

STAFF

Keir Bickerstaffe • editor in chief
Amy Broach • business manager
 Courtney Christian • news editor
 Ben Thorne • features editor
 Lindsay Oldenski • editorials editor
 Adam Lucas • sports editor
 Becca Lee, Isaac Palant • photography editors
 Olivia Riordan • layout editor
 Laura Parker • online editor
 Drew Applefield • asst. online editor
 Laura Parker • assistant online editor
 Amanda Leinonen-Dufresne • subscriptions manager
 Alice Reid • circulation manager, office manager
 Jeff Jeske • advisor

Irene Kelly • Owen Finberg • Damian DeBello • Steve Marsh • Chloe McQuiston
 Annie Buchanan-Clary • Alice Reid • Olivia Riordan • Damian Miller •
 Marshall Lammers • Zack Hample • Will Dodson • Chris Millsap
 Joe Bagby • Dana Holmer • Naomi Seckel • Colin McFadden-Roan
 Tim Forbes • Peter Morscheck • David Jester • Scott Attar • Bill Mc Cord •
 Caroline Wolfe

STAFF MEETINGS ARE MONDAYS AT 7:15 P.M. IN THE PASSION PIT
 ALL ARE WELCOME TO ATTEND

THE GUILFORDIAN

Box 17717, Guilford College, Greensboro, NC 27410
 (910) 316-2306 • FAX (910) 316-2950
 GUILFORDIAN@RASCAL.GUILFORD.EDU

BEG YOUR PARDON

The Guilfordian seeks to correct all errors. If one is noticed please contact us via any of the above means and we will print a correction the following week in this box. Thank you.

The WAG--4/18-4/24

(The Week at Guilford from Student Activities)

April 18-20

Spring Theatre performance, "Dr. Faustus"
 8pm--Sternerberger Auditorium

Friday, April 18

Gospel Jam in Bryan Quad--9 pm

Saturday, April 19

GUTS KidFest II--1-5 pm
 Call x3201 for more information

Women's tennis v. Sweet Briar, 12 noon

Men's tennis v. W & L, 12 noon

Women's lacrosse v. Randolph-Macor., 1pm

Baseball v. Hampden-Sydney, 1 pm

Bryan Beach Party

Keep your eyes open for more information

UNION Movie--"Courage Under Fire"
 9pm, The Underground

Sunday, April 20

Opus Concert, "The Holocaust Remembered"
 3pm--Dana Auditorium, Call 373-2549 for more info

Wednesday, April 23

UNION features hypnotist Tom Bresadola
 8 pm--Dana Auditorium

Ketchum named AD

ADAM LUCAS
 sports editor

Head football coach Mike Ketchum has had another title added to his resume—athletic director.

Ketchum, who had been serving as interim athletic director since the middle of 1996, was named to the post after a search that never really went outside of Guilford.

Provost Dan Poteet, who headed the committee that appointed Ketchum, said, "Through a relatively new procedure, we can appoint internally through the use of absolute consensus by the interviewing committee, and we had that in this case."

Ketchum is excited about the new position, and says he's been using his time as the interim AD to plan his vision for the future of Guilford athletics. "The biggest thing for me will be providing support for the coaches and athletes and enabling them to do what they want to do, which is compete at a high level in varsity athletics."

When taking on two jobs as time-consuming as football coach and athletic director, the ability to devote the necessary amount of time to each is always a concern. However, David Heggie, a junior running back on Ketchum's football team, says it won't be a problem. "I'm confident he'll be able to handle the dual responsibilities. He is an extremely disciplined, organized, and focused individual. He takes pride in everything he does, so neither job will suffer."

Not only does Ketchum want to be able to take pride in his job, but he also wants Guilford to be able to take pride in their athletic department. "One of my first priorities is making sure we get better facilities," he said. "I think the first focus will be on the weight room. We have great fields, but our indoor facilities could use some improvement."

With the improvement in facilities will come a change in attitude. "One of the things we all need to understand is that if we're going to compete at a higher level, we're going to have to demand more—from both the coaches and the athletes," Ketchum said. "We need to understand that there's a difference between demanding more and being mean."

Heggie doesn't seem to be worried about his coach being overly "mean." "He tries to do his job better than any person before, during, or after his time will do them," he said.

Ketchum seems excited about the prospects for the future. "I think the situation is a real good thing," he said. "I hope it'll be a good thing for the College."

Guilford sports information

Ketchum will have to keep the boosters happy in his new job.

Intercolonias teachers from Mexico visit campus

WILL DODSON
 staff writer

Last week, from Tuesday, April 8, to Sunday, April 13, three representatives from the Intercolonias program in Guadalajara, Mexico visited Guilford College. Teachers Maria del Refugio Zarala Padilla, Estela Zambrano Andrade, and Jose Antonio Gonzales Tapia stayed with Carol and Tom Clark. During their stay the three toured Greensboro and Guilford College, attending classes and giving talks.

In 1992, Guilford students in the study-abroad program were invited to work within the Intercolonias program, an organization of low-income communities around Guadalajara cooperating to effect social and political reform. By working towards achieving short-term goals such as new schools and governmental recognition of land ownership, said Carol Clark, Intercolonias hopes to achieve the long-term goal of creating a just and democratic society through education.

The study-abroad program in Guadalajara differs from other service programs in that, according to Carol Clark, students go in to learn from their hosts rather than to impose their own solutions. "It's very

"The concept behind the whole program is the exchange [of ideas]."

--Amanda Phillips,
 fourth-year student

different, and it's very special," she said. "We don't go in saying 'we know what you need and we're going to do it for you.'"

"Instead, we're coming to learn from you because you know what you need. It's a very humbling experience, and we're learning a great deal."

This is the second year representatives were able to visit Guilford from Mexico.

The visiting teachers felt it was useful to know what Guilford students are like. Maria del Refugio Zarala Padilla stated, "It's been heartening to see the kind of education here with small class sizes. It's a completely different situation in Mexico; a school classroom will have just some desks and a blackboard with 50 to 100 students."

Padilla also asserted Intercolonias' appreciation of the respect and acceptance Guilford had for the organization, but felt apprehensive because of its limitations and wondered if they had the power to respond to the level of acceptance they found here.

Amanda Phillips, a fourth-year student and participant in the study-abroad program in Mexico, felt Padilla and her compatriots had much to offer, however. "The concept behind the whole program is the exchange [of ideas]. I'm becoming friends with people who before were statistics."

Carol Clark agreed. "We are learning a great deal. They are some incredible teachers."