

The Salemite

Motto—"Sail on, Salem"

Volume II.

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C., November 2, 1921.

Number 4.

NORTH CAROLINA COLLEGIATE PRESS ASSOCIATION MEETS AT N. C. C. W.

Twenty-Five Delegates Represent Eleven Colleges—Much Progress Made Through Discussion of Problems

The first of the semi-annual conventions of the N. C. Collegiate Press Association was held at N. C. C. W. beginning Friday, October 28th, and continuing throughout Saturday. This was the third of these conventions, the first of which took place at the University one year ago.

The purpose of this organization is to create a keener interest in all college publications of a literary nature to foster journalism, and to elevate the standard of student thought. This association is novel in that it is distinctly a student organization, being run entirely by the editors of the various college publications.

The meeting was in every respect most successful. The lectures of Professors E. C. Lindeman and Leonard B. Hurley, both of the faculty of N. C. C. W., were interesting and enlightening. Professor Lindeman set forth five functions of the college newspaper, and Professor Hurley explained the province of the college magazine. Another feature of the occasion was a talk by Mr. Lenoir Chambers, of the Greensboro Daily News. He gave a splendid insight into the organization and workings of a real newspaper. The reports of college representatives proved most helpful in that many new and progressive ideas were introduced. This exchange of methods is most beneficial since it tends toward the promotion of systematized management and a higher standard of literary effort.

On Friday evening a delightful reception was tendered the visitors by the Quill Club. This was the occasion on which everybody came to know everybody else. On Saturday afternoon as guests of the Coraddi staff, the representatives enjoyed a drive, after which they participated in a camp supper given at Lindley Park by the Athletic Association. The crowning event of the convention occurred on Saturday evening when the Carolinian staff was hostess at a banquet. Interspersed between courses which were served by the Carolinian reporters, came words of welcome and toasts of great variety. Throughout the evening music was furnished by the N. C. C. W. orchestra. This charming affair closed the meeting. The

Continued on page four.)

ADDRESS BY REV. GEORGE HEATH.

On Friday night, October 21st, Rev. George Heath made a short address before the Young Women's Christian Association. Rev. Heath is the father of Mr. Edwin J. Heath and is at present making his home in Winston-Salem just a few blocks from the college.

The entire student body considered it quite a privilege to have the opportunity to meet Mr. Heath after the conclusion of the service. We hope it will not be very long before Mr. Heath will pay us another visit.

At last the Program Committee of the Y. W. C. A. cabinet was able to discover that Dr. Rondthaler would have a few vacant minutes to spare on Friday night, October 28th. He was immediately entreated to give that time to the Y. W. C. A. Dr. Rondthaler talked to us about "selfishness" as one of the biggest temptations confronting college students. He emphasized particularly the careless habit of spending money as a thoughtless means of developing selfishness.

This short address from Dr. Rondthaler, though brief in outline was strong in meaning and timely in its presentation. It opened a new line of thought for each Salem girl.

Equally as interesting as his talk was this remark made by Dr. Rondthaler after the close of the meeting, "I have something else I want to say to these girls sometime."

Curiosity is the besetting sin of college girls! Why doesn't Dr. Rondthaler talk to us again next Friday night?

Miss Eliza Gaston Moore, U. F. R., is spending this week-end in Greensboro attending a conference of Undergraduate Field Representatives. An account of the Conference, as given by Miss Moore, will appear in next week's issue of the Salemite.

TWINKLES

1st Soph—Goodness, what is the matter?

2nd Soph—I've had a terrible accident.

1st Soph—What happened to you?

2nd Soph—I ran into a St. G. on the way to Welfare's last night.

Captain of Fire Drill—If your clothing should catch on fire, remember to keep cool.

A Life Sentence—"From the cradle to the grave."

YOUNG JOURNALISTS MEET IN GATE CITY

Greensboro, Oct. 29.—Representatives of 13 state colleges, who gathered here for third semi-annual meeting of the North Carolina Collegiate Press Association, have enjoyed a splendid meeting, the program being marked by a number of addresses of more than usual interest.

One of the lively features of the entire conference was the tilt between Wake Forest and Elon this morning over the place at which the association will meet next. After much oratory had been expended by advocates of both schools, the vote was taken and Wake Forest chosen as the next place of meeting.

Features of the morning session were talks by Prof. L. B. Hurley, of the North Carolina College for Women's English department, and Lenoir Chambers, of the local staff of the Greensboro Daily News. Mr. Hurley told of the field for the college publications and urged that interest in the papers be kept up and not allowed to wane, as it has done in so many schools.

Mr. Chambers told of the organization of a daily newspaper, paying particular attention to the city department, enlivening his discussion with a number of instances brought to his attention in local work.

This afternoon the visiting college newspaper people were the guests of the newspaper staff at North Carolina College for Women, being carried on an auto ride over the city and a number of other interesting features being carried out during the afternoon.

Tonight the convention was brought to a close with a banquet at the college.

The following students attended the conference:

Davidson, J. H. McKeithan, W. A. Gamble, L. D. Mahood, C. R. Cornelson; Wake Forest, C. S. Green, J. F. Hodge; Trinity, R. D. Ware... Lenoir, J. D. Tickle, W. C. Bolick; Elon, Loyd Bray, S. Rainey; University of North Carolina, Mr. Turner; Salem, Isabel Spears, Rachel Jordan; Meredith, Bert Moore, Catherine Brown; Queens, Frances Boyd, Lois Rodgers, Florence Chubbuck; Greensboro College, Lenna Newton, Alta Debbam; N. C. C. W., Anne Cantrell, Hazel Mizelle, Emeline Goforth, Maie Sanders.

Annie T. (at dinner table) serving the hominy). This is a new kind of beans that we've never had before. What is it?

HAT-BURNING AN INTERESTING AND IMPRESSIVE AFFAIR

About six o'clock on the evening of the 24th, anyone passing Salem Square might have seen an interesting sight—at least interesting to the white-gowned Sophomores fluttering about the portico and steps of Main Hall and especially so to the black-robed Seniors somewhere out of sight, for the time being. For it was the night of Senior hat burning and for that occasion the class of '22 had invited as their guests the executive boards of three organizations in town, the Rotary, Kiwanis, Civitan and Woman's Clubs. The Seniors had asked their sister class to meet and entertain their guests so the Sophomores spent some time with the guests in introductions and conversation on Main Hall steps before the dinner bell rang. Then each Sophomore directed her guest to the dining room where was found the Juniors as hostesses at the heads of the tables. The Freshmen and faculty followed and when all were in, the Seniors, singing the Alma Mater and led by their mascot, Master Agnew Bahnson, marched in and took their places at the long table in the center of the room. Miss Elizabeth Gillespie, Senior class president, spoke a few words of welcome to the guests. During the course of the dinner songs were sung and responses were given by the Presidents of the various organizations, who with Dr. and Mrs. Rondthaler, were seated at the Senior table. Especially interesting was the talk of the president of the Civitan Club since he told us something of the history and purposes of this newer club with which we were not so familiar.

After dinner we were ushered to the back campus for the ceremony of hat-burning. As we sat or stood on the embankment by the basketball court and waited for the Senior procession we realized what a beautiful spot we have for such occasions. On the court were three fires, the first and last representing Freshman and Junior days and the center one for Sophomore and Senior days. The music was furnished from the summer house at the right hand corner of the court. In that corner also a throne was arranged for Dr. Rondthaler.

The Seniors approached from the steps leading to the lower campus, singing "the college marching song." They marched around the court and finally circled about the first fire sing-

Continued on page four.)

BOOST BASKET BALL