

of Events

The monumental Brushy Mountain Apple Festival is scheduled for Saturday, Oct. 1, in downtown North Wilkesboro. The event will feature a vast variety of mountain life exhibits. There will be crafts, and art show, food and even a moonshine still to entertain participants.

A UNC-G sponsored Graduate and Professional School Day will be held on Wednesday, Oct. 12, from 10:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. in the Cone Ballroom. This is a prime opportunity for students to gather information from graduate school representatives.

"Getting Into Print" is a creative writing class to be taught by Margaret Hoppman. The class will be held at the Greensboro Center for Creative Arts from 7:30-9:00 p.m. beginning Oct. 5. The class is aimed at the beginning writer who wants to plunge into a part-time free lancing career.

The famous concert violinist, Isaac Stern, will perform for the Founder's Day concert at UNC-G. This concert will be held on Wed., Oct. 5, in the Aycock Auditorium.

The Play Makers Repertory Company, Chapel Hill, are presenting Shakespeare's romantic comedy, As You Like It. The play will run from Oct. 6-16 in the Paul Green Theater.

Do you want the night sky to contain more than just a bunch of stars? Every Friday evening at 7:00 p.m., the Morehead Planetarium in Chapel Hill presents a "sky rambles" program featuring currently visible planets and constellations. Also at the planetarium will be "Einstein's Universe," from Sept. 6 through Nov. 14.

Go for it! At the Brushy Mountain Apple Festival on Oct. 1.

The Dow Jones Newspaper Fund is sponsoring summer intern programs. Applications for the Newspaper Editing Intern program for college juniors are available Sept. 1 through Nov. 1. Applications for the Minority Editing Intern program for college seniors can be picked up Dec. 1 through Feb. 1.

Antigone, a Sophoclean Greek Tragedy, will be presented by the UNC-G Theatre. E. Donnell Stoneman will direct the play that runs from Wednesday, Sept. 28, to Oct. 2, at Aycock Auditorium.

The tunes of the renown Cole Porter will be recreated at Bryan Park's Dinner Theatre by the Livestock Players. This musical event includes the show and dinner. For reservations call 373-2026.

The Ackland Art Museum at UNC Chapel Hill will celebrate its 25th Anniversary with a special exhibition which will run through Nov. 6. Ackland, having gained an international reputation for its collections and exhibitions, is exhibiting the original six collections from its opening in 1958. The museum will be open, free of charge, from 10:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m., Tuesday through Saturday, and from 2:00 p.m. to 6:00 p.m. Sunday.

All the City's a Stage

By Iris B. Velvin

This weekend, thousands of people will throng the streets of downtown Greensboro for City Stage. This is the fourth year for the event, which has quickly become the largest street festival in North Carolina.

5 City Stage is an outdoor celebration sponsored by the United Arts Council and underwritten by Miller brewing company. There will be live music, art and craft vendors, international food, exhibits, two beer gardens and other activities.

The six major bands this year will appeal to a variety of tastes. The Nitty Gritty Dirt Band is a rock group with strong tradition bluegrass influence, well known for their hits "Mr. Bo Jangles", "Make a Little Magic", and "American Dream". Bo Thorpe and His Generation II Orchestra plays modern popular songs with a Big Band sound. The Band of Oz, and Chairmen of the Board both offer beach music favorites. Oingo Boingo is a group that plays new music, a mixture of reggae, new wave, and British Invasion influence. They have been the opening act for the Police. The Spongetones also play new music.

There will also be several popular local bands performing. Covacus, Jim Ritchey and Be Jae Fleming, Sammy Anflck's Dixieland Jazz Band and the Jimmy Person Quintet are among other scheduled to play.

City Stage will also have 45 food vendors serving fare ranging from Greek and German to Chinese and Mexican. Special exhibits will include weaving quilting, leather tanning, and basket weaving. There will also be a Kinder Kountry for children, a 10K race, and many other games and shows.

