Reminders From The IRS

On Tuesday, March 13, Senator Fulbright will be our guest for dinner. Also with him will be several prominent citizens of Winston-Salem. The IRS Council would like very much for you to dress for dinner to be served at the regular 6 o'clock hour. A wool dress, heels, and hose will be appropriate.

As the weather is warm many of you will soon be taking sunbaths. Please read your handbook and check on the designated places to sunbathe. Remember that you are to wear a shirt and skirt or raincoat over your bathing suits to and from the designated sunbathing areas.

There are very few times when you are requested to dress for meals. The Council feels that you should wear "hose and heels or dressy flats to dinner on Sundays. Call downs will be given for failure to observe this rule.

Bunny Gregg To Represent Salem At Azalea Festival

Sunshine, flowers, pageantry, and celebrities equal the Azalea Festival and a gala weekend for Bunny Gregg. Bunny will not only be on the spot for the festivities (as many Salemites will be), but will be an active participant.

As Maid of Honor of the May Court, she will represent Salem on the Queen's Court at the Festival—this means a place of honor in the parade and being one of the Princesses at the Coronation Ball. There will also be various other activities planned for the Court—parties, luncheons, and a tour of the azalea gardens.

Needless to say, Bunny is excited over the prospect of the weekend. Besides the anticipated good time, Bunny will be given a new evening dress to wear to the Ball.

If 2nd Lt. Richard H. Marshall can arrange to leave Fort Knox, Kentucky, to be with her, April 6, 7, and 8 would certainly be perfect days. (By the way, Bunny and Dick are engaged as of last Thursday night.)
