

Guilford Quakers cringe under Christian crush

By Bruce Teachey

Elon left no doubt in the minds of Guilford College residents that they are the number one NAAIA team in the nation as well as the defending national champions. Guilford was blanketed 38-0 as Elon had an astounding 444 total offensive yards. Elon's quarterback, John Bangley, ripped the secondary with 248 yards via the air, which proved most decisive. However, Guilford's defense shut down the running game of Elon until the final quarter when reserves finished the game.

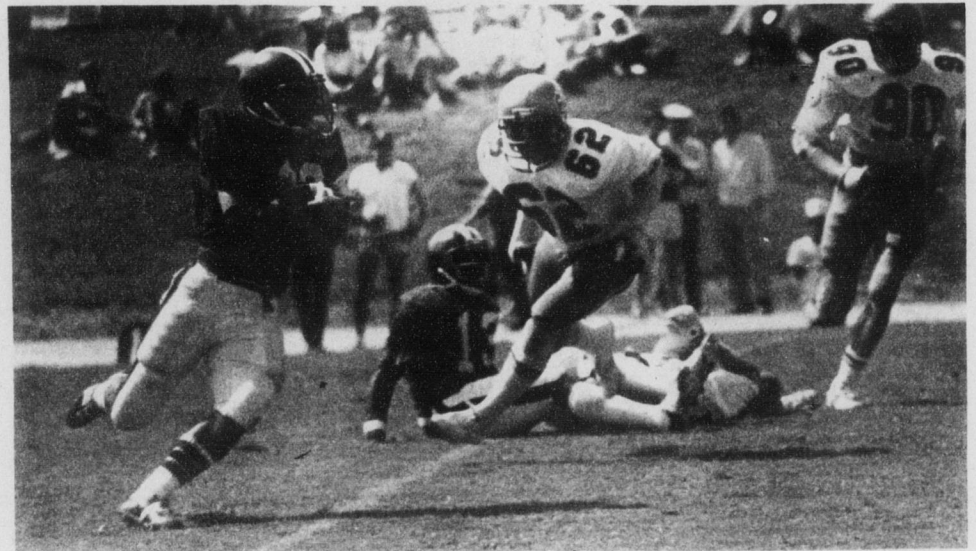

After both teams traded possessions in the opening minutes, Bangley initiated a drive which culminated with a five yard touchdown pass to Berkley Gore. Placekicker Phil Renn added the extra point to give Elon a 7-0 lead with 3:48 left in the first quarter. A one yard run from fullback Fred Jordan and Renn's extra point kick gave Elon a 14-0 lead with 11 seconds remaining in the first quarter. Elon finished the half ahead 24-0 as Renn hit a 43-yard field goal and Bangley connected on a six yard touchdown pass to Chris McCauley. The second half witnessed Bangley run over from the one yard line and reserve quarterback Boyd Byerly hit Kelly Stanley on a 31-yard touchdown pass to prove the final margin 38-0. Renn added both extra points.

The Elon defense was nothing short of fantastic. Guilford's Charlie Heard was held to only 48 yards rushing, while Keith Millner only completed three passes for 33 yards. Elon held Guilford to only eight first downs, all of those coming in the second half. They were led by their outstanding linebacker, Stanley Tootoo, who had seven solo tackles and one interception.

Guilford's only opportunity came in the second quarter when safety Jon Hoots blocked a punt in Elon territory. However, the Elon defense stiffened once again to stop the threat. Hoots had an excellent day with a game high fourteen solo tackles.

Guilford should learn a great deal from the game with Elon. However Elon has not been defeated and their defense has not been scored on in two weeks. Guilford travels to Hampden Sydney next week.

Quakers and Tarheels split pair

By Chris Mackie

The Guilford College baseball team split a pair of games with the University of North Carolina last Friday in Chapel Hill.

