference from getting the standard "call me back in 4 or 5 days for the results" routine.

The students who are familiar with Mrs. Hester and Mrs. Hunter are aware of their concern for students. Both are dedicated, sincere, and warm women who care more about the students than whether they are working in the "ideal" nursing situation. Their concerns about the health service are not unlike many of ours. Rather than take out anger against them, the students must decide amongst themselves what they deem adequate health services, and then fight for it. We are the ones who must pay for, and use, the Infirmary.

Two or three people cannot do it alone. If you ever find yourself getting a blood test, whether for a pregnancy or mono, ask yourself if you could handle the job. Maybe the Infirmary is "the same old product", but if you don't care for the bright new package it's got now, try designing one for it by yourself.

Civic Ballet Auditions

Auditions for the Greensboro Civic Ballet will be held on Saturday, September 28, at Friendly Center Auditorium. The Civic Ballet includes an Apprenticeship Group of dancers ages 11-15 who will audition from 1:00 until 3:00 p.m. and a Performing Group of dancers ages 15 and older who will audition from 3:00 until 5:00 p.m.

For further information on the Greensboro Civic Ballet, contact the United Arts Council, 274-2436.

Golf Team

Interested in playing on the Golf team this year? If so, contact Coach Buzz Dunning in the Athletic Office or call 292-5511, ext. 58. There is a possibility of several fall matches.

DISCOUNT WINE

There is a place to get fine wines and beer for less.

Chris' Curb Market

(On Battleground Ave. directly across from Dunkin' Donut, near Cone Blvd.)

Don't pay more in a fancy store when the money you save will buy more or better wines.

Students with ID's get an additional 10% off the already low wine prices.

Ask about our ice cold kegs of beer very reasonable prices and no waiting for it to get cold. We have all your other party needs of course.

OPEN until 12 Friday and Saturday