

SOBS vs. SMIES.

I know you're awf'ly homesick,
'Cause I've been that way, too.
I've roamed about the campus,
Mopin' worse than you;
I've wept a quart an hour—
Just couldn't seem to stop—
Wanted to go home and let
My education drop.
The folks were sympathetic—
They didn't even smile—
I wouldn't have minded if they did,
'Cause weepin' was in style.
'Most a hundred other Freshmen
Went around with tearful eyes
And noses red with cryin'
And coblets, sniffs, and sighs.
It lasted for a week, and then,
We used some common sense—
We thought about the thing in full,
The cause and consequence.
First, from ornamental viewpoints
Cryin' really didn't aid
In "beauty first", and that was why
We didn't think it paid.
Then, everyone had work to do
And brains are best in youth—
So, if we worked, we'd have to leave
The sob-stuff out—forsooth.
You'll find this dismal wailin' ain't
A bit of good to you—
Just smile instead and see if what
I've told you isn't true.
You'll catch the Salem Spirit—
It will drive the blues away
And you'll like your college better
Every day in every way.

MORNING SERVICE AT HOME MORAVIAN CHURCH

It has long been the custom of the students of Salem College to attend the Home Moravian Church on the first Sunday of the opening term. Mrs. Bahnson a prominent member of the Ladies' Auxiliary, extended a welcome to the girls as they gathered in the reception room and other ladies greeted them as they entered the church. The beautiful Moravian service was very impressive. Rev. J. Kenneth Pfohl, the pastor, announced the subject of his sermon as "The Partnership of Life", taking his text from I Corinthians, 3:9. He spoke of the wonderful privilege of having Christ as a constant partner and showed how great was His influence on the lives of His people. The entire service brought before those present the clear realization that it is the working out of this principle in the life of the Moravian church that has made it such a power throughout the centuries of its history.

DELEGATES TO N. C. METHODIST EPISCOPAL CONFERENCE TO BE ENTERTAINED AT SALEM COLLEGE.

On Saturday, October 20, Salem College will entertain the Western North Carolina Methodist Episcopal Conference, which will be in session in Winston-Salem. A recital will be given in Memorial Hall, under the direction of Dean Shirley and the Music Department, and opportunity will be given to the delegates and friends to visit the College and grounds. It is expected that more than five hundred delegates will be in attendance.

IMPRESSIVE VESPER SERVICE OPENS YEAR FOR Y. W. C. A.

Very fitting it was that the incoming Freshman class, the class of 1927, should be first introduced to the Young Woman's Christian Association of Salem College in action, and that such an introduction should take place immediately upon arrival. It showed them that the girls who make up the Y. W. C. A. cabinet are girls whose watchword is service and who put into that service every bit of their strength and energy. Thus the new student came into immediate touch with this organization which plays such an important part in our college life.

Sunday afternoon just at twilight, in the simple but singularly impressive service held in the living room of the Alice Clewell Memorial Building, we all discovered the secret of power for the important service which our Y. W. C. A. renders to every girl who comes under its influence.

Preparation had been made for a large attendance and the room was filled almost to overflowing by the time the company arose for the opening hymn. Miss Stipe then led in a short prayer and Marjorie Hunt, the vice-president, read the Scripture lesson. The welcome by the president, Lillian Watkins, assured every student, new and old, that she was not only needed and wanted by the Association but that she, herself, needed the inspiration and help that connection with such an organization would surely give her.

Although a few of the upper classmen had heard Mr. Vardell, the new head of the Piano Department, in organ recitals in Memorial Hall, many of the Freshmen were anxious to hear him for the first time. Those who had had that pleasure were glad to renew it and it was an added interest to know that he was really a part of Salem and not just a visitor. Thus it was with perfect attention that those present listened to his beautiful selection.

This first Y. W. service of the year closed with a hymn and the regular benediction.

ADDITIONS TO FACULTY.

Miss Doris Chipman, a graduate of the New Haven school of Physical Education, has been added to the faculty of Salem College and Academy, as Assistant to Miss Charlotta Jackson, in the Physical Training department with particular interest in Academy sports. Miss Chipman has had experience in teaching both in New Haven, under the direction of Dr. Arnold, and also in Winston-Salem, under the direction of the Department of City Parks and Playgrounds.

Miss Kate Smith, A. B., becomes assistant in the Department of English. Miss Smith graduated from Guilford College in 1919, and has studied English both at Bryn Mawr and at the State University of Colorado. She has had one year's teaching experience in Colorado, and was two years assistant professor in the English Department of Guilford College.
