THE JUNIOR STUNT.

All advocates of laughter and its results should have attended the Junior stunt given in the Junior study hall Thursday night. From the entrance of a very realistic and very dignified teacher, who rang the bell, and opened school in the old familiar way, to the song, "Salem Faculty", at the close, laughter reigned supreme. Somehow it had never entered the heads of many Salem girls that teachers, who now seem so absolutely perfect in their knowledge, could have been, in their school days, like the average boy and girls of today. The realization that the faculty, after all, really perpetrated the same deeds and misdeeds that we do on the first day of school was a surprise, delightful both in the realization and in the way in which it was portrayed. Altogether the entire thirty minutes given over to the stunt filled with joy the hearts of all those present, and everyone looks forward to a second presentation of "The Faculty in Its Youth" at an early date, by the Juniors, who have so well proved their inimitable originality and talent. The personnel of the stunt follows:

FROM QUEENS COLLEGE.

Charlotte, N. C.—Robert H. Thompson of New York, memory expert with two friends visited Queens College last Wednesday morning. Mr. Thompson spoke on the value of developing an active and retentive memory.

Rena Blanton, president of the Student Government Association and Margaret Anderson, prominent member of the Senior class, attended the National League of Women Voters' convention which met at Greensboro February 15 and 16. Miss Blanton was sent by the student body and Miss Anderson by the college to represent Queens. The convention helped the delegates to derive much valuable knowledge concerning woman's place in present day affairs.

The Queens Blues staff will give a house warming in their new office Saturday, February 18th. The staff is looking forward to the occupying of this new office with much interest.

MRS. HANCOCK ENTERTAINS.

On Monday afternoon, February the thirteen, Mrs. Charles E. Hancock, formerly Mary Clarke, of '23, delightfully entertained at her home on Summit avenue. Three tables for bridge were cozily arranged, with attractive Valentine place cards. After a spirited game it was found that Miss Katherine Kincaid had made the highest score, and she was presented with a dainty box of Coty's powder. At the conclusion of a half hour spent in dancing, tempting refreshments, consisting of bon bons, fruit salad and iced tea were the center of attraction until it was found that the Salemites must hurry or receive the consequent "call downs".

Those present were Catherine Brawley, Marion Cooper, Elizabeth Griffin, Louise Cooke, Katherine Kincaid, Alice Lyerly, Annie Blair Bristol, Ruth Crowell, Dorothy Sessoms, Elizabeth Batts, Elizabeth Connor and Mrs. William Hancock.

A LITTLE SPICE.

Helen Everett: "There ain't no such word as 'ain't.'"

Charlotte M: "I know there ain't."

"The spoken word, so soon forgot
 By thee, hath perished not—
 In other hearts 'tis living still
 And doing work for good or ill."

Nina Sue: Here's a nickel I found in the hash.

Maid: I know; I put it there. I hear you've been complaining about the lack of change in your meals.
