

Sexuality and the Disabled

The Family Life Council of Greater Greensboro and the Office of Continuing Education in Health Sciences, UNC-CH, are sponsoring a forum, "Sexuality and The Disabled," on February 27 at First Baptist Church, 1000 W. Friendly Avenue (lower auditorium), 7:00-10:00 p.m. The forum is open to the public, free of charge.

James Semmens, M.D., renowned therapist in sexual dysfunctions, and Ms. Susan Daniels, UNC-CH, are keynote speakers. The program also features a film, "Like Other People," a deeply moving account of the sexual, emotional, and social needs of mentally and physically disabled people. A panel of persons with various disabilities and closely associated persons who are non-disabled will close the program.

This forum is designed to create an awareness of, and a sensitivity to, the problems of sexuality encountered by disabled individuals. The attitudes and concerns of family members, professionals, and disabled persons will be explored.

Students are especially urged to attend this forum as part of their own education and professional preparation.

Free Films

The Downtown Greensboro Public Library will show during the week of February 23, 1976 a series of short educational and art films judged to be the best of the year at the American Film Festival this past June 1975 in New York City. The showing of these films gives the public and the educators of the area an opportunity to see what is new and considered the best in short films produced in the past year. This series of film showings is open to the public free of charge.

introduction and preparation to his visit. It's a great film, a true story, and I suggest everyone try to see it. The story is based upon Mr. Wiesenthal's files and methods of tracking down Nazi criminals and keeping tabs on their present underground activities.

He is the author of "The Murderers Among Us" which has been translated into 27 languages. It is the story of Wiesenthal's liberation after more than 4 years in a dozen concentration camps and his subsequent involvement with the search for infamous Nazis. He has also written "The Sunflower" an exquisite tale, it probes the Question of sin and forgiveness and "Sails of Hope" a study of Columbus and the close parallel between the Spanish Inquisition and the Holocaust.

Simon Wiesenthal is one of the few Jewish leaders to become a legend while he is still alive. His work has been not out of vindictiveness but rather out of a profound sense of justice.

If one is a tooth and a whole set are teeth then why shouldn't both in the plural be beeth!

If the plural of man is always men why shouldn't the pan be called pen?

You may find a lone mouse or a whole nest of mice but more than one house is surely not hice!

A cow in the plural is properly kine but a bow, if repeated, is never called bine.

Then one may be that and two would be those yet hat in the plural would never be hose.

We speak of a brother and also of brethren but 'though we may say mother, we never say methren.
