

SNEA Attends Address Given By Salem Alumni

The seniors, just about to begin student teaching, learned some valuable information at the SNEA meeting on October 25. Ann Richard Ferrill and Hunter Gourdon Corbett offered several hints as to what to expect as a beginner at the front of the classroom. Ann, who is teaching Spanish at West Forsyth High School, discussed the special problems and joys of secondary teaching, while Hunter presented the highlights of elementary teaching as seen through her everyday experiences with the second year students of elementary school.

Both girls graduated from Salem last spring and are currently busy adjusting to marriage and work. An informal question and answer period composed the main body of the meeting. Sometimes the girls answered specific questions and at other times simply offered useful advice.

According to Ann and Hunter,

Salem Readies For State Men

Final details for the Salem College Choral Ensemble concert Monday night with the N. C. State University Men's Glee Club were completed last Friday when Milton Bliss, director of the 75 voice men's chorus, taped the girls in rehearsal. From all indications, the concert will be an exciting occasion with music appealing to scholarly musicians, folk song enthusiasts, church singers, and swingers. Guitarists will be treated to a special evening of music by Bunyan Webb, classical guitarist, and artist-in-residence at State.

Salem girls will be given an advance opportunity to look the boys over when they dine with the Choral Ensemble girls Monday night in the refectory at 6 p.m. Due to the tight schedule of rehearsals prior to the evening concert at 8 p.m., all other girls are warned to "just look" at the boys.

On Wednesday, the 53 Salem girls will board the bus in front of Clewell Dormitory at 1:45 p.m. to travel to Raleigh for a repeat concert at Student Union. The Choral Ensemble will be dinner guests of the University and will remain for a short reception following the concert. This will be the third consecutive fall concert with the N. C. State Men's Glee Club.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Ann Woodward, Assistant Professor of Physical Education and head of that department was promoted to Associate Professor of Physical Education by the Board of Trustees at their meeting, October 26.

Miss Jess Byrd will meet with Salem Alumnae in Fayetteville, Wednesday, November 1. Dean Hixson will also meet with alumnae in Charlotte, on Saturday, November 4. Large groups are expected for both sessions.

the most important characteristic which a teacher can possess is a creative mind to stimulate interesting and constructive learning. Ann stressed the importance of establishing a firm hand during the first few days of school and always following through with threats or promises. Hunter emphasized the great help which a weekly lesson plan can afford a teacher and students. The girls concluded the meeting by expressing their gratitude for the knowledge and understanding they had received from Salem and especially from the Department of Education.

OJ.

Again the U. of Hockey team tries to score a goal, but Gonzilla Gomer and Lotta Lotz pass the ball to pretty Gini P. F. Flyer, and the screaming voice of tough Thompson subsides to a dull whisper. The forward line seizes on this big opportunity and scores another goal.

Ahead by the score of 2-0, the Salem subs come in to enjoy their moments of glory. Replacing Twinkle Toes Thompson is Wonder Girl Wade, a goalie who is not quite as neurotic as Twinkle Toes, but who has the same apprehension of the position of goalie. Big C Watson goes in to take her position as a hefty halfback, backing up speed demon Gibbs, who has just returned from representing Salem in the state track and field tourney held at UNC-G. Traveling with Ann was soaring Susan Stratton, and although neither girl placed at UNC-G due to their small size, they were able to see professional "girl" track stars in action. Another addition to the forward line is Pretty Petty, who adds to the skill of the fleet footed forwards.

Among the ranks of the team are many freshmen who are responsible for Salem's lovely looking lineup. Blair Kerr, Gini Harper, Joy Harris, Betsy McAlister, Shelly Habeck, and Ethel Tobias are surely the envy of their non-hockey playing classmates who wish that they could be included on so great a hockey team.

The new team scores a goal, and the final score of the game is 3-0 in favor of the super star Salem team.

The team, after winning, is taken in the school bus to Ken's for a discreet and quiet victory celebration. Everyone toasts their teammates, and there are special requests made by various players. The wish that seems to stand out is the wish by our goalie that she be given tranquilizers, Sominex, and three cartons of cigs for her tremendous efforts in the game, as well as for her nerves which were affected very much by the strain of the game.

After much fun and rejoicing, the hockey team wends its way back to the hallowed halls of Salem, with the end to a perfect day being the horrendous hero welcome of the hockey team by the Salem students.

Mocks Reluctantly Return After Extended Scandinavian Tour

By Frances Breeden

Mrs. Esther Mock, Director of the Salem College News Bureau, and her husband Vernon have returned from an exciting three week trip to Scandinavia. They flew from New York to Hamburg, experiencing, as Mrs. Mock termed it, "the night that never was." They were served dinner after leaving New York; three hours later, served breakfast due to the time difference. In Hamburg they picked up their little VW and crossed the Skagarrac into southern Norway.

With a "Two For The Road" attitude, the Mocks saw whatever interested them and stopped wherever they chose. Since it was an October trip, they were not bothered by other tourists or by reservation problems. After exploring the fjords by boat, they drove over the mountains from Bergen to Oslo. Had they been a week later, they would not have made it; the roads were closed. They just drove through the first big snow! From Oslo, they visited Stockholm and Copenhagen.

One interesting experience in Sweden was to drive down recently changed roads with traffic lane arrows pointing at you instead of forward. Sweden has just begun to drive on the right side of the road. Driving through the mountains, they noted poles along the side of the roads with colored lines on them. When snow comes up to a certain line, the road is closed.

In Copenhagen, their last stop before flying home, they visited the 800th Design Festival and saw outstanding work in modern design of leather, fabrics, ceramics, wood, and silver. They also saw many Scandinavian hippies. According to Mrs. Mock, "The only way you can tell the boys from the girls is that the girls brush their hair."

Mrs. Mock said she thought Norway was the prettiest country, but Denmark had the best food. They feel as though they have made their October trip a tradition. This was the second European visit in two years, and they want to go back.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Miss Margaret Simpson has recently been elected President of the North Carolina Association of Collegiate Registrars and Admissions Officers. She served as vice-president this past year. She will preside at the convention in Greensboro, November 1 and 2. Mr. Watts Hill, Jr., Chairman of the N. C. Board of Education, will speak.

book budget. Books from all subject areas covered by the curriculum will be purchased with this gift.

The Student Enterprise Committee gave to the library $100 from profits which was used to purchase a small portable microfilm reader. This is needed to help out with the regular reader in busy times, and also it can be carried to other parts of the library if needed.

With the increased book budget possible this year the library expects to increase acquisitions to meet the new demands of the curriculum and student body.

MENC Elects Three Salemites

Newly elected officers of the Salem College chapter of the Music Education's National Conference are as follows: Patsy Martin, President and Bonny Prevatte and Mary Hunter, Co-Chairmen of the Program Committee. For the first program the speaker will be Betty Fulcher ('67) who is now teaching music in the elementary schools of Winston-Salem. This program should be of special interest to all future elementary teachers. MENC would like to invite all prospective teachers to this meeting. The day and time of the meeting will be announced at a later date.
