DAY STUDENT

We've heard the old saying that a great many romances break up in the summer, but we know of at least two or three that have survived these past few months . . . Jane Kirk declares that she's still "that way" about Gordon, and we wonder why Margaret Holbrook played "Oh Davidson" so vigorously the first day of school! Jack? . . . All is still well between Betsy and Ralph, Salem's stand-bys, although Betsy says that things might have been different if jitterbug Frank Alspaugh had stayed in town . . . Run-or has it that Lib Nelson found the members of the caravan extremely intriguing — Especially a certain one from Georgia . . . Mary Ann couldn't wait for school to get started before she took a jaunt to Davidson — they always say "The early bird catches the worm!" . . . There's a general opinion that summer romances are merely passing fancies, but Chubby Hayes, Lena Morris, Mary Alice King, Phyllis Gosselin and Sarah Froeber tell us entirely different stories.

Davidson

Sept. 23—N. C. State at Greensboro, (night).
 Sept. 30—Duke at Davidson.
 Oct. 7—V. M. I. at Bluefield, W. Va.
 Oct. 13—Univ. South Carolina at Sumter, S. C.
 Oct. 28—Furman at Davidson.
 Nov. 4—Citadel at Davidson.
 Nov. 11—North Carolina at Winston-Salem.
 Nov. 18—Erskine College at Davidson.
 Nov. 30—Wake Forest at Charlotte.

FRESHMAN

What's this we hear about Phyllis getting a call Sunday afternoon? Hum, not bad, child. The phone has been busy lately . . . 'Ceal Nuckols was another lucky girl who talked to her one-and-only. Say, did you see the yummy flowers Mararuth got for her birthday? That's real devotion . . . Somewhere I faintly remember having heard something about one girl and three men! Oh, now I remember, it was out around the willow tree. Teh, teh, something should be done about such a deplorable condition. . . Who was the Freshman who walked into Chapel Thursday morning with the Sophomores? Just wait, it won't be long until it is proved to her that she's not a glorious Sophomore . . . Why do the Freshmen love the library so? Could it be that they're afraid of anything? Gracious, I hope not! . . . What girl sat in the bathtub on second floor for half an hour just at the word of a Sophomore? Boo!

A patriot is a man who is always willing to lay down your life for his country.
