Danforth News

Congratulations to senior Chris Benfey on his being awarded a Danforth Scholarship to study at the school of his choice. Chris is the third in succession of outstanding students at Guilford to be selected for such an honor — sixty each year from across the nation.

Parkhurst The National Advisory Council of the Danforth Foundation has selected Fred and Joyce for a 6-year appointment to the Danforth Associate program, representing Guilford College in the Carolinas Region. The Program offers opportunities for interdisciplinary and inter-institutional activities among faculty. As Danforth Associates, Fred and Joyce will join colleagues across the country in activities designed to encourage effective teaching, to humanize teaching and learning in the campus community, and to enhance faculty and student relationships. The Carolinas Region, one of sixteen national regions, includes about 147 couples from 49 colleges and universities who meet annually and carry out projects designed to explore the relation of ethical and religious questions to higher education. A total of ten Guilford faculty members and spouses have previously been chosen: Pete and Lucretia Moore, '57; Jim and Margaret McMillan, '58; Carroll and Mary Feagins, '61; Donald and Ann Deagon, '65; Mel and Beth Keiser, '69.

Sattelite Housing Program

BY RICHARD PHILLIPS

The satellite housing program distribution has been decided upon for the 1977-78 school year. There will be four units used in this segment of the next year's housing program.

*Dana House No. 1 will be a French house. The female residents will strive for near total immersion into French culture. French will be the "house language." The decor will be as French as funds allow. The house will sponsor cultural programs such as workshops and celebrations on French national holidays. In addition, the house plans on sponsoring an invitational dinner on the last Wednesday of each month.

*Dana House No. 2 will continue to operate as an upperclass women's residence with no specific cultural or academic influence. Both the Housing Office and this year's residents were very satisfied with the success of the house and the accepted proposal was that the house continue in the same fashion.

*George White House's residents will also succeed themselves. They will remain a men's cooperative house - sharing the house-keeping duties. Their proposal includes plans for at least one open house per semester, one community related event per semester, and one house-improvement project per semester. An outstanding feature of the George White proposal is the possible implementation of a solar heating system in the house to help cut heating costs.

*Frazier No. 35-6 will become an "Economics House." This will be a residence for 4 male accounting, management, and economics majors primarily. Their proposal includes plans to establish a check-cashing service in Founders Hall that will be operating several hours a day, seven days a week. The service will provide a practical opportunity for the residents to be responsible for bookkeeping and to provide a service for the community. Approval of this check-cashing system is to come from the Administrative Council.

A Reminder of the College Alcohol Policy

Various concerns have recently been expressed by members of the Guilford College community about violations of the Alcoholic Beverage Policy. As Serendipity Weekend approaches, it seems wise to re-state the policy and to remind students of their responsibility in regard to the policy. Based on the premise that, "Friends maintain a strong testimony against the use of intoxicating liquors," the College policy states: "As a Quaker college, Guilford continues in this tradition by advising all . . . students that the use of alcohol is not an approved part of campus life." It continues, "The College policy in regard to the use of alcoholic beverages permits such use only in individual student rooms, with the use prohibited in public areas (lounges, hallways, non-residential buildings, etc.) and at campus events (sports events, dances, etc.)." This policy is fully operative for all events such as indoor concerts, outdoor concerts, and dances.
