

MYSTERIOUS MISTING ROCKS PRODUCE MIXED REVIEWS

"It's very relieving in the summertime to walk through if you're hot. There are times, particularly when it's really sunny, that I kind of want to take my shoes off and run through it."

Jake Reardon, Milner Hall director

"It's hazardous for students. Someone is bound to trip over the rocks."

Jonahs Jones, sophomore

"I think the fountain is really cool-looking, and it's super fun to play in. I really want to make a music video in it, honestly."

Meredith Hudson, first-year

"We just installed a campus-wide humidifier. Everybody's been saying, 'What about the fact that there's all kinds of black mold in Bryan?'"

Lucas Blanchard-Glueckert, senior

"I was surprised by the backlash of the students at the time, talking about how other campus needs might have been more important. But now I realize that students know what they want."

Janet Wright, faculty secretary and ombudsperson

"I don't think the fountain represents Guilford that well. We're supposed to be a green school, and it doesn't recycle the water or anything."

Sara Zimmerman, first-year
