

Meeting, cont'd from page 1

overworked and underpaid.

"They still have the gumption to stay here and have this risk in jobs and this says a lot about their commitment to and appreciation of this place," she said.

A student who works in catering for Marriott, the food service with which Guilford has contracted, said she feels some of her Marriott supervisors do not have stock in Guilford as a community and therefore are not working toward the same goals as people within the college.

"The bookstore is making ends meet," bookstore director Betsy Johnson said. "There is no need to outsource the bookstore when we're providing to the institution what the institution has asked of us."

Shawan Gabriel said, "The issue about outsourcing the bookstore is what?...They give more than an eight per cent return now."

Blaine Lukkar, a junior, said the interaction with the two women he has seen for the past three years in the bookstore is as important as the bottom line.

"I think little by little we're showing signs of a corporation and that's very scary," he added.

Senate President Gary Young said he wished students would focus more on the good aspects of the college community. He said people were talking about one issue and that even if the decision to outsource is painful in the short term, "we will come back full circle."

Pam Henry said, "In my recollection less than $1,000 has been spent on upkeep in my 11 years here...If all along a small percentage had been kept in escrow so we were self-perpetuating we wouldn't be in this situation. I would like to know exactly what the college expects of us. We're not even looking at the bookstore as it exists, we're looking at alternatives right now."

"Are we really willing to invest in the things we say are important?"

Gillis said the school could not afford to do everything it wants to do. He said the trustees have been very supportive in providing what he called seed money but that "we're not going to do everything right or everything well."

ERIN KLANK

Don McNemar responded to student concerns about outsourcing.

Santes Beatty, Director of African American Affairs, said. "I don't think we're being honest. It's like schizophrenia—one minute we're a community, next minute we're not. We're talking about getting rid of what I consider family."

After remaining quiet for most of the meeting, Art Gillis, the college's chief financial officer, spoke up to address the questions that had been reiterated by students.

"Most of the things being talked about aren't my responsibility," Gillis said. "There are lots of good things that have gone on for many years and lots of serious problems, not un-overcomable, but serious problems."

Responding to student questions about outsourcing, McNemar said that the task force needs to complete its work before the college makes a decision. "I don't know what the issues are," McNemar said. "The committee is addressing that."

McNemar said that from the committee the issue goes to him and he will make a recommendation to the Board of Trustees in January.

Most of the students present at the meeting urged Guilford's administration to consider the personal and human consequences of outsourcing. "I want Guilford to back up its values or change the way you advertise the college," Justice said.

THE WEEK AT GUILFORDFriday, November 13th

- ★ Theatre Studies presents Why We Have a Body at 8 p.m. in Sternberger auditorium with reception in Boren lounge immediately following.
- ★ BINGO in the Cafeteria at 9 p.m.
- ★ Forevergreen, Union and WQFS sponsor "Truth and Rights" reggae concert at 10:30 p.m. in the Commons

Saturday, November 14th

- ★ Admission Open House in Dana auditorium
- ★ Open Mic night in the Underground at 8 p.m.
- ★ Union and Alcohol Awareness Week sponsor movie Leaving Las Vegas in the Underground at 10 p.m.
- ★ Why We Have a Body at 8 p.m. in Sternberger auditorium

Sunday, November 15th

- ★ GCRO Meeting for Worship with Nancy Daukas at 9:15 a.m. in the Moon room
- ★ "The Woman That I Am" Discussion Group in The Gallery at 4:30 p.m.
- ★ Bonner Scholars meeting in Boren lounge at 6 p.m.
- ★ Catholic mass in the Gallery at 6:30 p.m.

Monday, November 16th

- ★ Career planning for foreign language and international studies majors in the Gallery at 4 p.m.

Tuesday, November 17th

- ★ Episcopal eucharist in the Moon room at 5:15 p.m.
- ★ "What it's like to be Native American @ Guilford" in the Commons at 7:30 p.m.
- ★ Union meeting in the Main lobby at 7:30 p.m.
- ★ New Generation Ministries in Boren lounge at 8 p.m.

Wednesday, November 18th

- ★ Mid-Day Musicale in Boren lounge at 1 p.m.
- ★ Senate in Boren lounge at 3:35 p.m.
- ★ Poetry Reading "'We Couldn't All Be Cowboys'" in Boren lounge at 7 p.m.
- ★ Intersarsity in the Commons at 8 p.m.
- ★ French Film Festival, My Life in Pink in the Leak room at 8:30 p.m.

Thursday, November 19th

- ★ Job Fair '98 at the Marriott - Airport - call CDC at x2187 for more information
- ★ Tea & Talk with Adele Wayman in the Multicultural Resource Center at 4 p.m.
- ★ SCRABBLE Club in the Commons at 7 p.m.
- ★ Sister to Sister Dialogue in the Leak room at 8 p.m.
- ★ Why We Have a Body at 8 p.m. in Sternberger auditorium
- ★ Forevergreen Meeting in the Gallery at 8:30 p.m.

To have your event or meeting appear on the Week at Guilford, submit it outside the publications suite in the box labeled public service announcements. Please turn it in before Tuesday at 8:00 p.m. and mark that it is for the Week at Guilford.

Do you play a musical instrument?

Would students, staff, and faculty interested in playing in the Guilford pep band please call Dave Limburg at x2204.

Corrections

The photo on page 15 of last week's Guilfordian should have been attributed to Brian Heagney.

The Guilfordian makes every effort to be accurate and responsible. If you should discover an error in an article printed in the paper, please do not hesitate to contact us at x2306.

Our circulation goal is to have a paper in the campus mailbox of every person on campus by noon on Friday. If you do not receive your paper, please let us know.