"STICKABILITY"

At last the long-looked-for Thanksgiving holidays are over. The exciting football games, the new friendships made, the old friendships deepened, and the traditional Thanksgiving dinners are all things of the past. Even the inevitable aftermath of turkey hash is almost forgotten. The holidays gave us a much-needed rest from studies and tiring routine. We all have our pleasant memories of those days, and no one can take those memories from us.

But are we letting the holidays take something away from us: some of our determination, some of our ambition, some of our desire to study? Did our "stickability" pass with the holidays? Let's make that vacation be a real asset to us; make the rest be a real incentive to work during the next two weeks. Let's put both feet in the road and work hard till the last class on Saturday, the 17th. Surely, our Christmas holidays will be much happier if we have the assurance of work well done.

—L. J.

MINOR RULES

We have been in school now for several months and should be familiar with all the rules. However in the last few weeks we have become lax in obeying a number of minor but important rules. Carelessness and not deliberate disobedience is the basis for such conduct. If we would take time to think at the exact moment we would not be so careless. For instance — after concerts and lectures some of us have been going across the street to the drug store without permission, yet we know that underclassmen cannot go across the street after seven without permission. Many of us have been wearing socks to dinner, yet we know hose must be worn then. These along with such House Regulation rules, as breaking busy signs, not obeying light and radio permissions, are the rules we have been neglecting. Let's begin anew today with a determination to uphold the Student Government by obeying the minor rules.

AT RANDOM

A, B, C

A is an Angel of blushing eighteen:
B is the Ball where the Angel was seen:
C is the Chaperon who cheated at cards:
D is the Deuxtemps, with Frank of the Guards:
E is the Eye, which those dark lashes cover:
F is the Fan, it peeped wickedly over:
G is the Glove of superlative kid:
H is the Hand which it spitefully hid:
I is the Ice which the fair one demanded:
J is the Juvenile, who hurried to hand it:
K is the Kerchief, a rare work of art:
L is the Lace which composed the chief part:
M is the Old Maid who watched the girls dance:
N is the Nose she turned up at each glance:
O is the Olga (just then in its prime):
P is the Partner who wouldn't keep time:
Q's a Quadrille, put instead of the Lancers:
R the Remonstrances made by the dancers:
S is the Supper, where all went in pairs:
T is the Twaddle they talked on the stairs:
U is the Uncle who 'thought we'd be going:
V is the Voice which his niece replied 'No' in:
W is the Waiter, who sat up till eight:
X is his Exit, not rigidly straight:
Y is a Yawning fit caused by the Ball:
Z stands for Zero, or nothing at all.

"Y" News

Miss Mary Weaver from the Academy will speak at Vespers Sunday night at 6:30. Everybody is invited to come to hear her. Special music will be given by the choir.

Next week Salem girls will have a chance to prove the old saying that 'way down deep in every woman's heart is the desire to cut, and stitch, and make! And even the most sophisticated and worldly minded young ladies will have the opportunity to show their feminine talents. For Tuesday afternoon in the recreation room of Biting building the "Y" will have material and needles and thread all ready to make hospital gowns to send to our Moravian Missionary, Dr. Thaeler, in his hospital way down somewhere in South America. Dr. Thaeler, has sent word that these gowns are very greatly needed in the work he is doing; so the "Y" will send twenty-five of them as a Christmas gift from Salem. The pattern that has been chosen is very simple, and therefore we think that no one will have difficulty in putting the "pieces" together. If a large number of girls come out, the task will be simple, and can be finished in the one afternoon.

SMILING THROUGH

Why all the smiling faces these days, Salemites! We are confronted on all sides by broad grins and sparkling eyes. Well, we agree with you that there are many things to make us happy this special time of the year.

Perhaps many of you are remembering your past four days vacation. Perhaps you still taste that luscious turkey, or maybe you are remembering that delightful feeling of sleeping until noon, with no lessons or classes to worry about.

Perhaps others of you are thinking of your three weeks of pleasure in the near future, that, delightful, most anticipated holiday of all the year, Christmas. Perhaps that indescribable something which we call the "Christmas Spirit" has already seized you, and you are filled with that heart-warming sentiment of good will and gladness that Christmas somehow always gives.

There may be others of you who are satisfied simply with the present. You are the wise ones who are aware of the fact that it is a special privilege to come to Salem and who are making the most of each day here.

Anyway, Salemites, we love to see you smile, and are very glad you are happy, whatever your reasons may be.

LIBRARY ACQUIRES HISTORY THESIS

Salemites will be interested in knowing that through Mr. Holder's generosity the Library has acquired "Community Life in Wachovia, 1752-1780," which is Mr. Holder's thesis for his Master of Arts degree. The thesis interprets the life of the first generation of Moravians in North Carolina and will prove a valuable reference source.