The beer gardens will be at City Stage again this year despite the objections of a local church coalition. After ABC permits were issued to City Stage officials allowing the sale of beer, the coalition filed legal petition asking for a court hearing on the matter. This has sparked debate on both sides. However, the hearing has been postponed until Nov. 7, so beer will be served this year as usual. Beer is restricted to the beer garden area.

Admission to all City Stage activities is free. There will be a kick-off party Friday night in the parking lot of the Greensboro Daily News, for which there is a cover charge. The Spongetones will play at the party, and there will be unlimited food, soft drinks and beer.

City Stage festivities will begin Saturday Oct. 1st 10 a.m. and Sunday Oct. 2nd at 1 p.m., and will last until 7 p.m. both days.

The Life & Times of an Academian

By Marshall Thomas

6:00 a.m., the alarm goes off I hop out of bed, crack 7 eggs in a glass and relish in my liquid breakfast. After a cold shower and calisthenics which climax with a reggae/calypso dance, I'm ready for another academic day. Usually I only have 6 raw eggs but today may bring a pop-quiz and I must be prepared.

These are the life and times of Haywood Axley Edmundson. An acasemian possessed with the pursuit of the highest conceivable G.P.A. Thrill in his day to day adventures, witness amazing feats of recall. Not to be sidetracked by the decadent behavior of his roommate Gregory Jarrod Sneveley (Rod for short).

However, Rod's deviant acts cannot always be ignored, such was the case when Rod switched Haywood's hair pomade with Crisco. The flies swarmed Haywood to the point of hysteria. Naturally, there was no doubt as to who the culprit was, that of Rod. Being the gentlemen that he is, Haywood let the event go realizing that it was the act of a schizoid personality, the type he learned about in Abnormal Psychology. (A for the course, by the way)

Tune in next week for more adventures and equally amazing characters such as the love of our hero's life and his roommate's concubine.

'Heavens of Fall' Offered by Zane

By Iris B. Velvin

The largest planetarium in the state is Morehead Planetarium in Chapel Hill. The second largest is the Edward R. Zane Planetarium, located right here in Greensboro.

Zane Planetarium was built in 1975 and has a seating capacity of 86. Other planetariums of its size seat up to 150, but Rogers Joyner, curator of Zane, says the emphasis here is on quality, not quantity. There are fewer seats, but they are all good seats, placed to give spectators maximum effect.

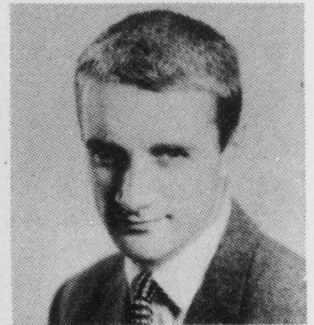

There are three different shows on the program at any one time, shown on a rotating basis. The feature show until Nov. 20 is "The Universe Game", a humorous tour through space. A second show, "The Grand Tour", is a space flight tour of our solar system. This show is a permanent attraction. The third offering is "The Heavens of Fall", part of a series of star shows that display the constellations of the different seasons. Each show lasts a little less than an hour, and cost only $1.00 with student I.D.

Seeing stars in a darkened dome is not the only entertainment offered by the planetarium. Starting in early November, there will be a nightly laser show with special effects. The laser show will be put on by an outside company that sells laser equipment to planetariums, and if enough interest is generated Zane might make the show a permanent attraction. A midnight laser show is planned on Friday and Saturday nights.

Zane Planetarium is located in the Natural Science Center at Country Park off of Lawndale Avenue. Call 288-2043 for specific show times.

HAYWOOD AXLEY EDMUNDSON

GREGORY JARROD SNAVELEY (the Rod)

Flash

Quaker Village
Open: Tues.-Sat. 8 p.m.

Neon Dance Floor

25¢ Cocktails for guys till 10

FREE Draft for ladies till 10

Live DJ

50¢ Cocktails till 10