Matches don't start forest fires. People do. And they do it because they don't think. And because they don't take the time to be careful.

In the few seconds it takes you to hold a match until it turns cold, and to break it in half, you can think about the forest you're helping to protect.

And that's something well worth your time protecting.

Meal Tickets

for Day Students

Meal tickets are now available for day students. In an attempt to provide more services for day students at Guilford, Ron Short, manager of the Epicure Food Service, is now selling meal cards for any day students.

The meal cards, good for twenty meals, can be purchased directly from Ron Short at the Cafeteria for twenty-four dollars. Dinners count as a meal and one-half. The cards may be used for the remainder of the school year.

Hopefully, this service will provide an economical and convenient solution to a dilemma faced by most day students. Day students must either go without lunch/dinner or drive home or off campus to get a bite to eat. Now, day students can stay on campus, eat a meal, and save time,

How Swine Dine Ain't So Fine

BY BOB WELLS

Hoo-ray! The Agriculture Department has cleaned up in Pitt County where Linwood Coward of Grimesland, N.C. was charged with feeding garbage to swine and also permitting them to have access to raw garbage. 'sentence, suspended on the condition that he pay court costs and $50.00 in fines and refrain from this practice in the future.

It seems that since the Agriculture Department was able to handle this dirty case so well, it may have a bright future in advising those office seekers who feed the public garbage. They would recommend, I am reasonably sure, that they stop doing so, or else be fined while not repeating this offense again.

Just think of it, no more mud slinging, dirty ads, or ambiguous issue papers! A few debates, maybe a "controversial issue" or two and a whole lot of peace and quiet: Of course this dream will never come to pass, and for better, or for worse; the present hoopla over "junk" in the political arena is here and because of it, "we swine ain't dine'n so fine."

gas, and money in the process. It's a good play, so Day Students take advantage of it.

Thanks, Ron!

"LEEP" Grants Within Reach

A new financial door has swung open at the Urban Center of Guilford College for men and women who want a college degree and, after they get it, careers in the broad area known as "the administration of justice."

And the price can only be considered "right," thanks to Law Enforcement Education Program (LEEP) grants totaling $275,000 for the current academic year. Fifteen percent of that can be used by the college to make self-liquidating tuition loans to pre-service students.

Ann Johnson, LEEP coordinator at Guilford College, explains the new program this way:

Any person, young or old, who is not now employed in the administration of justice field but who would like to be after getting a college degree should contact her at Guilford immediately.

At a time agreed on, she and the prospective student (or a student already in college) will meet and decide on a full-time or part-time course of study which will include some administration of justice courses.

After a year, if Ms. Johnson and the student agree they have made a wise choice and the student wishes to continue in college, the student is eligible for LEEP tuition loans for the remaining years of college.

In the fourth year, usually, the student is assigned an internship and works in an actual administration of justice job.

The graduate may repay the loans by simply working in the administration of justice field. Each year worked reduces the loans by 25 percent. After four years in an administration of justice position, the student's loans are considered fully paid.

Administration of justice positions include those with police and sheriff's departments, courts, corrections and parole boards.
