JOKES

Crowd of Fresh Boys (in the post office)—Who owns the post office here?

Jennings Ross (turning around)—Er—I—don't know.

Can't Get Out Of It

Lucile Reid (looking disgustedly at the quart of milk before her)—Uh, I'm going to start to taking two pints instead of a quart.
* * *

Mr. Taylor (in English class)—The heading of a business letter is best put at the bottom.
* * *

Fresh (very inquisitive)—What are you going to be after you finish school?

Senior (disinterestedly)—Oh, an old maid.

Fresh—A lady in waiting sounds better.
* * *

E. M.—Two fellows fell from a balloon last week and landed on the sky light of a building.

Mid.—Were they killed?

E. M.—No; one said as he landed, "Where are we?" Says the other, "Scotland, I guess, didn't you hear the glass go?"
* * *

Mid.—Have you travelled abroad much, Tambo?

E. M.—Yes, a great deal.

Mid.—How did you like Turkey?

E. M.—With cranberry sauce.
* * *

Fresh—Did you ever read Burns' poem "To a Mouse?"

Senior (indignantly)—Of course.

Fresh—How did you get it to listen?
* * *

Say, ain't you de feller vat I met in Philadelphia?

Philadelphia? I ain't never been dere.

Vell, neider have I. I guess it must have been two odder fellers.

THINKS UNITED STATES SHOULD ADOPT PLAN

Dr. W. W. Pierson, Jr., professor of history and government, made the second talk of the group explaining the Bok Peace Plan in Chapel last Friday morning. This talk was made by Dr. Pierson in order to give the student body a clear idea of the plan so they might vote intelligently in the ballot held on it Friday.

He stated that the project for the Peace Plan suggests three ideas. These are the providing of some practicable plan for peace, provision for co-operation of United States with rest of world, and the achievement of world peace. As Dr. Pierson viewed it, the Plan is practicable. Its merits are that there is nothing in it which endangers the safety of the United States, and that it provides for the traditional policy of co-operation in the international court. And furthermore, as Dr. Pierson stated, "If we do not take this plan, the United States will be left in its unnatural position of isolation."

On the other hand, the removal of Article X. and the reshaping of Article XVI. of the League of Nations would remove the heart and lungs of the League. To propose to use moral force and public opinion on the offending nation would only be to use the forces which we have been using all the time without avail. Public opinion usually goes with the nation having the most clever propaganda. Thus the League would be reduced to a peace-time activity and so far as preventing war goes, we would not have much more forceful arrangement than we have at present.
—Tar Heel.

To earn your confidence and then to be everlastingly faithful to it . . . this is our goal.
