Trees slated for removal

Some trees and bushes on Guilford's campus have been marked with paint for pruning or removal in the near future.

Forevergreen opposes the removal without proper community process and will be raising the subject in the next Senate meeting at 3:30 on Wednesday.

Senate executives are concerned about the situation. "We are very up in arms about this," said Senate Secretary Brian Sugioka.

Warsaw soloists to perform

The Guilford college artsETC Series will present the Warsaw Soloists in concert on Wednesday, Feb. 24, in Dana Auditorium beginning at 8:00 pm.

The 14 virtuoso string members who compromise the Warsaw soloists first joined together in 1985. Featured will be Hungarian pianist Klara Wuertz, who won the coveted First Prize in the Ettore Pozzoli International Piano competition in Milan, Italy, in 1985 at age 20.

Tickets are $10 for the general public; $8 for senior citizens and children. Group discounts are available for eight or more. Call 316-2400 for ticket information.

Seniors named in "Who's Who"

Sixty-three Guilford seniors have recently been selected to appear in the 1993 edition of Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges.

Campus nominating committees have included the names of these students based on academic achievement, service, leadership and potential.

Petitions for Senate are due on Feb 2 and elections will take place on Feb 23.

There are currently no declared candidates, but 3 petitions have been taken from the Information Desk.

James Green has agreed to serve as the Student Services Committee chair. James was the chair of the committee last year and was in large part responsible for a number of improvements, including the waffle makers and the woks being placed in the cafeteria. James will be up for approval at the January 27 meeting.

Another personnel addition took place last week with the approval, as expected, of Rob Kusch as Special Projects chair and Meredith Shea as Community Relations co-chair. Both positions were left vacant by resignations at the end of the first semester.

Preparations for the Student Loan Fund Auction continue. Auction Committee chair Michael Pruden reported that phone calls to businesses have begun and are proceeding well.

The phone bank in New Garden Hall has been reserved for the next two weeks, and volunteers are being gathered to place calls to area businesses.

Some Senators felt new locks with keypads requiring a code to open should be implemented. Others felt the current locks should be used at all times.

Still others felt telephones should be installed by the entrances, and visitors should have to call their hosts to let them in to the building.

Binford was to hold a meeting that evening to discuss the problem. Senate is expected to continue discussion in the following weeks.

The last half of the meeting was taken up with a brainstorming session for new ideas for committee work. Academic Affairs Committee was asked to look into removing the plus/minus grading system because some people feel it unfairly lowers G.P.A.'s. AAC was also asked to investigate getting teachers to stop assigning books that are used little or not at all in the actual class. In addition to these two items, AAC will be examining the academic regulations in the Student Handbook to look for areas in need of change.

Student Residence Council was asked to look in to ways of getting students to participate more fully in campus activities. There was
