FROM NORTH CAROLINA COLLEGE FOR WOMEN.

Greensboro, N. C., Jan. 21.—The seniors in the music department of the North Carolina College for Women, accompanied by Prof. and Mrs. Wade R. Brown, left for New York Thursday, January 19th, for the purpose of spending ten days in attendance upon artists and orchestra concerts and grand opera. Professor Brown, head of the music department of the college, through his acquaintance with well known musicians and managers has been able to arrange an interesting and varied program of music study.

The party en route to New York spent January 20th in Washington sight-seeing, and were in attendance at a reception given by Senator and Mrs. Lee S. Overman at the Powhatan hotel. Those included in the party are: Prof. and Mrs. Brown; Agnes Cannady, Oxford; Hazel Worsley, Rocky Mount; Rosa Lee Watts, Elizabeth Lindsay, Taylorsville; Mattie Angel, Franklin; Myrtle Warren, Gastonia; Mary Louise Bender, Jacksonville; Elizabeth Foust, Olive Chandley, Greensboro; Sudie Rhodes, New Bern; Mary Holford ('20), Wayco; Elma C. Gwynne, Reidsville.

Prof. John A. Lomax of Austin, Texas, formerly of Texas University, spoke to the students of the North Carolina College for Women at chapel hour today on "Negro Spirituals". Professor Lomax, who has made a special study of folk lore and songs of the negro race, gave an interesting and entertaining interpretation of the negro spiritual. He is a noted authority on songs of camp and trail and has published several volumes of songs of this type. His lecture at the college last spring was on the subject of cowboy songs.

The students of the North Carolina College for Women enjoyed last Thursday evening in the college auditorium "The Program of the Far East", presented by Mr. and Mrs. Michitaro Onogawa, two clever Japanese entertainers who are making a tour of the country under the management of William B. Feakins, Inc., Times building in New York.

The program which sets forth Japanese life and customs, consisted of talks, stories, songs and dances to the accompaniment of Japanese musical instruments, and a fashion show. The program was concluded by a short play "The Fox Woman", typical of modern development in Japanese dramatic art.

FROM ELON.

Elon College, N. C., Jan. 9.—Prof. Gilman F. Alexander, who has been Director of Voice here for several years, has resigned his position in the department of music in order to continue the study of music in Philadelphia. Professor Alexander is succeeded as director of music by Miss Marion W. Corey of Boston, a graduate of Arthur J. Hubbard. In the loss of Professor Alexander Elon students recognize and regret the loss of a capable teacher and warm friend but confidence is expressed that his place will be creditably filled by Miss Corey, who comes to Elon with excellent recommendations.

DAVIDSON COLLEGE 1922 BASKETBALL SCHEDULE.

Davidson, N. C., Jan. 18.—Davidson College opens the 1922 inter-collegiate basketball season February 1st, when she plays Wofford College at Davidson. Davidson is somewhat handicapped in that only one of last year's letter men is back, Captain Crawford at guard. However, many of last year's scrubs are showing excellent form and it is expected that Davidson will be represented by a team that will be worthy of the name "Wildcat" in every particular. The saying is though that Coach Hengeveld's broad grin is due to the excellent work of several freshmen on the light but unusually fast second team.

Manager Cornelson has announced the following schedule for the Wildcats:

February 1, Wofford at Davidson.
Feb. 2, Clemson at Davidson.
Feb. 4, N. C. State at Davidson.
Feb. 7, Trinity at Durham.
Feb. 8, N. C. State at Raleigh.
Feb. 9, Wake Forest at Wake Forest.
Feb. 10, Elon at Elon.
Feb. 13, Trinity at Charlotte.
Feb. 15, Elon at Davidson.
Feb. 18, U. of S. C. at Davidson.
Feb. 21, Clemson at Clemson.
Feb. 22, Wofford at Spartanburg.
Feb. 23, U. of S. C. at Columbia.
Feb. 27, Wake Forest at Davidson.

DAVIDSON ANNUAL READY FOR PRESS.

Davidson, N. C., Jan. 21.—The art department of the 1922 "Quips and Cranks" has almost completed the task of securing the pictures for the 1922 Annual. The entire Annual is almost ready for the press. For a wonder the finances are in excellent condition this year. The campus expects one of the prettiest and most complete Annuals of recent years.

Work on the new temporary Physics laboratory is progressing apace. Occupation is contemplated at the beginning of the second semester, February 2nd.
