

WEDNESDAY 5 P. M. ADDRESSED BY MRS. HAZEN-SMITH PRESENTATION OF WELFARE CUP TO SENIORS

Sweaters Presented to Jordan, Whitaker, Zachary, by Coach Jackson.

In spite of the heavy cover of snow on the ground, the Wednesday morning chapel service breathed of the spirit of athletics. On this occasion the beautiful Welfare trophy was presented by Dr. Rondthaler to the Senior team, which was represented by its captain, Mabel Chinnis. The cup is indeed a beautiful one and much appreciation to its donor, Mr. Sam E. Welfare, has been expressed by the college girls. The interest in athletics by so public spirited a citizen is one of never failing gratification to the Salem girls.

Next Miss Jackson, head of the Department of Physical Education, announced that three girls had won the prescribed number of points necessary for the winning of a sweater. These sweaters are white Spalding slip-overs wearing the yellow "S" in a circle in the front. Before winning one of these, a member of the Athletic Association must win seven points for three years, making a total of twenty-one points. If more than seven points are won in the year, only seven count toward the final total. It is interesting to know that each of the three winners had far surpassed the prescribed number of points each year. Upon Miss Jackson's request the sweaters were presented by Dr. Rondthaler to Misses Rachel Jordan, Margaret Whitaker and Elizabeth Zachary.

The remainder of the chapel service was devoted to a talk by Mrs. Hazen-Smith, of the Southern Presbyterian church, on the subject of Vocational Guidance. Her speech was full of inspiration for both the present and the future, and every one who heard should be better able to meet her daily tasks. She emphasized the importance of living in the present as well as in the future. Mrs. Hazen-Smith will be at Salem for two more days. Her time will be devoted to conferences with the students upon the subject of their life work.

WRITES HISTORY OF MORAVIANS

Miss Adelaide Fries Author of Interesting Historical Volume.

"Records of the Moravians in North Carolina" is the title of a new book just published by the North Carolina Historical Commission, of which Miss Adelaide Fries, of this city, is the author. This book is the first of a series and gives the history of the Moravians in North Carolina from 1752 to 1771.

The volume is handsomely bound in red cloth and presents a most attractive appearance. The frontispiece is a reproduction of the tile page of the first church register of Wachovia.

The book is dedicated by Miss Fries to her father with the wording, "My comrade in the silent places of historical research."

The preface is by Bishop Edward Rondthaler, of this city, in which he says in part:

"The Moravians were acute and watchful annalists. They recorded not only the doings of their own religious body, but made note of the state of the weather, incidents of travel, prevailing fashions, features of topography. They mentioned the many distinguished men of the state who visited them, and whose descendants are a valuable element in our population this day. * * *

"Of all this material Miss Fries has made careful and accurate use. The charm and chief value of her work lies in the fact that she allows the Colonial Fathers to speak for themselves. We seem to live in their age of the world, and not in ours. * * *

"With skilful hand the author draws the picture of those sturdy, self-sacrificing and devout men and women, as they strive to form settlements in which their pious ideals shall prevail with regard to what they think and society should be." * * *

The book is most interesting throughout and Miss Fries is to be complimented on the splendid arrangement of these historical facts she has assembled. The book reads almost like fiction and is not only entertaining and instructive, but highly fascinating from cover to cover.

MISS NANCY ARTHUR TO WED MR. W. N. POINDEXTER, JR.

Greenville, N. C., Feb. 2.—This afternoon, at a meeting of the bridge club, Mrs. James Skinner Franklin announced in an attractive manner the engagement of Miss Nancy Russell Arthur to Mr. William Nelson Poindexter, Jr., the wedding to take place in June.

The many good wishes Miss Arthur received were combined with many more expressions of regret at the change of residence after her marriage.

Miss Arthur, the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Arthur, of Greenville, is one of the most charming of the younger leaders of Greenville society, and is one of Eastern Carolina's loveliest debutantes.

Mr. Poindexter, the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Poindexter of Walkertown, N. C., is a graduate of the class of '19 of the University of North Carolina, and since his graduation has been connected with the firm of Poindexter-Montague-White Co., of Winston-Salem. Both through his college and business career, he has held an enviable place in the hearts and esteem of those with whom he has associated, and is a young man of marked ability and charming personality.

Yesterday Miss Arthur was very attractively gowned in a flame canton crepe, with matching hat and silver accessories.

Each guest was presented with a colonial candy corsage, with a red heart attached, which bore the announcement.

Miss Arthur was presented with a corsage of white roses and valley lilies, sent by the groom-to-be, her engagement ring was concealed in the corsage.

Mrs. Ficklin presented the guest of honor with a lovely piece of lingerie, and presented the guest having the highest score a pair of silk hose.

At the conclusion of the game a delicious salad course was served.

ANNUAL MEETING OF ALUMNAE ASSOCIATION

Mrs. Stockton Elected President.

