

Soccer Knots UNC-G

The explosive UNC-G Spartans, who had scored twenty one goals in their previous two games, were fortunate to gain a tie against the Quakers, who turned in their best effort of the season in Friday's Homecoming match. Dave Tunney, who was back to his uncanny knack of being in the right place at the right time, scored two goals and Dave Hood added the other goal.

The Spartans came out firing against a flat Guilford defense and things looked bleak, as shot after shot went wide or were turned away by keeper Jim Mansfield. Guilford's first offensive threat didn't come until fifteen minutes into the match when Tunney, on a nice individual effort, turned a weird bounce into a goal by nudging the ball between a Spartan defender and their goalkeeper. Despite the goal, which put Guilford up 1-0, the Spartans still pressured the Quaker defense and minutes later they tied the score on a penalty kick, resulting from a very questionable tripping call.

Later in the half Tunney scored again, shifting the momentum, and soon it was UNC-G on the defensive. The Quakers applied continuous pressure on the Spartan net and dominated the midfield for the better part of the game.

Midway through the second half, Hood, on a direct kick from eighteen yards, bent a beautiful shot around a wall of UNC-G defenders. The goalie never had a chance. With a 3-1 lead it looked like smooth sailing for the Quakers. However, two defensive lapses, the second coming with just 2:20 remaining in the game, allowed UNC-G to knot the score, forcing the game into overtime. The overtime proved fruitless and the teams remained deadlocked at 3-3 when the final whistle blew.

Earlier in the week, after dominating the Pfeiffer College Falcons in the first half of last Sunday's contest, the Quakers ran out of gas midway through the second half after a Falcon winger rifled a shot just inside the left post. For all intents and purposes the game was over then, but Pfeiffer added two more and handed the Quakers a 3-0 defeat in the season's first Carolinas Conference game.

In a "must win" situation two days later at Pembroke State University, the Quaker booters evened their conference record at one and one with a solid 3-1 victory. Derek Luney, Chris MacBryant, Dave Tunney (last year's leading scorer) all notched their first goals of the season in the triumph.

Volleyball wrap-up

By Mary Busken

Moving into their third week of the season, Guilford's women's volleyball squad presently boasts a 6-3 record. This past week, the Lady Quakers defeated Atlantic Christian, North Carolina Central, and Winston-Salem State University. The team won all three matches without losing a game. Losses came at the hands of powerful

St. Augustine and Western Carolina.

On the schedule for this week are matches against UNC-Asheville and UNC-G at UNC-G on Tuesday, Sept. 30, a home match versus Pembroke on Thursday, Oct. 2. The team travels to Johnson City, Tennessee on Friday for the East Tennessee State Invitational.

Unbeaten Quakers win 3rd

By Mike Van Wagner

At gametime, the weather was football, the crowd was large, and the scoreboard was working. Well, the weather remained football, and the crowd grew even larger, but the scoreboard bit the dust. Hampden-Sydney followed a similar fate. The Wildcats were the third victim of Guilford's undefeated, nationally-ranked football team. Keith Millner and Jonathan Heard, scoring two touchdowns apiece, led the Quakers to the 24-22 Homecoming win.

Just two minutes into the game, Heard put the Quakers up 6-0, taking a hand-off from Millner and dashing fourteen yards for the opening score. The remainder of the opening period was a defensive struggle, with both teams exchanging punts until Mike Harris put the Wildcats on the board with a thirty-yard field goal.

Midway through the second period, Millner ran a fine roll-out pattern, splitting two defenders and sprinting seventy-two yards to give Guilford some breathing room. Had Millner not scored, the Quakers would have gone into the locker room at halftime a few points behind, for shortly after his TD the Wildcats blocked a Guilford punt, recovered the ball on the five yard line, and scored on the next set of downs, closing the Quaker lead to 12-10.

Shortly after the intermission the Quakers put together a well-executed drive and capped it with a one-yard TD plunge by Millner. However, five minutes later, the 'Cats blocked another Guilford punt, recovering the ball in the endzone for another Hampden-Sydney touchdown. The 'Cats failed an attempted two-point conversion. But before the period was out, Heard struck again for the Quakers, this time putting on a fine running display, dodging numerous tackles while going thirty-five yards for what proved to be the winning touchdown.

Late in the fourth quarter, the Quakers had the ball, a 24-16 lead, and apparently their third victory when, bang!, Millner was intercepted on his own thirty-five.

The smiles on the Guilford sidelines were quickly replaced with tense, anxious stares. The 'Cats wasted no time capitalizing on the mis-cue and in a couple of plays the score was 24-22. A successful two-point conversion would tie the game. But Guilford's defense came through once again and stopped the 'Cats, securing the victory.

EXTRA POINTS -- Guilford could certainly use a few! In their last two outings the Quakers have scored seven touchdowns and one field goal for a total of forty-five points. In other words, they haven't made any extra points, either on two point conversions or one point kicks. That's horrendous! Randolph-Macon and Hampden-Sydney both remained in tying distance late in those games due to missed extra points. How long before the odds catch up with the Quakers? ... Guilford's defense turned in another fine effort. The final score is deceiving, H-S's only scores came on offensive mis-cues deep in Quaker territory. The "D" also preserved the Homecoming victory by stopping the Wildcats on two, two-point conversion attempts ... Millner was six-for-thirteen in the air for ninety yards, and also rushed ninety-seven yards on his own ... The crowd was one of the largest ever for a Homecoming game.