The Quakers sprinted to a 6-0 lead in the opening game and held off the charging Tar Heels to win 6-5. In the first inning, Kelly Jenkins led off with a double and was driven in when Vic Fucci singled. Then, with one out and bases loaded, Todd Roberts ripped a bases-clearing double to give the Quakers an early 4-0 lead. Guilford added two more runs in the second inning with the aid of Ed Smith's two-out double and stretched its lead to 6-0. Later in the game, the Tar Heels battled back with four runs in the fifth and another in the sixth, but were retired in order in the seventh giving the Quakers their first fall victory. Starter Randy Doss, who tossed three scoreless innings, picked up the victory, with Chris Mackie getting the save in relief.

In the nightcap, Guilford dropped a 4-1 decision despite an impressive effort. The Quakers rapped out eight hits but were unable to produce with runners in scoring position. Freshmen Mark Barnes and Brad Duncan showed promise at the plate with three hits and an r.b.i. between them. Pitchers Dan Madden and Jan Richardson were tough on the mound holding the Tar Heels to only one run in the final four innings. Coach Stuart Maynard was happy with the team's performance, especially on defense. "We played good ball tonight. We made only one error in two games and that's what it take to win."

The Quakers return home this week with games against High Point on Wednesday and Wake Forest on Friday. Both games start at 3:00.

Guilford falls to Elon

The soccer team fell to Elon Saturday in overtime, 4-2. Although Guilford's play was good, it was still characterized by the team's inability to score. During the game, Guilford had seven one on one breakaways, none of which they could capitalize upon.

Elon scored the first goal within the first fifteen minutes of the game. David Hood and Dave Tunney scored the next two goals of the game, giving Guilford a 2-1 lead. With ten minutes left in the game, Elon was able to tie the game, causing an overtime. Elon was able to score in each ten minute overtime period - one score coming from a penalty kick.

Team captain Mehran Rad said of the game, "We were able to pass and play well - we just couldn't seem to score. I feel that our major problem throughout the season will be scoring." Rad also said, "A major turning point in the game came when a goal was taken away from Guilford because of an offside call."

Guilford's season record is now 1-3, with one conference loss. Guilford's next game will be Monday, September 21st, against Pfeiffer at home.

The Quakers soccer team lost to Elon in overtime play, 4-2.

Study Space

however, be limited by the new and earlier closing time of midnight. Stohler explained that "Due to the cuts in work study, it is impossible to keep someone on duty until 2:00 as was previously done.

Students study hours have also been cut back in the library. The library now closes at 10:00 p.m. on Fridays and does not open until 10:00 a.m. on Saturdays. Sunday hours will begin at 2:00 p.m., and the regular Monday through Thursday hours will be from 8:00 a.m. until 12:00 p.m. These reduced hours for the library are, like those for Founders, due to cutbacks in work study funds.

The director of the Library, Herbert Poole, said that if there is "a large response from students calling for the hours to be re-extended, the library would seriously consider such a move." Poole noted, however, that there has been a problem in the past with students saying that "they want something, but then never use it once they get it."

Student study space has also been cut back in the library due to the placement of the microfilm machines and microfilm files in the large study room. The machines were moved out of the stacks because of a need for more bookshelf space.

The microfilm equipment has displaced a number of desks used for studying. A still larger problem may be the distracting noises which these machines make. They are notorious for their loud creaks and there is concern about how this will affect the environment of the study room.

Poole said that if the noise from the machines becomes a problem, sound proof partitions could be put around the microfilm area.

In an effort to compensate for the cut hours and study space, a plan has been formulated to keep a part of the library open until 2:00 a.m. This area would consist of the glassed-in alcove where the copying machine is, along with the bathrooms, the lounge, and the Fine Arts Room.

The Alcove will also provide late-night access to the college computer, as two computer terminals and a printer have been placed there.

Students may gain access to the alcove after midnight via the emergency door which faces King Hall. A supervisor will be on duty there from midnight until 2:00 a.m.

This plan was made possible by diverting work study funds from the Math Department and the Computer Center, along with money from the office of the Academic Dean. Schuman said that it was a "financial package" worked out between those groups and the library.
