

The Salemite

Motto—"Sail on, Salem"

Volume II.

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C., NOVEMBER 12, 1921.

Number 5.

THE HOME ECONOMICS DEPARTMENT ENTERTAINS MacDOWELL CLUB

THE ELIZABETHAN PAGEANT GREAT SUCCESS

On Monday evening, November 6, at 6:45 the members of the MacDowell Club were entertained in the Library by the Home Economics Department. The doors were kept by heralds clad in Elizabethan fashion with short trousers, ruffs at the neck and wrists, and a feather in each soft hat. From the door the guests passed in and were cordially greeted by brave lords and fair ladies.

A trumpet blast from the heralds announced the arrival of the guests of honor, Dr. and Mrs. Rondthaler, Dean Shirley and Miss Yerrinton. They marched in two by two, preceded by two heralds and followed by Sir Walter Raleigh (Bessie Chandler) and Queen Elizabeth (Reba Russ) and two more heralds.

Soon after the arrival of the guests of honor three wandering minstrels strolled in. They played for the Inn Maids to do several attractive little Elizabethan dances and for the Lords

Continued on page four.,

MEETING OF SALEMITE STAFF.

At a recent meeting of The Salemite staff the following girls were shifted from literary editorship to offices of the staff.

Assignment Editor — Margaret Whitaker, '23.

Proof Editor—Edith Hanes, '23.

Exchange Editor—Alice Watson, '22.

An exceptional feature of the meeting was a brief talk by Miss de Barriet in which she set forth a number of splendid ideas. Rachel Jordan told in a most interesting manner of the meeting of the North Carolina Press Association, held at N. C. C. W. last week. Each member went away with renewed spirit and with a full realization of the fact she has not only a definite part in the paper but at the same time a direct responsibility for the success of the publication.

DAVIDSON STUDENT BODY GOES TO CHARLOTTE.

For the fourth consecutive year the Davidson student body has gone to Charlotte to back up their team in the annual game with N. C. State. A special train took three hundred loud-voiced rooters determined to show the Charlotte people that they are behind their team.

SENIOR HALLOW-E'EN CARNIVAL PARTY

Posters—queer, puzzling and rather bewildering—had, for many days, been seen in prominent places around the halls of Main Building. All was made clear, however, when it was known that the Seniors were to give a real Halloween carnival and party combined in the basement of Main Building.

The wonderful transformation that occurred on this occasion was so miraculous that it seemed as if some one had rubbed the cloth over Aladdin's lamp. The main way, decorated in rustic style, was typical of the Halloween spirit. There were big Jack o'Lanterns glaring out from the richly tinted autumn leaves and the perfume of cornstalks, pines and cedars scented the atmosphere. Ghosts, goblins and witches could be seen here and there directing the crowds. The attractive Ford booth with its tempting pop-corn balls, home-made candies and lemonade appealed to all. Fishing was good sport, although it was a cool night in October. Salem can rightly boast of many good fishermen, judging from the results gained on Saturday night. Just what did the crowd think of the Devil's Den? From the number of return trips and according to Jane Rondthaler, it was evidently a success. From down the line of attractions screams of merriment could be heard as the crowds went in and out of the Crazy House, a Dead Man's Home and the free-for-all attractions, such as the Wild Woman, Napoleon Bon-a-parte, a doll with her head where her feet should be, etc.

A Freshman: "Wasn't that the cutest carnival and party you ever saw?"

A Sophomore: "Didn't you adore the way that Wild Woman screamed?"

A Junior: "Didn't you just love those good eats?"

A Senior: "Say, girls, it sounded good to me to hear those dimes jingle."

A. T. A.

BASKET BALL TEAMS GETTING IN TRIM.

Basket-ball players of all four classes have been practicing regularly for some weeks past and, as a consequence, each team is getting in splendid shape for the rapidly approaching finals. Basket-ball now claims a place of much importance in campus athletic circles. Excitement and speculation are running high, since the games give promise of being the best in the annals of Salem's athletics.

DAVIDSON HEARS NOTED ALUMNUS

Dr. Henry Louis Smith, alumnus and former president of Davidson, delivered a lecture on "Glimpses of English Life" here Monday evening, November 1st.

Dr. Smith's account of his adventures when he was in London last summer was delightfully vivid. The governor of Virginia sent Dr. Smith to England as his personal representative to present a replica of the famous Houdon statue of Washington to the British government. Dr. Smith gave an interesting account of his entertainment.

FROM MEDEDITH COLLEGE.

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 26.—If you had taken a ride or walk on the Wake Forest road Saturday afternoon between the hours of five and six o'clock you would have seen an unusually happy crowd of girls making their way to Mordecai Spring. Each had the appearance of being a real sport, walking briskly and carrying her sofa pillow.

Upon their arrival at the spring each girl threw aside her pillow and went in search of sticks, limbs, and logs for the bonfire, which was built on the hilltop above the spring. When enough of these had been gathered, Miss Rogers, B. Y. P. U. advisor, announced that each girl was to broil bacon strips and wiennies for her own supper. Ah, but didn't we feel like saying, "Well, ain't we got fun?" with the bacon and wiennies, rolls, hot coffee and pickles were served. Later everyone joined in the toasting of marshmallows.

After the delightful supper we all sat down around the burning coals and sang old and familiar songs, such as "My Old Kentucky Home" and "Love's Old Sweet Song." At seven-thirty o'clock we departed for home, everyone singing merrily our "Alma Mater," and thanking Miss Rogers for all she is doing for our Unions and particularly for this, one of the nicest socials of the season.

THE SOCIAL SENSATION OF THE SEASON.

Mr. and Mrs. Wood B. Seniors have the honor of announcing the engagement of their charming daughter, Ima Green Freshman, to Heza Junior, a rising young man of this vicinity, who has known the fair bride only since he accepted a position with the Burrage Repair Shop this fall. The wedding will take place on Thursday evening, November 17, 1921, at six-thirty o'clock in the Library of Salem College.

Y. W. WANTS YOU