

Accent On Athletics

by Gloria Paul
Something Serious

To sum up the end of the softball tournament, the sophomores, by defeating the juniors with a score of 20 to 7, added another victory to their many. To start the game off right Mills hit a home run, but to end the game right Seville and Watkins knocked long and powerful homers into center field. The runs piled up for the sophomores: the game was over and the sophomores became this year's softball champs! The freshmen by winning the Monday afternoon have raised their total of games won up to three. Three cheers.

Something Silly

Give the old ladies a hand: we won't have them with us much longer. The seniors have had four years of hard work and have remained true blue to Salem and its standards. So naturally we can't expect our elders to exhibit so much pep on the athletic field—at least, if we did, we'd be disappointed.

One beautiful evening this week the old ladies kindly dismissed their canes and left their wheel chairs to take a standing place on the athletic field. After seeing them play softball, we can be thankful that the bases were padded—for comfort and relief. . . . For next year's seniors, we'll aim for lighter bats, smaller and whiter balls, shorter distances between the bases, and magnetic gloves. Perhaps a little sober water would help. Perhaps lighter skies would help. Perhaps you know that on Wednesday evening the freshmen took the seniors off the field by an alarming score of 29 to 8.

night. Alice Sit-by-the-Fire was Barrie's second attempt to present contemporary life in a fantastic manner for the theatre. (The Admirable Crichton, which incidentally, has a real geographical island, was the first.) Thomas Moul, critic and biographer, wrote of Alice: "Nowhere is the odd, whimsical, sympathetic nature of Barrie's work brisker or fresher."

War, were never carried out under the mandate. The Jews appeal that if for nothing more than humane reasons, the thousands of displaced Jews in Europe must be given a home.

A sub-committee of the Political and Security Council of the General Assembly has been unable to reach any agreement on whether the proposed commission of inquiry shall consider independence of the Holy Land in the immediate future as the Arabs wish, or as a measure to come with time, as the Jews wish. The issue must be settled this week.

sion has been adopted. None of the Big Five will have representatives, nor will any state or group directly interested in Palestine. This came as a defeat for Russia, which said Arab participation must be allowed.

Announcement

The faculty has added another regulation in the specifications as to class attendance. The rule now reads:

No cuts may be taken in laboratory work, in a class where a test has been announced, in a class where the student has a special report assigned, in a class in which the last official grade in the Recorder's office is below passing, or in a class in which there is an incomplete.

The interest of Russia in the case must be kept in mind. All their actions so far have been interpreted as siding with the Arabs. This move attracts attention because of Russia's obvious interest in the rich oil fields of the Middle East which are Arab-controlled. Jane Morris.
