CHATTER AND PATTTER

Three guesses and the first two don't count. Who's red ford was parked out in front of senior Saturday, Sunday and Monday? Can't you give us a hint on how it's done, Millie?

Did you see that beam on Dot's fact when she "trucked out" with Ray to dinner Sunday?

The two Maxes still seem to have an attraction for Mary and Lou although now the uniforms are lacking.

Fanny Cole certainly does go in for blind dates even to the great extent that she doesn't wear her glasses.

If what I've been hearing is true, little Leila certainly has been dating a lot lately.

Johnny (of the hill), was up one night this past week, and again Sunday with his family to take her out to dinner. Looks kinda serious!

Janie's going to Raleigh this week-end. Is it Billy or is it Sim?

Babe, who's this George we've been hearing so much about? Blount, take a tip from us — you've got plenty of competition from all sides!

Two more of our Salem seniors Edith and Laura Emily are planning a trip to Raleigh this week-end. A little birdie told me that Edith is expecting to see her Joe.

Three guesses who Tweak's hopping will come this week-end! — And not in a peppermint car.

Two of our "schoolmarms" spent the week-end here. From the looks of Cordelia Lowery and Kea Council this teaching business must be "heap much fun."

Louise York, the blonde Venus who was here when our seniors were scared freshmen, was here Saturday with sparkler and all.

You "recon" Virginia, Millie and Glenn wanted to prove that they really could do to Fred, Agnes, and Paul, when the boys sighed, "If you could only cook." Anyway, they all cooked supper out at Fred's last Sunday nite.

Mary Louise McClung's heart is over in Greece with Julian what's his-name. Golly, what a life to live.

Martha's newest is George Ashby from Raleigh who is one of the well-known "Y." boys. Watch out, Babe, he's supposed to be in love with a girl from Raleigh.

Margaret Ricks did get to the game last Saturday in Greensboro despite the fact that her father heartily approved.

Ask Mary McColl about Howard. Not Howard Morris. The tale's too long, and time's too short, but, oh boy!

I'll probably be slaughtered for this, but the next time you see Frances Alexander, say something about "Apple Cheek" and watch her blush.

Briggs really put one over on us. I'm scared to mention his name—maybe next time, but let's hope he

JUST CHATTER

Turtles seem to have taken the place of cupid in the city of Mooresville. Maybe it's the Davidson influence, Annette.

Did teaching in kindergarten this summer have any affect on your recent love affair, Sally?

"It's a sin to tell a lie" was the main idea of Fanny's letter to Bill. Why! Because he phoned that he couldn't make the game Saturday night! It didn't stop Fanny though.

I wonder how it feels to get a special with no beginning or ending to the letter. "But him's swell just the same," eh Bruce?

Our two Mayodan belles are at it again "That old feeling" has them both down.

Why has Emma Brown been practicing that Angelic smile lately. Is it for Sunday morning choir?

Anne Johnson is a wizard at telling fortunes — especially when she cheats a little and makes Caroline marry Sales.

Correction in last week's Salemite. Martha said, "It wasn't Mutt I was with in the rumble seat. It was Don." Such popularity!!!!

Nan Totten has been looking for the Fountain of Youth lately. Could it be that she is trying to keep YOUNG?

Lib Carter certainly has a system. She dates only boys who bring their own tricks. It's one way to avoid a dull evening, isn't it Lib?

Tears bring only a bleary look and a red nose to some gals, but you ask Mary Louise Siewers how to use them effectively in order to put certain young creatures in their holes.

"Ah, Bliss," is all Mary Grier has to say concerning the Duke game Saturday night. Letters from Duke see mto cause quite effective tantrums too — how about it, Grier?

Speaking of the game, several of Salem's Juniors turned out and did they look and get around. Just ask Peggy Bowen who came looking for her at the half.

You say you went to the dentist last week-end, Lillie? We noticed your gums were sorta Pinkney.

Many a tear has been shed over a departed lover — How about it Felicia. Could you give advice to some of the weeping and lovelorn Freshmen?

