

JUNIOR MASQUERADE IS GALA AFFAIR

 dred Troxler, Virginia Carter, Dot Burnett, and Virginia Lee), made its debut and judging from the applause received a successful career lies ahead of these talented songsters. B. C. Dunford's playing, Bobby Croaker's tap dancing, and Kelly Anne Smith's singing delighted everyone. As a finale, Madame Lola Breathtaking (alias Lizzie Trotman), presented her company of pantomimic breath takers in "Lord Ulen's Daughter." To this talented group Salem extends a formal invitation for a return engagement in the near future.

Since all good things at Salem end at twelve o'clock, midnight found all the peasants, valentines, queens, squaws, etc. turned back into Salemites but happy over a never-to-be-forgotten evening.

Life is like a game of tennis. Love always begins early in the game and there is no love after forty.

And there was one who said:
 "The melancholy days are here,
 The saddest of all annals.
 It's much to cool for B. V. D.'s
 And still to warm for flannels."

MRS. LAUGHLIN NEW ASSISTANT IN LIBRARY

 Mrs. Laughlin is originally from Beaumont, Texas. From there she went to Brenau College, in Gainesville, Ga., from which she received her A.B. and B.M. degrees with a certificate in public school music. Not satisfied with that she went to Emory University for graduate work and received her M.A. degree.

Since then she has taught in Atlanta and Decatur, Ga., schools. She was elected Southern Province President of the Alpha Xi Delta National Sorority and has served in this capacity for the past seven years. Last fall she attended Library School at Emory University.

Thus Salem has a very versatile but efficient addition to her faculty. Salem welcomes Mrs. Laughlin.

A sensible girl is not so sensible as she looks because a sensible girl has more sense than to look sensible.

Me love has flew,
 Him done me dirt.
 How were me to know
 Him was a flirt?
 To those in love
 Let I forbid
 Lest they be doed
 Like I was did.

His home's in his head;
 His test paper's bare;
 He'll never be nobody,
 'Cause he ain't never there.

ADVICE TO THE MEN

Ask a girl to talk,
 — if she's talkative;
 Ask a girl to walk,
 — if she's walkative;
 Ask a girl to dance,
 — if it's permissible;
 But never ask to kiss her,
 — if she's kissable.

RYMES

All night
 The whining wind
 Moans a dirge for departing
 Leaves—then the sun comes to touch them
 With gold.

the light that cheers

It's a friendly glow . . . that lighted Chesterfield. It brings pleasure and comfort to men wherever they are.

That refreshing Chesterfield mildness . . . that appetizing Chesterfield taste and aroma . . . makes a man glad he smokes.
