Spanish Club Entertained By South American Orchestra Leader

At seven o'clock on Wednesday evening, February 25, 1942, El Club Espanol met in the recreation room of Louisa Bitting Building. The guest speakers, Mrs. Harold Mickey, a native of Argentina and Senor Juan Miranda, Cuban consul in Winston-Salem, were introduced by Miss Lucille Vest of the Spanish department. Mrs. Mickey told about Argentina in accented English which delighted the club members. Spanish students found Senor Miranda's talk on Cuba very interesting, although they discovered that their ears were not well tuned to his native tongue.

During the evening, Spanish songs were sung and Mr. Harold Mickey, a native of Winston-Salem who gained fame as an orchestra leader in Buenos Aires, played an original composition, "Dos Senoritas," which was written in honor of his small twin daughters. Refreshments were enjoyed.

MR. DUCKLES SPEAKS ON SUMMER WORK CAMPS

Mr. Edwin Duckles, a member of the Society of Friends' Service Commission, was the guest speaker at the Thursday Chapel. Mr. Duckles, who is at present at the University of North Carolina, spoke on "Summer Work Camps for Students."

In his talk he told of how every year college students from all over the United States give up their summer vacations and pay their own expenses in order to study and work with different needy sections. These students grew tired of only learning conditions of the sharecropper and migrators out of sociology book. They lived and worked with the people in these sections to which they went. There were three kinds of activities into which they could enter. They could have all school, all work, or four hours of work daily and four hours of school.

For specific examples of the benefits of these students, Mr. Duckles told how they built a dam with trees felled by a New England Hurricane. This made possible a lake which all people in the community and for miles around enjoyed as their favorite spot of recreation. He related how students had helped build community lodges and had led the recreation in them. The also did their own cooking.

Next summer trips are planned to Mexico and to the fishing village of Maine. Either of these trips would and also an inspiring and educational summer to any Salemite who would like to go. Mr. and Mrs. Duckles were available for Conference in the living room of Main Hall directly after Chapel was over.

SALEM COLLEGE SHOWS EDUCATIONAL MOVIES

Dr. Noble R. McEwen, head of the Department of Education and Psychology at Salem College showed three educational films at five o'clock, Thursday, March 5th, in the Old Chapel. These films were booked from the Bureau of Visual Division, University of North Carolina, and were of particular interest to those engaged in Child Study courses.

They included:
"Thirty-Six Weeks Behavior Day," by Dr. Arnold Gesell, director of Yale clinic of child development. A charted pictorial study of a 36-weeks old baby boy.
"Teaching with Sound Films," — teacher-training series, depicting units of instruction at the intermediate, junior and senior high school levels. These are sound films illustrated in a studies of "Plant Growth," "Sound," and "Work of Rivers."
"Living and Learning in a Rural School."

This was the second set of films shown to the education and psychology students at Salem College, and other pertinent ones will be secured in these educational series. The movies were open to any one interested in seeing them.

DR. MILNER SPEAKS TO SALEMITES

Dr. Clyde Milner, president of Guilford College, spoke in chapel last Thursday on the job ahead for College students. He emphasized the fact that one in every two hundred people in the United States is a college student, and, although, since the war began, students are beginning to feel that they are wasting time staying in school, it is best to stick to college. Dr. Milner stated that we should do the job we're doing now to the best of our ability until a larger job comes along. "Your biggest job now is to stay in school," he told the students; "so that you'll be prepared for the enormous tasks to do after the war is over."

CLEVELAND SYMPHONY TO APPEAR HERE SOON

The Cleveland Symphony Orchestra will play for the Winston-Salem Civic Music Association, Thursday night, March 26. Under its present conductor, Artur Rodzinski, who has filled this position for the past eight years, the orchestra has risen to be one of the most famous and well-known throughout the country.

The orchestra is highly praised by Olin Downs of the New York Times, who said, "The orchestra, which made a very good impression in previous seasons here, sounded even better than before . . . the players responded instantaneously to the conductor's slightest wish, and, regardless of personal estimate of his interpretation and manner in which they seemed to vary from time to time, Mr. Rodzinski continues to develop as one of the most authoritative and gifted leaders of his generation." It may be added that the breadth of its repertoire and the perfectness of its playing have been important to its success. Many will remember the sentiment and distinctness of tone with which it played Tchaikowsky's "Fifth Symphony" and Strauss' "Tales of the Vienna Woods" last year. Music-lovers here look forward to this year's concert as a climax to the 1941-42 series.

and the name of a "citizen." During the meal, the unfortunate initiates, desiring to become fellow citizens of the ancient Romans, provided amusing stunts with which the audience was well entertained. Appropriate toasts were made throughout the meal with "aqua pura" instead of the customary drink.

After dinner, the initiates were led blindfolded, one by one, into the hushed, solemn circle of toga-clad "citizens." Here before the judge, Dr. Smith, and consul, Mary Worth Walker, each initiate took the required oath by which she became a "citizen" of Alpha Iota Pi, and thus permitted to wear the customary toga, or robe, of Roman citizens to future meetings.

After the initiation ceremony, the President, Mary Worth Walker, welcomed the new members and told them a few points about the organization. She emphasized the fact that Alpha Iota Pi is an honorary society because its membership is based on those people who

New members received into the organization are Nellie Seewald, Mary Ellen Byrd, Joyce Carpenter, Joyce Wooten, Mary Lucy Baynes, Elizabeth Gudger, Nancy Johnston, Mary Alice Neilson, Jocelyn Mason, Virginia Gibson, Lucy Farmer, Virginia Greer, Katie Wolff, Craig Carmichael, and Elizabeth Bernhardt.

Old members present were Mary Worth Walker, Antoinette Barrow, Eugenia Baynes, Louise Bralower, Mary Joe Conley, Carrie Donnell, Ruth Hege, Margaret Moran, Ruth O'Neal, Marjorie Reavis, Doris Shore, Peggy Somers, Marie Van Hoy, Peggy Jane White and Miss Hixson and Dr. Smith, sponsors of the organization.

Invitations were in charge of Antoinette Barrow; place cards and decorations, Mary Worth Walker and Carrie Donnell.

"Do you know, Uncle," said little Jane, "that a baby that was fed on elephant's milk gained twenty pounds in a week?"
"Nonsense," said Uncle James. "Whose baby was it?"
"The elephant's," said the little girl.
