

YE ORANGE CANDLE WAFFLE SHOP

Should George Washington return to Salem in 1921 for a second visit he would naturally expect to find things greatly changed. No doubt he would be amazed if he were invited to make his headquarters in the same building in which he stopped during his first visit to Salem so long ago.

Of course the next place he would visit in Salem would be the college. And you can imagine the queer, strange sensations that would surge through him as he would walk up Church street toward Main building. Salem College is typically modern. He would be a representative of the good old colonial days.

Then suddenly, as if dropped from the skies, he would notice this quaint little sign, "Ye Orange Candle Waffle Shop", before a cottage typical of revolutionary days. He would breathe a sigh of relief. Salem hadn't altogether changed.

The first thing that would attract Washington's attention as he entered through the little brown door would be the cozy green covered box seats on each side of the cheerful fire burning on a tiny hearth. He would look at the little orange candles in the blue sticks on the mantle, the dainty orange curtains and brown draperies at the windows and note how artistically they blended with the cool buff color of the walls. He would look through a side door into an adjoining room and see three inviting brown tables covered with blue table-cloths and each one set for four people. The surroundings might prove to be so tempting that Washington might even have a seat at one of these tables and be served a sample of every delicacy on the regular menu: delicious waffles, tea with buttered toast, hot chocolate with pure cream, and coffee.

Even though Washington would take this little shop to be the oldest landmark at Salem, in reality it is our "most modern convenience." It is open every afternoon from four to six o'clock, and all of Saturday afternoon till ten o'clock at night. There are always several "extras" on the Bill-of-Fare, for "outsiders" are always welcome.

Salem is proud of this addition to her campus and we hope that it will continue to be patronized in the future as it has been these last two weeks.

ANOTHER STEP TOWARDS THE A1 GOAL

The Juniors of Salem College have accepted and adopted, with the vote of the under-graduates, the present senior ring as a standard ring for Salem College.

If Salem is to be recognized as an A1 college, then she should be represented by an A1 ring. From now on we hope the wearer of this handsome ring will be known as one holding a diploma or a degree from Salem College.

Dear Alumnae, we are proud of you. May you, too, be equally as proud of the future alumnae who will wear as a symbol the beloved coat-of-arms of your cherished Alma Mater.

"ELLES SONT SORTIS; ELLES SONT RETOURNES"

Mrs. Douglas Aycock (nee Miss "Baby" Fleming), and Miss Lallah Rookh Fleming, of Wilson, were welcomed as visitors at Salem this week-end.

Miss Marie Edgerton has returned from her weekly visit to— No! not Oak Ridge this time, but Greensboro, where she spent the week-end.

Miss Marion Propst is in Charlotte visiting her parents for several days.

Miss Nancy Reid has returned from a visit to friends in High Point.

Miss Martha Michal spent the week-end in Ronda, the guest of her aunt.

Miss Evelyn Thom has returned from a trip to New York. While there she was the guest of Miss Mary Grey, a former Salem girl.

Miss "Polly" Wolff has returned from a visit to her home in Rural Hall. Miss Bright McKennie spent the week-end with friends in Hanestown.

This week-end South Sophomore room company had as its distinguished visitor Mr. Henry Griffin, of Chapel Hill.

Miss Hallie Ross has returned from a visit to her home in Asheboro.

Miss Elizabeth Armstrong has returned from a week-end visit to her parents in Greensboro.

Miss Ruth Parker, '21, of Ronda, was a visitor to Salem this week-end.

Miss Sarah Watt succumbing to the over-whelming and heart-breaking news is confined to the infirmary. By way of explanation Miss Watt cannot obtain permission to go to Davidson to junior speaking next week. She has our deepest sympathy.

FOOD FOR SALE

Did you come to the last "Food Sale" in junior room company? If you didn't, you missed a treat.

Watch for the notice of the next one and come prepared to find anything that comes under the name of "good eats." Fried chicken is always a specialty at these sales.

"SENIOR DINNER A MERRY AFFAIR"

(From Winston-Salem Journal)

On Saturday evening, February 12, Dr. H. E. Rondthaler and Mrs. Rondthaler entertained at an elaborate progressive dinner in honor of the class of '21.

The guests were welcomed at the main college entrance by the college faculty, and the guests of honor.

Escorted by the seniors, the guests then formed a gay procession, passing through the college halls and porches which were ablaze with valentine colors—red and black, which were the class colors as well.

An eight-course dinner was served at eighteen small tables and each guest was presented with a huge red heart, noting the progressions between each course. The favors were tiny dolls dressed in academic cap and gown. Throughout the dinner there was much merriment and at the close the seniors grouped themselves around the piano and sang their college songs.

Miss Alice Smith, of Atlanta, Ga., and Miss Mildred Barnes, of Wilson, N. C., both members of the freshman class, rendered very delightful musical selections during the dinner.

