

Why Not Study in Germany?

CONTRIBUTION

There is still time to register for a Summer of Study in East and West Germany. There are no language requirements but an opportunity to get language credit. The group will visit historic cities like Cologne on the Rhine River, East and West Berlin, Dresden, Leipzig, Eisenach, Weimar, Munich and Freiburg. Two weeks will be spent in Munich with visits to the Bavarian Castles and many other places of historic cultural interest in the Southern German Alps.

In addition to the course in German language, there will be a course in German Culture and Civilization with a total credit of eight (8) hours. While learning about Germany and its history and culture, one will find that our culture has its roots in Germany and Europe and will discover one's self in unique ways.

There are still openings in Guilford's six (6) other Summer Schools and in Seminars Abroad. The Schools are:

England - Alexander Stoesen leader;

France - Claude Chauvigne, leader

Colombia - Cyrus Johnson, leader

Greece - Drs. Ellis and Laine, UNC-G, leaders

Russia - David MacKenzie, UNC-G, leader

Education - Patricia Daniel, leader

Seminars Abroad visits eleven European countries and is led by Claude Shotts and Ruth Rothe. If you want to be educated for your future, your learning environment must be the global community including all cultures and nations.

March 2

The meeting opened with a moment of silence. Tim Nolan, Janice Mosher, and Judy Pevey were absent.

The Senate deliberated on the proposal Hugh Stohler presented February 23, 1977. The proposal stressed that the Senate adopt a clear policy which establishes that it would not fund student political organizations or religious denominational organizations in the annual budgeting process. The Senate decided against passing the proposal Hugh Stohler presented, 14 Senators disagreed with the proposal and 4 Senators felt they should abstain.

John Richardson proposed that whenever any formal legislation regarding any existing Guilford student organization is submitted to the Community Senate for its approval, that those organizations which would be affected, be duly notified adequately in advance in order to prepare a defense or rebuttal to said proposed legislation. The Senate agreed unanimously upon the proposal presented by John.

Senator Christie Fletcher gave a report from the Student Services Committee concerning the damages to Milner dorm. The decision reached by the Committee concerning the damages to Milner dorm. The decision reached by the Committee was that the House Council of Milner Dorm would handle the damages.

President John Janney presented the Day Student Constitution, Jane Sprinkle made the motion to pass the Constitution. It was approved unanimously.

Peter Reichard reported that the Community Council decided to start work on having a push-button traffic light and a cross-walk at the intersection of New Garden and West Friendly. Peter Reichard also reported that Fred Hunt - Director of Minority Students expressed

There are now two Greensboro Regional Consortium shuttle buses. The new bus leaves Guilford College from between Duke and New Garden at seven minutes before 11 a.m., 12 p.m. and 3 p.m. on Monday and Wednesday and seven minutes before 11 a.m. and 12 p.m. on Tuesday and Thursday. It runs only between Guilford College, UNC-G, and Greensboro College. The old bus runs at the same times on the same route it always has. The second bus was added to eliminate over-crowding. Ask your driver if you ever have any questions about the consortium busses' schedule or routing.

his concern at the Community Council meeting about black students leaving Guilford College. Mr. Hunt stressed that the Admissions Office and the Administration should work to create a conducive atmosphere for black students. Mr. Hunt also stressed that one of the goals of the Admissions Office should be to try to obtain 10% black student population on campus.

John Richardson informed the Community Senate that the Budgeting Committee funded the Libertarians $100.00.

President John Janney expressed his thanks for being given the opportunity to serve as president of the Community Senate. The meeting was then called to a close.

March 16

The meeting opened with a moment of silence. Martin McClancy, Janice Mosher, and Judy Pevey were absent.

As a result of concerns expressed by Senators during the elections, a proposal was made that a campaign spending limit be set at fifty dollars. In the course of discussion, the additional proposal was made that the candidates be required to publish accounts of their campaign spending in the Guilfordian the week before the elections. Both proposals were passed.

The following budget proposal was presented to better organize activities, facilitate booking of entertainment, relieve financial strain on the Union, and protect organizations:

All approved requests for funding of entertainment activities (i.e. dances, concerts, coffeehouses, films etc.) will be added together apart from the rest of the organization's budgets. After the amount of the Union's budget is decided, this total fund will be added to it. The Union will be given a list of what amounts were appropriated for which activities and will be responsible for arranging these activities at the request of the respective organizations.

After much discussion and alternative proposals, it was decided that the proposal affected organizations enough that they should be notified before the proposal is voted on. It was tabled until next week.

Sandell Froelicher was appointed as the new student representative to the Community Council, replacing Leslie Zeldin.

Respectfully Submitted,
Nicky McLemore
Secretary, Community Senate
