

Quakers Drop Ball, Drop Game, Drop Season

BY DAVID H. BELL

Its been a long hard road that the Quakers have had to travel, and this past Saturday's game was no exception. The Quakers lost the season-ending contest to Catawba College by a score of 7 to 3. The game, for the Quakers, was a lesson in futility; Guilford got inside the Catawba twenty yard-line three times and could manage only one fieldgoal.

The Quaker offense looked great between the twenty yard lines, but they couldn't punch it. The "Rubberband defense" stretched far, but they didn't snap even though they did allow one touchdown. The Indians' score came about on a questionable, "roughing the kicker penalty," that gave Catawba excellent field position. The Indians proceeded to march in for the score.

The Quaker offense had its best game on the ground for this season, gaining 212 yards. The bulk of it gained by Greg Small, who had 137 yards on 30 carries. Jeff "Boomer" Rodgers was next with 72 yards on 17 carries.

Johnny Stewart had an up and down day passing. He was 10 of 19 for 126 yards, which put him over the 1,000 yard mark, even though he threw two interceptions that killed two drives. Stewart's leading receiver, as he has been all year, was Avery Cutshaw. Avery had 7 receptions for 82 yards giving him 46.5 yards per game average for the year.

The defense was led, as befitting his character, by senior Mike Williams. Mike had 14 tackles for the game. Next was Roosevelt Moody who had 10 tackles for the day.

The Quakers may not have had a super season but they had courage, which is something far greater than victory. This can be summarized by saying: win, lose, or draw, they never gave up.

The Quakers final record is 3-7.

Basketball team readies for season.

Photo by Walter Sonnenfeldt

Up, up, and away. Another winning season for Guilford's basketball team?

Photo by Walter Sonnenfeldt

Women Quakers Wrap it Up

BY NANCY SMITH

This past weekend the NCAIAW State Tournament (Divisions I and II) was held at Duke University in Durham, N.C. The double-elimination tournament format played the best 3 out of 5 games for each match. Guilford went in ranked third in the east district out of a total of 8 teams, in the division II tournament.

Guilford's first round opponent was Wake Forest University, a very hard-hitting team. The Quakers had one regular season loss and one win over the Deacons. Last year Wake Forest had placed second in the state behind High Point, and had advanced to regional play.

After a tight first game won by the Deacons 16-14, they appeared to carry the momentum, winning the second game easily. Guilford rallied in time to take both games 3 and 4. In the fifth and final game the Quakers suffered from a complete offensive breakdown, and were able to muster only 1 point, losing to Wake Forest 15-1. Because of their first round loss the Quakers next defeat would remove them from the tournament.

Guilford's first draw in the losers' bracket was Lehigh College. The determined Quakers faced a vastly improved team. Guilford easily took the first game, but overconfidence proved dangerous, as the Lady Braves took the next two games. The pressure was on Guilford, and the Quakers responded to the challenge taking games 4 and 5 easily.

Guilford advanced to face Western Carolina University.

The Quakers were ready to erase the mental block that had contributed to two regular season losses. It seemed this block would trip the Quakers again. The Quakers, determined to reach the finals, fought back and crushed the Catamounts in three straight games.

Guilford advanced once more to face conference arch-rivals Elon College. The Quakers had lost two regular season matches to the Christians, but had defeated them in Carolinas Conference play, both teams were out for vengeance. The Quakers played well together, taking the first game 15-10.

The fighting Christians came back and took game 2 and 3, as Guilford was unable to keep their service. The fourth game began poorly for Guilford as Elon forged to an early lead. The Quakers struggled against a scrambling Elon squad to tie the game several times, finally winning it 15-13.

The final game was all Guilford, with junior Betsy McKenzie sewing 11 consecutive points, their confidence returned, they easily handled the Christians to advance into the semi-finals.

It was the Quakers versus the Deacons again, the winner of this semi-final match would advance into the finals against High Point College. Both teams in the finals would automatically advance to regional play at James Madison University in Harrisonburg, Va.

Once again the first game was very close with Guilford victorious 17-15.

With the Quaker momentum rolling and the offense running like clockwork, the Deacons were destroyed 15-3. Unfortunately, time ran out on Guilford as the Quakers could not keep their service, and soon began experiencing trouble running their offense. Wake took games 3 and 4 easily, and the pressure was on.

In what was to be Guilford's final game, the Quakers surged to a 13-6 lead under the direction of seniors Donna Rogers and Debbie Tyson. Once again failure to keep service proved Guilford's downfall as Wake Forest crept up to finally win 13-15, and advance into regional play and finals High Point College. Guilford finished third in Division II with a final record of 16-19.

5'11" Lynn Zahurak was selected for the All-State Tournament team, an outstanding achievement for a talented freshman.

NAME:

PLACE TO DELIVER:

WHEN TO DELIVER:

French House		NUMBER	COST
Date-Nut Bread	$2
Date-Nut Muffins	1 doz. $2 1/2 doz. $1
Brownies	1 doz $2 1/2 doz $1
TOTAL

Rhino's
PRESENTS
Rhinoceros
a french comedy
by Eugene Ionesco
Thurs. Nov. 17 - Sun. Nov. 20
admission: free 8:15 pm
Stemberger Auditorium

The Guilfordian Staff
will meet
Tuesday, Nov. 29
5:30 pm.
In: Small Dining Room
Anyone interested
may attend