Besides the senior class, Misses Paulina Taylor, Nancy Hankins and Alimae Temple, graduates of the music department were also guests of honor.

MILK WEEK

The Domestic Science Department of Salem College took an active part in the milk campaign which was conducted in Winston-Salem under the direction of the State and Federal government. This campaign was of a purely education nature; its chief aim was to give the people of the community an idea of the wonderful value of milk in promoting health, thereby improving economic and social conditions. Each afternoon during "Milk Week" public demonstrations were given at the S. P. U. Co. by pupils of the Salem College Domestic Science Department. The girls prepared drinks and dishes in which milk could be used and showed the food value derived from each. "All authorities are agreed that more milk in the diet is necessary, not only to insure proper growth and development in children but to maintain health in adults." Use more milk for health's sake! It is more nutritious than even meat. Winston-Salem is to be complimented for being the first city in North Carolina to put on a milk campaign and Salem College is glad to lend a hand in this noble and much needed undertaking.

WHAT AN OLD SALEM GIRL IS DOING!

The following is an article from the last "Musical Courier" which will be of interest to us all. "An audience which taxed the capacity of Aeolian Hall turned out to hear Dicie Howell for her recital on Feb. 7, and gave her a reception that was as sincere as it was flattering. The perfect clarity and purity of Miss Howell's voice was a genuine delight and the manifest musicianship with which she interpreted her attractively arranged program must have given pleasure to the most fastidious listener. There was much variety of tone color and a subtle lightness of magnetism and one might say good humor that was altogether charming."

LOCAL SORORITIES HOLD BID DAY

On Friday, Feb. 11, 1921, the local sororities at Salem held Bid Day for new members. The following is a list of the old girls and the pledges of the different sororities.

Beta Beta Phi

Alice Lyerly.....Hickory, N. C.
Louise Cilley.....Hickory, N. C.

The old members are Helen Street, Elizabeth Connor, Mary Clark, Elizabeth Griffin, Marian Cooper, Dorothy Sessoms, Elizabeth Stroud.

Delta Sigma Delta

Maude Bissenger.....Wilmington, N. C.
Betsy Holt.....Smithfield, N. C.
Charlotte Mathewson.....Reidsville, N. C.

The old members are Hettie Bethea, Hallie Ross, Sarah Watt, Dorothy Gregory, Elizabeth Armstrong, Mary Bradham, Elizabeth Wesley and Dorothy Stephens.

Theta Delta Pi

Mildred Barnes.....Wilson, N. C.

The old members are Evelyn Thom, Mary Darden, Louise Cook, Frances Leach, Ada James, Emily Moye, Ruth Joyner, Alice Smith and Lucia Wilkinson.

Alpha Phi Kappa

Mary Lou Boone.....Macon, Ga.

The old members are Fay Roberts, Annie T. Archbell, Ruth Crowell, Charlotte Brown, Dorothy Yancey.

INVITATIONS ISSUED

The following invitations have been received by the girls and faculty of Salem College:

Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Senior invites you to be present at the marriage of their daughter
Ima
to

Mr. Wood B. Married on Tuesday evening, March first nineteen hundred and twenty-one at sixty-thirty Memorial Hall
Winston-Salem, N. C.

At Home
After Visiting Hour
Annex.

CAROLINA PLAYMAKERS HAVE NOTABLE SUCCESS

University of North Carolina, Feb. 12.—The Carolina Playmakers on Friday and Saturday nights, February 11 and 12 presented three new folk plays at the playhouse. These were "The Miser", and "The Old Man of Edenton", by Paul Green, of Lillington, and "The Vamp", by W. A. Royall, of Goldsboro. The auditorium was packed and the plays were well received by the audiences at both performances.

The first play presented was "The Miser", a tragedy of domestic difficulties resulting from the conflict of farm and mill. The second of the series of plays was "The Vamp", a comedy skit dealing with the heart havoc caused at a fraternity dance by a pretty baby vamp. "The Old Man of Edenton" was the final part of the program. The play dealt with the great love of the Old Man for his leprous wife, for whose sake he sacrificed his reputation and became a figure of ridicule and suspicion.

De Luxe Spring Modes for the College Miss

As specialists in catering to the discriminating wants of the college "Miss", we are ready with an array of chic, youthifying modes for Spring—in

FROCKS

BLOUSES

SUITS

SKIRTS

215 W. Fourth Street

The Welfare Shop

What do you want that is toothsome and sweet?

Try the little shop 'cross the street.

What in paper, drugs or drinks?

We've got it, the Welfare Shop thinks!

Drugs — Toilet Articles — Stationery

Candy — Fountain Drings

Ice Cream

S. E. WELFARE

S. Main St.

CALL 74—
CEMENT, CRUSHED STONE
HOLLOW BUILDING TILE
C. M. THOMAS & CO.
230 Main St.

"Gifts That Last"
JEWELRY OF COURSE
From
THE GIFT SHOP
428 No. Liberty St.
Winston-Salem, N. C.