Inflation And Communism Menace East

by Ruth Lenkoski

The export and import traffic in the U. S. has been crippled by a strike of all longshoremen who are members of the International Longshoremen's Association, of the AFL. In the East the strike began in New York, where shippers had to direct all traffic to other ports. In turn the union directed the locals in most of the ports on the East coast. This crisis, coupled with the eleven week old strike of longshoremen on the West coast, has brought almost all of the United States shipping and passenger service to a halt.

The union members expect to be out on strike for a considerable length of time, since they did not accept the compromise which the employers made. Last week the injunction period was terminated on the injunction which the government obtained under the Taft-Hartley Law last July. Since that time the union and employers have been negotiating and reached an agreement—on a ten-cent-per-hour wage increase and other benefits. The union members did not agree to this however, because they asked for a fifty-cent-per-hour wage increase. The employers say that they will make no concessions, but it seems most likely that they will have to.

While the "cold war" still rages in Europe, the attention of the world, for the present, has turned to China. The Communists now have possession of all of Manchuria and a good part of Northern China. The Nationalists are growing weaker and weaker militarily and economically. The morale of the Nationalist soldiers is low. The morale of the people is low. Inflation exists in its most extreme form. There seems to be no way out for Chiang, unless the U. S. provides aid immediately. Conferences are being held in Washington, but the men there think that stopping the Communist movement in Europe comes first. Whether the needed material and moral aid to the starving and vulnerable (by communism) people will be given remains to be seen.

Decrepit Seniors Win Title; First Time In Four Years

by Jan Ballentine

I heard Miss Stout comment after the Sophomore-Freshman game, "The best game I've seen this year." and it really was. The Freshman kept the Sophomores on their toes the whole game. While the Sophomores won 1-0, we give due credit to the Freshman. The Freshman kept the ball in the Sophs' territory for at least half the game but when the Sophs got the ball they dribbled down the field for about fifty yards and Shirley Baker made a beautiful drive into the goal cage. Almost as soon as the ball went into the goal cage the whistle blew and the game was over. Outstanding for the Freshman were Beverly Bryant, Emily Warden, Myrt Weily, Susan Sherman and Jane Watson. Outstanding for the Sophomores were Shirley Baker, Betty Biles, Jo Dunn and Squeaky Carson.

Be sure to attend Chapel December 7, in order to know your A. A. better. There will be an important program and also the awarding of letters.

Frosh Elect Clark And Lee

Sarah Clark was elected president of the Freshman Class at the meeting Thursday, November 18. Barbara (Bobbie) Lee was elected vice-president at the same meeting.

Sarah is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George T. Clark of Wilmington, North Carolina. She graduated from New Hanover High in Wilmington and is freshman hockey manager.

Bobbie Lee, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Lee of Winston-Salem, graduated from Reynolds High. Bobbie is a voice major.

As president of her class, Sarah automatically will be a member of the Executive, Legislative and Judicial Boards of the Student Government. Bobbie as vice-president, automatically will be a member of the Legislative Board.

Congratulations to Sarah and Bobbie on their election!

Other candidates for president were Joyce Clark, Lola Dayson, Betsy Hayes, Sue Lindsey, Ann McConnell, Jane Parker, Sally Senter and Ann Sprinkle. The other candidate for vice-president was Bobbie Pfaff.

Dean Hixson Announces Pre-Registration Plans

Town Girls Have Room

The first Monday after Thanksgiving, 309 Strong will be available for Day Students to spend the night on the campus when necessary. The College Administration has authorized this and the Day Students have begun plans for the room. There will be space for four girls (two double decker bunks) and the accessories for the room (such as linen, blankets, etc.) will be furnished by the Day Students as permanent fixtures. The college will donate laundry service for the linen. The purpose of the room is to provide accommodations for Day Students desiring to stay on campus for lectures, meetings, term papers, etc. All requests and arrangements will be made through Miss Hunter's office.

* Preliminary registration will be held on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday—November 30 and December 1 and 2. At sometime during these three days, every student must register with her faculty advisor for second semester. Advisors will post the times that they will be available for registration. Since second semester schedules are made out on this basis of preliminary registration, Miss Ivy Hixson has requested that each student make careful registration. Incorrect or incomplete registration may mean schedule conflicts for second semester.

Many new elective courses are being offered for second semester.

