WE WENT — WE SAW WE CONQUERED

By Jane Kirk

Last Thursday after lunch the varsity team piled into two cars and set out for Fredericksburg. We were eager hockeyites out to win over the foe whom we had been told were much taller and faster than we — literally giants. Personally, I was scared stiff.

We arrived at our destination about noon on Friday. All of us were anxious to play that afternoon but we found that our one game was scheduled for Saturday morning; and it was against the home team Mary Washington. Miss At ganged us together and we walked over to the field to watch some good hockey played by Sweet Briar and Hollins girls — not to mention Westhampton and Madison.

How many of you have ever played hockey by moonlight? Well! we did. After all the other teams were well on their way up the hill to dress and eat dinner — It was nigh six-thirty — our team drilled on stops, tackles and passes in the moonlight. I really enjoyed that. Try it sometime. It's a new and different experience.

We ate dinner down town and then the whole team went to the movies, to see "Gateway" with Don Ameche. Rather good.

The next day, Saturday, was the day we played Mary Washington's team. After breakfast and a pep talk from Miss At, during which we learned that she was scheduled to referee a game on field I at the same time Salem was to play on field II. We each determined to win or die in the attempt! Good old Salem spirit couldn't be tramped upon. We did win 1-0 after much excitement. One ball hit by our foe went into the goal but because it was hit outside the circle did not count. Another time the ball bounded into the air. If one of our players had not been in the path of the ball it would have gone in. We were lucky I guess. Our game was finished before Miss At's, so we pretended we had lost. When she asked how we came out we replied 1-0. She thought the other team had won 1-0 until we reassured her that Salem had defeated Mary Washington and could go home victorious.

After the banquet Saturday noon one car left for Washington and the other headed for Richmond; both had corking good times on the return trip.

STUDENTS COACHED BY FORMER ENGLISH HOCKEY STAR

(Continued From Page One) where she had charge of physical education until 1928. Besides teaching hockey, she taught many other sports, such as swimming, tennis, water polo, and Lacrosse. In 1928 she went back to England to live but she still continued to come back to Mount Pocono every September to teach at a Hockey Camp which she had founded in 1922. This camp is on the order of a summer school where coaches, all-star players, students and other persons interested in hockey come to learn more about the game. Miss Appleby and four or five other coaches, all of whom are English, have full charge of the teaching. This year when the camp closed at the end of its season, the coach from William and Mary College asked Miss Appleby to come South and teach some of the colleges and preparatory schools more about hockey. She accepted, and for the past month she has been helping in the Virginia schools. She came to us from Sweet Briar, and, incidentally, it's her first trip to North Carolina. She said she was very much impressed by Salem and by North Carolina as a whole and that she hoped she could come back some time when she could have time to see and do more things.

Everyone seemed to enjoy the folk dances so much Wednesday. I asked her next about her connections with the dances. She said she had once studied under a musician who had formed an English folk dancing school, and that she had later taught the dances at Bryn Mawr. The dances are also taught at her camp at Mount Pocono and are used as a form of entertainment in the evenings. Miss Appleby said she doesn't usually teach the dances on her hockey trips, but since Miss Atkinson had learned them at the camp, Miss At. persuaded her to teach us a little about them also.

From here Miss Appleby has gone to Duke where she will also be when our girls go there for the Play

Day. She says we have some very good players, and she hopes we will show up very well at Duke. Whatever happens I'm sure our girls will show much improvement after these past three days of training under such a fine hockey player.