February the third means "Salem Day" to all Salem alumnae everywhere, and it is always the occasion of the annual meeting of the Winston-Salem chapter of the Alumnae Association. On Saturday afternoon there was an unusually large crowd present at the meeting, which was held in the living room of Alice Clewell Building and the afternoon was one of marked interest and enjoyment.

In the absence of the president, Mrs. Marion Follin, Mrs. J. Kenneth Pfohl was in charge. The session was opened with a prayer by Dr. Howard Rondthaler, president of the college. Mrs. Pfohl then made a short talk which was followed by the reading of the secretary's report by Miss Grace Starbuck. Mrs. Howard Rondthaler was introduced. She welcomed the "girls" back home and spoke of the fine college spirit that exists among Salem girls, past and present, and then discussed the new dormitory building.

"Miss Lehman As I Knew Her" was the subject of a very interesting talk by Miss Adelaide Fries. This subject was very dear to the hearts of all present, for it was the first meeting of the local alumnae since Miss Emma Lehman's death. Following Miss Fries' talk Mrs. W. L. Reid gave three readings of poems by Miss Lehman. They were "Now", "A Marriage in High Life", and "The Snow."

Miss Lou Shaffner, another beloved teacher, who has been confined to her bed for a year or more, remembered the girls with greetings which were read by Miss Emily Vaughn.

No alumnae gathering at Salem would seem complete without one or two piano selections by Miss Amy Van Vleck. She was present Saturday and played some of her own compositions.

A double quartet, "Annie Laurie" was the next number on the program. It was sung by Mrs. Bert Pfohl, Mrs. Charles Siewers, Mrs. Horace Sebring, Mrs. Charles Norfleet, Mrs. T. W. Blackwell, Mrs. Walter Hege, and Mrs. Spough.

Mrs. T. Holt Haywood, of Montclair, N. J., who is numbered among the most talented and artistic pianists ever graduated from Salem played "The Venetian Idol", and "Serenade", the latter written by a personal friend of Mrs. Haywood's at her home in New Jersey.

Mrs. Ralph Stockton sang a beautiful solo. This closed the program.

Officers for the next year were then elected, the result being as follows:

President—Mrs. Ralph Stockton.

Secretary—Mrs. Charles Norfleet.

"Salem As It Started" and "Salem of Today" were the titles of two attractive tableaux. Miss Marion Blair told the story of Salem College as it was begun with three pupils. This scene was portrayed by Miss Lois Eford as the teacher with little Misses Edith Womble, Mary Louise Siewers, and Hazel Spough as the pupils. "Salem of Today" was portrayed by the senior class wearing their caps and gowns and singing "Blest Alma Mater."

Dr. Howard Rondthaler was then introduced. He read telegrams of

DR. GRENFELL IS HEARD BY LARGE AUDIENCE

His Absorbing Address on Labrador Was Illustrated With Personally Produced Films.

In spite of the inclement weather, a large and appreciative audience assembled in Memorial Hall, Salem College Tuesday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock to hear Dr. Wilfred T. Grenfell, famous medical missionary to Labrador, lecture on his experiences in that country. He came to the city under the auspices of the Rotary Club and Salem College.

Dr. Grenfell left late yesterday afternoon for High Point, where he delivered a lecture last night.

In his lecture yesterday afternoon the speaker gave an interesting insight into conditions in the frozen territory in which he labored for thirty years as a medical missionary. His description of the life of the deep sea fishermen on this peninsula was received with an unusual amount of interest by the audience.

Dr. Grenfell illustrated his lecture with motion pictures and slides. The results of thirty years' work were plainly portrayed by the pictures, which were photographed under the personal direction of the missionary. Through the pictures the audience gained a clearer insight into the work than could have been given in any other work.

The speaker stated that one of the most interesting features of his work was the quick response by the natives to all efforts put forth in their behalf. He outlined the work he has been doing as follows, stating that there has always been four distinct aims: The building of hospitals and teaching the people to be healthy; the establishment of schools; the promotion of agriculture; and the teaching of the gospel of Jesus Christ.

Fishing was described as one of the most thriving industries of the country, due to the fact that great schools of fish abound in the waters off the coast. Agriculture in the inland section is fast becoming an important industry, it was stated.

Referring to the wild animals, Dr. Grenfell stated that great herds of reindeer abound in Labrador, and that a hardy type of goat has been introduced for the purpose of furnishing milk for the children, the majority of whom are undernourished.

Dr. Grenfell paid a high compliment to the work of the Moravian missionaries in Labrador. He referred to the great work done by the mission stations of this church during the past years.

An interesting description was given of the work done in land hospitals and on hospital ships. One picture showed the deck of a hospital ship crowded with people seeking medical aid and examinations.

A splendid work is being done in the schools of the country, it was stated. Pictures of school children were shown to illustrate the responsiveness of the younger generation in the matter of an education.

The speaker stated that one of the greatest obstacles that he had encountered in his work was the saloon. He referred to the wonderful accomplishment of the United States in abolishing the rum traffic and predicted the spread of prohibition to all parts of the world.
