

Dance Theatre Here

Philobolus Dance Theatre will perform in Dana Auditorium at 8:15 p.m. on Saturday, Feb. 5, and Sunday, Feb. 6. This residency is brought to Greensboro by the UC/LS or UNC-G, but the performances will take place at Guilford College. A limited number of tickets to each of these performances is available at the Founders Hall Information Desk, free to Guilford Students.

Philobolus represents a bold new concept of self-propelled dance. Combining dance, acrobatics, and sculpture into an innovative, witty form. They incorporate group movement with body linkage, and have an uncanny awareness of where their partners are based on a combination of faith and experience rather than vigilance. The dates of this performance have been changed from what was earlier announced, and admission will be by ticket only.

Save a Buck!

The Student Buying Power Card distributed by L & B Marketing, Inc. will be available to all Guilford students at no charge, beginning Friday, January 28, in the lobby of Founders or at the Information Desk. The cards may be used at these stores in Greensboro: Plants and Answers, Tennis and Golf Shoppe, Sarji's Pizzeria, Foxy Lady (High Fashions), The Art Shop, Discount Records, Layton Optical Company, Headgear Unlimited, Mardi Gras Disco, Honey's Old Fashion Days Restaurant, and Rapid Impressions. The cards entitle students to discounts of up to 10% off most merchandise.

Premiere of Sammy's — Act II

One can enjoy a relaxingly laid back evening of fine dining, wine sipping and light jazz at Sammy's Act II in Quaker Village. Twice the size of Sammy's on Lawndale Drive, Act II's atmosphere is beginning to fade all shadows of Dunbar's.

Manager John Franz, a student at UNC-G, is "delighted to cater to Guilford students who are interested in a quiet evening of dining and entertainment. But," Franz continued, "although I do plan to work up something special that would appeal to Guilford people a few times a week, Act II is not a beer joint!"

There will be no cover charge, Franz hopes, as long as he can "move enough dinners to cover the cost of entertainment and overhead." He is planning to offer customers different types of

The High Point School System and NCNB have been added to our recruiting list since the last Placement Newsletter. Seniors are urged to make use of this recruiting list. Now is the time to start thinking about employment possibilities. February and March are two of the biggest recruiting times of the year. Employers are visiting colleges making initial assessments for use in hiring decisions in May. Sign up for interviews in the Placement Office, Bryan Hall.

Quaker Weekend in Fayetteville

Young Friends of Guilford College are planning a weekend working visit to Quaker House in Fayetteville, February 11-13. Quaker House, which is run by the Piedmont Friends Fellowship, is a "half-way house" and counseling center for servicemen who are having problems with the military. It is located close to Fort Bragg, the largest Forcecom (Continental Army) base in the U.S. Also nearby is Pope Air Force Base.

The Guilford Group will have a varied weekend. Friday evening will include a tour of Hay Street, the commercial strip that services (or rips off, depending on your point of view) lonely servicemen. On Saturday the group will tour the bases and spend the rest of the day working on fixing up Quaker House. The work will continue Sunday morning, followed by meeting for worship and a potluck lunch with the Fayetteville Friends Meeting.

Participants will sleep in sleeping bags on the floors and will share in the preparation of vegetarian meals. Anyone here in the Guilford community is very welcome to come for all or part of the weekend. The trip is a good opportunity to get away from the college for a while, to learn something about a form of Quaker service in North Carolina, to do some physical work, and to get to know some other Guilford people better.

Anyone who is interested in going should contact Muffin McMullan in Dana House 1 (phone 855-6363) or Damon Hickey in the Library (extension 264 or at home, 299-5882). Make plans soon; the Fayetteville people need to buy food in bulk well in advance.

Dance

Mid-Eastern dance in America will be the topic at the Guilford Colloquium on Women as Shapers of Culture at 3:30 p.m. Wednesday (Feb. 2, 1977) in the Gallery of Founders Hall at Guilford College. The public is invited.

Andrea Deagon will demonstrate traditional and contemporary dance forms and will participate in a panel discussion on the cultural and personal values embodied in dance technique.

Ms. Deagon, a humanistic studies major at Guilford College, has studies with Linda Lichter and Marie Juergenson and has attended workshops with Serena, Ibrahim Farrah and Zeeba.

She is currently offering classes in belly dancing at the Greensboro YWCA and Lewis Recreation Center in Greensboro.

Washington Seminar Meeting

The final meeting of the members of the Washington Seminar will be on Tuesday, Feb. 1, 1977 at 5:15 p.m. in the Founders Small Dining Room.

The program and reading material will be discussed and transportation arrangements will be completed.

The Seminar will be from Feb. 6 - 11, 1977 and could accept two or three more members.

Any students who are interested should come to the meeting or contact the Center For Off Campus Education, 21 Frazier.

music spanning classical to jazz seven nights a week.

Opening at 11 a.m., the luncheon menu includes a soup and salad bar for $2.50, 23 kosher style sandwiches starting at $1.50 and everybody's favorite — bagels.

The after 5 p.m. dinner menu features the entrees starting with fettucini at $3.75 to filet mignon at $8.95, all prepared from scratch using the freshest produce available.

Act II is licensed as a private club to allow those 21 and over the convenience of bringing in their own bottles and having drinks mixed behind the bar.

Other beverages include nine domestic and six imported beers and 30 different wines.

"Exclusive" membership to Sammy's Act II costs 1¢.

Biophile News

BY DOYLE MOORE

The Biophile Club will be having its first meeting of the spring semester this Wednesday, February 2, at 8:30 p.m. in the Boren Lounge. For those of you who do not know, the Guilford College Biophile ("Love of Life") club is an ecological service organization that was founded in 1962 under the guidance of Dr. Carl Ward. Our primary activities include: a recycling program, service projects, bi-weekly meetings with different speakers and films, camping trips, and other outings.

This Wednesday we have the privilege of having Ms. Rita Midkiff of the Piedmont Lung Association come talk to us. She will be explaining the details of a community-wide telephone recycling drive from February 14-28. The Biophile Club will be assisting the Piedmont Lung Association and Greensboro Beautiful, Inc., in this project. This recycling drive will not only save valuable trees, but will also provide funds for community projects.

If you look at the basketball schedule, you will notice that the Quakers will be playing Catawba at home this Wednesday, tipoff time 8:00 p.m. However, this is a very important Biophile meeting and will begin promptly at 8:30 p.m. The meeting should be over before 9:15, so all you Quaker fans can go see the second half of another Guilford B-ball victory. Everyone is welcome, so come on out and get involved in the Biophile Club!
