Ken Glardon, Guilford's new women's soccer coach, seems to be quite comfortable in his role. Glardon took the opportunity to come to Guilford after having served as a head and assistant coach at Wittenburg University in Ohio for five years.

When asked why he came to Guilford, Glardon responded by saying that he "fell in love with the place".

Coach Glardon thinks the soccer team is shaping up nicely. He thinks they will be better than last year and that they are pretty good as is. Glardon said that there is a "good core of returning players." The coach also thinks that the team's greatest challenge will be "improving the defense and building confidence."

Glardon believes in a flexible and open-minded philosophy of coaching.

Glardon's hobbies include music and writing. He says that he has made an okay transition to life on the Guilford campus.

Shouts from the crowd

What do you know about Guilford sports?

"Nothing. I'm not into sports."
-Molie Howey, first year

"There are too many jocks in Milner" -Joe Carver, first year

"Rugby kicks ass. Ultimate is cool too." -James Norton, first year and rugby player

"Rugby is a real mans sport." -"Ink", first year

"Football can be a pathetic way for a bunch of guys to feel like they are a part of something. They sit around and use words that anyone who doesn't play football doesn't understand, just so they will feel better about themselves" - Jamie Risser, first year

"Football is a great sport. Never in life has there been such a way to bring together a group of people who know nothing about each other and form life-long friends and brothers. I know that it seems like we separate ourselves, but an important part of football is being a team. Just as people of the same race tend to circulate within themselves, so so does the football team. It's like a family. I feel comfortable around all 70 of my brothers. And, I'm damned proud to be a part of the team." -Lamont Williams, sophomore and football player

"I know that the lockers are being spray painted gray today in the parking lot by the Athletic Offices." -Melissa Salzman, first year

"The women's soccer team is looking very strong this season, so everyone should come out and watch! -Jessica Berson, sophomore and soccer player

"They rock!" -Greg Wallace, sophomore