They say Kelly Tires (Springfield) Worthy—what you go to say about it?

From the weird noises coming from somewhere around room no. 220, we should say that Carolyn and the birdies awoke with a song each morning around 7:15.

doesn't take after his sister, Tick, in the marrying habit.

Jo Gibson is always either coming from or going somewhere, and I never can keep up with her, but I wouldn't be surprised if Howard Morris weren't connected with it in some way.

SPORTS

ATH-A-LETIC SAL

I hate to keep on harping about those tennis matches, but girls, believe it or not fall is here, and winter is right behind, and we simply can't have tennis overlapping hockey again. Tennis is too much fun to let a perfectly good tournament fall through simply because of procrastination on the part of the players — You see, in the fall, the tournament has to move very rapidly because there are only two or three weeks of tennis weather left. So the very first day (of course, when it's not raining), that you possibly can, go on down and win your matches. If you do, things will be lots more interesting. Pokey tournaments are awful!!!!

I thought at first I was dreaming, then when I looked closely and adjusted my spectacles, I know for certain that B. Hot and some few other brave mermaids had the pool open last week and were swimming and diving just as though it might have been the middle of July. For "them that likes it" I guess it's fine.

The "horse girls" had a meeting Tuesday evening to decide which days they would take their rides. As far as they know now they will ride Mondays, Wednesdays and Thursdays afternoons at two o'clock.

Our ex-hiking manager, "Energetic" Briggs, took Brawley and Hutaff to town in an 8 minute sprint. That's going some, especially over Salem bricks. We wonder if, by the end of this year, Anne Mewborn, our new hiking manager, will be able to beat that!!!

Freshmen, I know you're not required to buy warm-up pants — you know, the long things that match your warm-up shirts — but take my advice, if you intend to play hockey with us a lot, you'll certainly thank your lucky stars for something to keep your legs warm. Also if you don't dress at the "gym," they'll be fine to wear down there. I would not take a million for mine — Just ask any other upper-classman, who has some, what she thinks of them. Personally, I think they're indispensable.

SALEM'S LOUISE FRAZIER

If you call yourself an athlete, you who decide you've had enough exercise after climbing the steps to and from the gym, what would you call Louise Frazier? You probably would call Louise Frazier? You probably would call her "Weasel" if you knew her, but I'm not referring to that. The title of Salem's all around athlete seems to fit her as well as any. Anything that can be done in the sports line here at Salem has already been done by her. She is the president of the Athletic Association this year and we couldn't have a more conscientious leader than she is.

Just to give you a sample of her powers, she was awarded the beautiful white Salem blanket her freshman year. The blanket, you know, is given to the girl who has made the greatest number of points for the year. How did she get all those points? Easier said than done, she earned them. How? Well, let's take a look at some of her activities.

For the last three years she has made the varsity team in hockey. The senior's team would certainly suffer without "Weasel" in there in the backfield. As soon as practice begins we'll no doubt see her out there tearing up the field, head all done up in a red bandana.

As a basketball player, she makes a grand forward. In fact, she has been on the basketball varsity for two years. In spite of her height, she can burn up the basketball court, and don't try to stop her either.

She excels in swimming and diving. She is not only a Lifesaver but also a Red Cross examiner. For the last two summers she has taught swimming as playground instructor.

Her favorite between classes and after-the-movie dish is vanilla ice cream. She also has a sort of fondness for apples, maybe that's because red is her favorite color. This color preference shows now and then in her temper; so know in advance that she's a little stubborn. A little known fact in the life of this athlete is her first name, which is Adelaide.

We hear Miss Frazier is an authority on French which is her major. Anyway, she is an active member of the French Club, or as it is more properly designated, "Le Cercle Francais." The Mathematics Club also boasts of her membership. Probably most important, though, to the sports minded, she belongs to the Monogram Club. If you wish to become one of its select members, all you have to do is earn the big yellow S and you too may be among Salem's outstanding athletes.