For education majors, Art 210 is being offered. It is a course in industrial art.

Two elective courses are being offered in Economics. Economics 200, a course in public finance, is being taught by Mr. Selfridge; and Economics 300 or personal finance is being taught by Miss Covington. Both of these are two-hour courses, open to seniors and to those who have had Economics 101 and 102.

Five elective courses in English are being offered second semester. English 111 (speech) is being taught by Miss Reigner. The prerequisite is English 110 or the permission of the instructor. Dr. Hulme is teaching a drama course, a survey of British and American drama since 1880, English 202. The Romantic poets, English 203, is being offered by Miss Byrd; and English 208, a study of Shakespeare's tragedies, is being taught by Dr. Hulme. Advanced composition, English 216, with the prerequisite of English 215 is also being taught.

Dr. Singer will teach a new history course, History 220. It will be a study of American diplomacy from 1933-49—the Roosevelt and Truman administrations. History 210 is a prerequisite for this course. History 226, a study of Europe in the 19th century, will be a new course taught by Mr. Leach. It will be a study of Europe from 1814 until 1914 with special emphasis on the Victorian Age, Congress of Vienna, Industrial Revolution, Doctrine of Progress and the rise of Germany and Italy. Other courses in history include 104, Modern World; 212, Comparative Government; and 222, Medieval Civilization.

Parade Shows Salem Court

The annual Christmas parade, sponsored by the Retail Merchants Association of Winston-Salem will be held this Saturday morning, November 20.

Miss Miriam Bailey will be honored as Queen of Christmas. Her attendants will include Misses Betty Ann Epps, Jean Epps, June Elder, Nell Trask, Connie Neamon and Ione Bradsher. There will be a special float designed for the Queen and her attendants. There will also be about ten other floats, fifteen giant balloons, ten bands, and special entries including those of the Community Chest, Winston-Salem Automobile Club and the United States Army recruiting service.

The parade will begin at ten o'clock and will form at the junction of West Fourth and Broad Streets and continue through the business section of town taking North and South directions.

Zip Has Vim And Vigor; Studies, Learns, Yearns

by Dale Smith

"I don't want to be interviewed", Janet Zimmer screamed dropping five stitches in her argyle socks. "I'm not being modest, I just don't want to be interviewed." For fifteen minutes she gestured wildly and mumbled incoherently. Her only audible remark was "such a situation!"

Fortunately I knew a few things about her already—that she was from Port Washington, New York—that she was a sophomore and an English major. Her roommate, Anne Spencer, supplied the rest. She told me that Janet had a nursery school last summer. Every morning she tended screaming four-year-olds, teaching them to paint and filling them with graham crackers and milk at mid morning. Her most nerve wracking experience was trying to get the poorly coordinated children to do calisthenics.

Janet spends most of her working hours in the Salemite office and her sleeping hours on second floor Clewell or on a couch in Davy Jones. Occasionally she plays a hand of bridge but she devotes a large part of her time to Hygiene and English Literature. The most interesting work she has done this year was a report on the care of the teeth and gums.

Janet is uncertain as to what she will do when she graduates but she has been receiving literature from the U. S. School of Music. This she hopes will be enough training to secure her a position singing A. B. C. commercials.

Clewell Ping Pong Champion Plays Flute And Knits

by Sis Pooser

During noisy hour you can usually find her at the piano in Davy Jones doing Alee Templeton variations or just plain boogey, depending on what you'd like to hear. Or maybe this current ping pong champ of Clewell is in the ping pong room setting those mean shots exactly on the edge of the table. Anyhow, you all know Cammy Lovelace. She hails from Henrietta, N. C. (she'll have to explain just exactly where that is) and is a piano major who also plays the flute and is partial to Stan Kenton's orchestra.

At present, Cammy is knitting some unique looking white socks. For whom? Well, she isn't quite sure yet. Most probably they're for Max who leads the list of Cammy's special likes. That's easy to understand once you get a glimpse of the lad. That same list by the way, is lengthy and includes math and hockey. Her dislikes are few, but the chief is breakfast; although she and her roommate Squeaky are delightful hostesses at soirees in their Clewell penthouse. The menu consists of peaches and homemade cake which are two of Cammy's favorite foods.

We leave our subject somewhat entangled in the wool of the white socks (less white at the cuff) but with the same sparkle in her eyes. It's there all the time—just look
