

Research dollars awarded

Seven Faculty Research Grants totalling $3900 have been made from the new Faculty Research Fund which was approved by the Board of Trustees in July, 1979.

Herb Appenzeller, Professor of Physical Education; Frank Keegan, Assistant Professor of Biology; Clair Morse, Associate Professor of Psychology; Carol Schmid, Assistant Professor of Sociology; Sheridan Simon, Assistant Professor of Physics; Paul Zopf, Dana Professor of Sociology; and Richie Zweigenhaft, Associate Professor of Psychology, are the first recipients of the grants.

Purchase of new laboratory equipment, research supplies, computer time, travel, and publication costs are supported by these grants.

Professor Keegan's project requires equipment for a regulated constant power supply which will subsequently be available for a variety of demonstration and laboratory teaching tasks.

He will be studying "the Isolation, Purification, and Characterization of Thymidine Phosphorylase from Tetrahymena pyriformis."

Karen Winstead, a senior biology major who already has one year's experience in enzyme research, will be a research assistant in the project.

Clair Morse's project is "A Study of the Comparative Frequency of Smiling for Men and Women," which has grown out of a pilot study on difference in smiling frequency, part of a broader interest of Professor Morse's in non-verbal communication.

Richie Zweigenhaft's grant is for completion of a study of "Southern Jews and the Upper Class." This will be the fifth in his series of papers on this topic.

Sheridan Simon's award will assist him in continued study of "The Evolution of Stars in the Presence of Non-Negligible Rotation," part of a longer project on the general theory of the evolution of rotating stars.

Several senior thesis topics are currently being planned in this field.

Herb Appenzeller, a nationally known expert in the area of Physical Education and the Law, will use his grant for research on sports law in the area of sport forms.

It is expected that a quarterly newsletter on current sports law will also result from this study.

Carol Schmid's book on "Conflict and Consensus in Switzerland" has just been accepted for publication by the University of California Press. The grant will support completion of this manuscript on intergroup relations in Switzerland.

Paul Zopf's award will assist him in the preparation of his new book Cultural Accumulation in Latin America, for publication.

Additional application dates for Faculty Research Grants are January 15 and May 15. Direct research expenses receive high priority in these awards.

Selection is made in relation to institutional purposes and to continuing research potential.

Minority service offered

How can minority college students planning for graduate school find the right opportunities for advanced study?

One way is with the Minority Graduate Student Locator Service, developed by Educational Testing Service (ETS) and offered by the Graduate Record Examinations Board.

Through this free service, college juniors, seniors and graduates who are members of racial and ethnic minorities in the United States can make their intentions known to graduate schools seeking such applicants.

Students sign up by completing the registration form contained in the GRE/MGSLIS Information Bulletin. It is the same form used to register for the Graduate Record Examinations, comprehensive aptitude and advanced tests used in the admissions process by many of the nation's graduate schools. But students do not have to take the GRE to use the Locator Service.

To take part, students describe themselves by answering questions that ask for ethnic background, undergraduate major, intended graduate major and other information about educational experience and objectives. This information is placed in the Locator Service file and made available to participating graduate schools upon request. GRE scores are not included in the Locator Service file.

Each graduate school establishes its own criteria to select students from the Locator Service file based on ethnic background, intended major field of study, degree objective and state of residence. The names of students who use the Locator Service and meet the criteria set by a particular school will automatically be sent to that school.

Students who want to make information available to graduate schools three times during the school year must have their registration forms in by Sept. 28. A student who misses that deadline but has the form in by Nov. 12 will be able to participate twice.

Dr. Dick Morton, one of this college's most dynamic professors, will speak on Undescribed Sinners as part of the Guilford College Collegium on Wednesday Oct. 31 in Founders Gallery at 3:30.

WQFS airs new and old serials

By Liz Collier
Staff Writer

WQFS plans to premier three new serials after the return from fall break as part of the continuing effort to improve the quality of programming on the radio station.

On Wednesday evenings at 7:00 starting October 25, the continuation of last year's "Great Atlantic Radio" will begin. These are eight half-hour programs dealing with various issues such as State Terrorism (10/31), Fast Foods (11/7), Travelling through the City (11/14), Radio City Big Apple Blues (11/21), Movement for a New Society (11/28), The Campaign to Stop Government Spying (12/5), and Love (12/12).

Mystery fans should be delighted with the new series called "The Fourth Tower of Inverness," which will be aired in fifteen 35 minute shows. The hero of the story, Hack Flanders, encounters conventional mysteries in the proverbial Victorian mansion but he also steps out of our world into the "astral world of myth and Science fiction. Tune in at midnight every Sunday.

The advertisement in the order catalog bills the series as "a totally new, contemporary mystery serial. . . in the grand old tradition. . . (which) brings back those days of yore when imagination flowered and listeners say spellbound, staring into space, while upon their mental screens the most vivid and exciting images were created."

The third serial comes from the Feminist Radio Network, a series that will feature a variety of pertinent discussions to interest all women and many men, also. A sampling of the post-break offerings includes: "Abortion Report," "Equal Rights Amendment," "Aint's It a Shame: Battered Women," "Karen Silkwood Story" (Nuclear Safety, Nuclear Power and Death), "Nobody Told Me. . ." (sexual abuse of children), "A Secretary is not a Toy," and Bonnie Raitt.

Returning from last year, Insights features interviews with well-known people in music and art. The roster includes names such as Keith Jarrett, Frank Zappa, Jimi Hendrix, Jesse Winchester, and Ken Kesey.

WQFS is on the air from 12 noon until 2 a.m. all week, with a special Christian Rock Show from 10 a.m. until noon on Sundays.

Jerry Rubin, shown here being arrested with 600 other protesters as he climbs the fence of Shoreham [Long Island] nuclear plant, will speak at Guilford November 15, 8:00 p.m. in Dana Auditorium. Admission 75¢ with I.D., $1.50 for faculty and non-Guilford students, and $2.50 for the general public.

"I FORGOT TO BRING MY ROACH CLIP."
