

The Guilfordian

Volume 79 Issue 18

Guilford College, Greensboro, N.C.

April 7, 1995

WEEK AT A GLANCE

Friday, April 7

1:30 p.m. International Coffee—Boren Lounge

6:00 p.m. "Quakers and the Bible" Discussion with Walter Wink—Dana Lounge

Sunday, April 9

5:00 p.m. Christian Worship—Moon Room

5:00 p.m. Men's Consciousness Raising—The Gallery

7:00 p.m. Catholic Mass—Boren Lounge

8:00 p.m. NCSL—Dana Lounge

Monday, April 10

9:00 p.m. New Generations Ministries—Dana Lounge

9:00 p.m. Forevergreen—Boren Lounge

9:00 p.m. Guilfordian staff meeting—Passion Pit

9:00 p.m. GLBA—Resource Center

Tuesday, April 11

3:30 p.m. "Interviewing Strategies" Workshop—Dana Lounge

5:15 p.m. Communion—Moon Room

8:00 p.m. Tri-Beta/Biology Club—Boren Lounge

8:00 p.m. SOAN Club—Passion Pit

9:00 p.m. Union—Passion Pit

9:00 p.m. Humanity for Animals—Boren Lounge

Wednesday, April 12

3:30 p.m. Senate—Boren Lounge

6:30 p.m. Piedmont Math and Science Contest—The Gallery

8:30 p.m. InterVarsity—Boren Lounge

9:00 p.m. SOAN Club Film and Discussion—Leak Room

9:00 p.m. Outdoors Club—Passion Pit

Thursday, April 13

7:30 p.m. "Contemporary Japanese Business and the Economy"—The Gallery

7:30 p.m. Student Poetry Reading—The Gallery

8:00 p.m. Coffeeshouse-The Billy's—The Underground

8:30 p.m. Tri-Beta Lecture by Frank Keegan—Boren Lounge

8:30 p.m. Task Force for Sexual Assault Issues—Passion Pit

Proposal calls for 24-hour lockdown

Luisa Constanza
Senate/Club Correspondent

The 24 hour lock-down of residential halls as proposed by Mike Kimel, Director of Security and Safety, has created some controversy in the Guilford community.

The proposal is for a 24 hour locking of main entrances of five residence halls—English, Mary Hobbs, Shore, Binford and Miller—by next fall. The plan also includes providing each building with outside phones, and giving key access to every outside door.

This proposal has been budgeted at $4000 for the phones and $1200 for the change in locks and keys that access to the buildings.

"Given the community surrounding Guilford College, having

Kimel's Proposal

- Five residence halls will have entrances locked at all times.
- Outside phones will be installed on every building.
- All doors will be key-accessible.

24-hour secure dorms is a prudent and responsible thing to do for the college," Kimel says.

Kimel explains that the proposal has been presented to Senate and other committees of the student body.

Emily Drennen, chair of Security and Safety Committee explains that Kimel's proposal is endorsed by this organization. "The reason why we approved this proposal was to get the discussion out of the committee so students could start making some decisions about it," says Drennen. "We believe that students input is really important in order to decide whether the 24 hour lockdown should be done or not," she adds.

Jeff Barham, member of the

Please see LOCKDOWN page 5

Hobbs protests

A few weeks ago, Mary Hobbs was one of the residence halls that had an intruder sneaking in to the showers. For this reason, after a residents' meeting and mutual agreement, residents decided to extend lock hours in the building.

"People are concerned about security but when we had the meeting to discuss the extent hours people didn't seem to like the idea of been locked

Please see HOBBS page 5

Guilford students meet with David Molpus, Southeastern correspondent for NPR

National exposure

Students to be featured in NPR report

Staff Report

Guilford students and their involvement in a wide range of community service projects will be featured on an upcoming segment of National Public Radio's "All Things Considered."

The seven minute newsfeature will air either April 11, 12 or 13 between 5:00 and 6:30 p.m.

National Public Radio Southeastern correspondent David Molpus spent a day on the Guilford campus talking with students who spent their spring break participating in work trips.

Wade Tomlinson, a junior who led the work trip to Houston, Texas, says that Molpus asked the students about Generation X. "We all agreed that Guilford College isn't a part of that stereotype, that rather we are led to service-oriented projects."

Tomlinson says that Molpus came to North Carolina to interview students at Duke, NC State and Chapel Hill, and then asked people there what small, very good college he should visit. They suggested Davidson and Guilford, Tomlinson says, and Molpus decided to come see Guilford.

Initially, he was disturbed by the "hippie-like atmosphere," Tomlinson says, but his views changed by the end of his visit.

The students who were interviewed emphasized Guilford's commitment to service. Reportedly, the NPR reporter enjoyed the community he experienced here.

"It's good for Guilford to get this national exposure," Tomlinson says, "and for students to get recognition for the good job their doing."

Molpus also dined in Mary Hobbs and spent the evening with students who volunteer as tutors at Pathways Homeless Shelter in downtown Greensboro.

Davis to lead WQFS

Cory Birdwhistell

News Editor

The WQFS Advisory Board has chosen J. Kelly Davis to head Guilford's nationally recognized radio station as general manager.

The other managers are as follows:

- Brian Lowitt—news director
- Mike

Working—programming

- Wesley Elam, Andy Ahearn, and Annaliese Pollack—music directors
- Frank Stickney—productions
- Hans Mayer—promotions

According to Davis, who has served as news director this year, "The big thing next year will be expansion."

Although plans are not yet definitive, Davis plans on expanding the station both physically and personnel-wise. "I want to have an organization of managers, staff and D.J.'s, in which D.J.s have more options concerning involvement—not just do a show—and therefore feel more a part of the station."

"We will move forward, building on what QFS already is," Davis concludes.

Davis