MISS HANES IS HOSTESS AT ANNUAL DINNER

Home Economics Majors Honored

February 24 at the Advent Moravian Church Miss Katherine Hanes entertained at a dinner in honor of the Home Economics Department of Salem College. This is an annual event to which the girls look forward with great anticipation, for the flavor of the turkey always generously served has become traditionally delightful.

All college students who are this year working toward the B. S. degree in home economics and the senior class in this subject of Salem Academy were honor guests. In addition Miss Hanes entertained members of the Salem faculty who are assocaited with this department and interested friends.

Patriotic decorations were used on several long tables and those present were prompted to remember George Washington's recent birthday most pleasantly when the dessert course appeared in the form of tasty cherry tarts. The meal was served by ladies of the auxiliary of the Advent

After dinner Rev. J. G. Bruner, pastor of the church, was introduced and gave an account of his recent trip through Palestine. The guests were interested in his collection of curios from the Holy Land, of which he explained the significance and Following this Miss Hanes spoke briefly of her interest in the work which the Home Economics Department is doing. Before leaving the guests enjoyed an informal social hour.

SELF-GOVERNMENT COUNCILS DISSOLVED IN CHINESE U.

(Part of a dispatch from the Peiping Correspondent of a reliable international news agency and not Published to date.)

The agreement reached at Siam is still obscure (Refers to agreement following the release of General ple were necessary to prevent the Chiang Kai Shek). But if the events domoralization of an entire generain the student world can be taken as a measure, the Chinese can only be filled with gloomy foreboding. The first indication was the demonstration hold to celebrate the release of Chiang Kai Shek during which one and as a result the authorities of of the principal slogans was "Destroy the Student Union."

Fascist-minded students have taken the lead in this outcry which has been followed by a bitter struggle in Tsinghua, Northeastern and other universities. After a severe clash between the patriotic and the fascistminded students at Tsinghua, one meeting ended by the majority of the students leaving the hall, after which a minority of about 200 voted a series of resolutions including one calling for the dissolution of the Student Union. This has been followed by dent body, who desire no change in

4500 URGE YOUTH ACT PASSAGE DURING YOUTH CONGRESS

In a "Pilgrimage" to Washington sponsored by the American Youth Congress on February 19-22, 4500 young people from forty-four states, representing codleges, high-schools, settlement houses, trade unions, farm associations, Y's and churches, asked Congress and the President for the immediate passage of the American Youth Act recently introduced into Congress by Senator Ernest Lundeen of Minnesota and Congressmen H. Jerry Voorhis of California, Maury Maverick of Texas, an John M. Coffee of Washington.

Petitions bearing more than one million signatures an asking for education and job opportunities through the Youth Act for the 5,000,000 unpeople between the ages of 16 and 25 were presented to President Roosevelt, who received a delegation including seven members of the National Council of the American Youth Congress. "I am glad that you are doing what you are doing," the President told the delegation, and indicated his own feeling that extended opportunities for young peo-

The conflict at Northeastern University, of which General Chang Hsueh-liang is Chancellor, is even more sharp. A group of 200 students are demanding that the college be reorganized under the Nanking Ministry of Education. Opposed to this group are the majority of the stu-

A TOAST TO "WILLIE"

My story is not just an ordinary dog story. But then "Willie" is not just an ordinary dog; he is an uncommonly nice dog - only a puppy really. He is a little rag-a-muffin, black Scottie, with frazzled whisk ers and a surprised looking tail.

We feel like old friends, because we have been through so much together, I suppose. For instance amployed and out-of-school young there was the time when we had that terrible case of homesickness. "Willie's" face was almost as long as mine, while his emergency chin hung well over the gay, red collar. We used to cry about it in bed at night, but we resolved to prove that we could "take it" - and we did. The perky tilt of the pup's ears combined with his "don't-givea-darn'' expression somehow always gives me courage.

> When I fell in love for the first time, I could not wait to get home to tell "Willie" all about it. He listened patiently with a wise but understanding look in his eyes, as he agreed upon all the virtues of the freckle-faced beloved.

> Master William affects my moral life, too. When I contemplate anything off the straight and narrow path, he prevents mischief with a disapproving cock of his head, except, of course, when we plan a harmless lark. Then he is the very essence of joviality.

> He is the one friend who sympathizes with all my moods, without so much as a hint of disgust. That is the reason that it always "gets in my hair" when someone says,

"I can't understand why you carry that old frowzy rag dog around with you." You see, I know that behind his button eyes and red thread many battles between the two the present status of the University. nose there lies a tremendous heart!

The "Stately Seniors" took a beating from their "little sister" class Wednesday night to the tune of 46.25. Although there was good individual playing in the Senior team, the team could not stand as a unit before the Sophomore Six, which was in top form. The Seniors were crippled at the start by losing Council, one of their regular players. The game was extraordinarily hard fought, and there was a good deal of scrambling on the floor.

At the end of the half the score was 14-8 in the Sophomores favor. It was during the last half that the Yellow Demons cut loose and ran up the score to nearly fifty points. In spite of the three man defense the senior guards used, they were unable to stop the quick, accurate Sophomore passes, or the sure aim of Jo Hutchison, who was high scorer of the game with 26 points chalked up against her name.

The freshmen "Red Raiders" fought a hard but losing battle to the Sophomore "Yellow Demons" last Friday night in the new gym with the final score 39-23. In spite of the co-operation indicated by the Sophomores majority in the score, the yellow team was not clicking with as much precision as it has done. Quite a few passes went astray and landed in the hands of freshmen guards. The freshmen forwards did very well.
