

The Salemite

Volume LVI

Salem College, Winston-Salem, N. C. — Thursday, February 28, 1974

Number 11

By Cindy Greever

Those who did not attend the Archway's concert Thursday night missed a professional performance by the ex-USO troupe as they dazzled their way through an evening of song and dance.

Salem's own goldiggers presented a show as close as possible to the ones they performed during January. Their tour took them to military establishments in Panama, Cuba, Charleston, and other points in the sunny climes. A personal touch was added to the performance as individual members of the Archways told amusing anecdotes about their trip and provided picturesque slides of the tropics.

With songs ranging from twangy country ditties to mood melodies, the Archways displayed their versatilities and new-found professional polish to a delighted audience which I'm sure will join me in saying, "We hope to hear again soon from the Archways!"

Salem Grads Exhibit Mixed-Media

By Beecher Mathes

The Associated Artists of Winston-Salem are presenting a multi-media show by Betty Wilson Holland and Anne Sink Cashwell at the Hanes Community Center Gallery, now through Friday, March 1, with no charge for admission. The two artists are exhibiting a varied display of mixed media. Mrs. Holland enjoys painting landscapes and flowers with oils and watercolors in a delicate style that is mainly realistic. Mrs. Cashwell prefers coastal landscapes but draws on a wide range of subjects in her etchings, woodcuts, acrylics, and watercolors.

A native of Lexington, N. C., Anne Cashwell came to Winston-Salem in 1956. After attending Lenoir-Rhyne College, she graduated from Salem College in 1968, receiving a B.A. degree with a major in Art. Anne currently lives in Pfafftown and teaches second grade at Oldtown. Her prints and watercolors have appeared in three major juried shows, and she had a one man show at Hanes Gallery in 1969.

Graduating from Salem in 1936, Betty Holland received a B.S. degree with a major in Biology. She has had work accepted by the Gallery of Contemporary Art and four AAWS Annual Juried Shows. In 1971 and again in 1972, her paintings were shown at Hill Haven. Besides AAWS, Betty is currently a member of N. C. Associated Artists, Art Gallery Originals, and the Arts and Crafts Association.

Would you believe Florida sunshine in the middle of Salem Library? This tree of knowledge inspires our intellect to flourish and grow.

Weekend Wayfarers, Unite!

By Lynne Mappus

I make but a brief plea for those with cars who travel to particular areas of special interests to Salemites to pool your resources. Now is not the time to leave on Thursday and come back on Sunday all by your lonesome. Although you might be able to afford gas, you may not be able to find it. Is an extra hour or two on Friday too long to wait for someone to avoid taking two cars to Okee Punokee instead of one? Think of the benefits!

If your dad lets you charge gas, you could make a little extra spending money by asking for a round trip fee. It's just not that difficult to put a sign up list on the bulletin board requesting riders. The Chapel Hill riders have formed the Chapel Hill

Riders Association. Why not the Richmond Riders Association?

Durham
Raleigh
Charlotte
Columbia

A list consisting of all the Chapel Hill regulars will be posted on the bulletin board each week. At the beginning of the week each rider answers a few questions about her weekend plans (such as are you planning to drive, when are you leaving, and when will you return). Each rider then rechecks the list later on in the week and makes appropriate contacts.

I can't believe it took a gas crisis for us to figure this out. We should have been organizing all along. Sweethearts get yourselves together!

Twenty-Five Needed For Internship

Twenty-five internships are available for students in the Department of Natural and Economic Resources' Summer Intern Program.

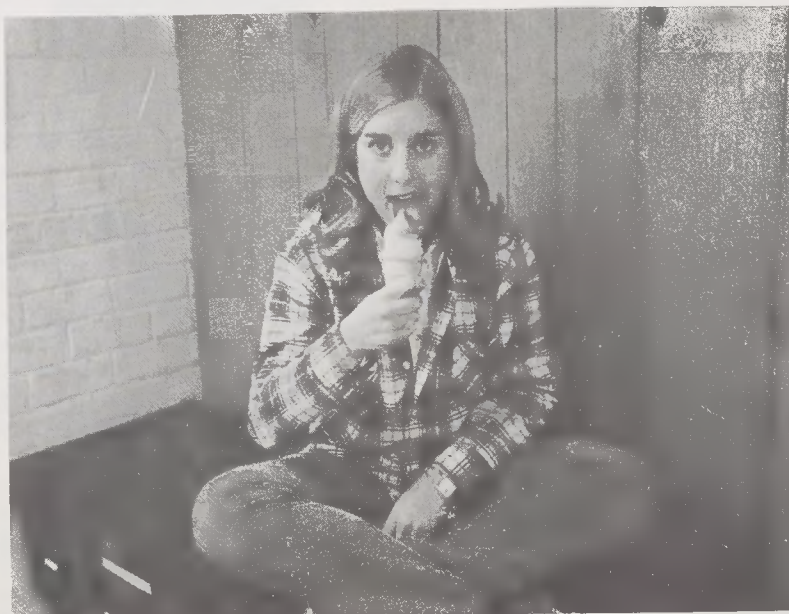

Applicants must have completed two years of college or technical training to qualify for the internships.

This is the program's third year. It is designed to supplement student classroom work with practical experience, while providing the department with assistance in problem solving, according to Dr. Arthur Cooper, Assistant Secretary of the Department of Natural and Economic Resources. Most of the internship programs are located in the Raleigh area, with some scattered across the State. The students usually work for 12 consecutive weeks between May 6 and August 30.

Among the projects to be covered are Land use planning, computerized inventory of state air quality and fuels, and geological properties of New Hanover County.

Information blanks may be obtained from the Personnel Office, Department of Natural and Economic Resources, Box 27687, Raleigh, 27611, or by calling (919) 829-4860. Deadline for applications is March 15.

Lockhart Ledbetter, new Salemite editor, really gets the "scoop."

Affirmative Action Committee Organizes and Holds Meeting

Salem's recently appointed Affirmative Action Committee, headed by Wilson Place, business manager, held its first meeting January 29 when Marshall Bass of R. J. Reynolds personnel department explained the purposes and goals of the Affirmative Action concept.

Affirmative Action is the general term under which HEW enforces equality of hiring, promotion, and pay regardless of "race, creed, color, religion, sex, age or national origin. Salem College and Academy now has its own committee, comprised of fourteen members representing all employment areas of the campus community. They are working towards a definitive policy in keeping with this Executive order. The committee is conducting an in-depth review of Salem College's and Salem Academy's employment policies, procedures, practices and patterns.

Members of the committee in addition to Mr. Place, are: College: Dr. Mary Homrighous and Dr. Clark Thompson, faculty; Dean Janis Somerville, administrative officer; Ms. Nancy Stephens and Ms. Gertrude Wilson, administrative staff (non-academic professionals and secretarial-clerical); Ms. Lucy Ennis, housekeeping staff; James Jefferson, maintenance staff; Ms. Frances Parrish, laundry staff, and Ms. Chris Bell, house counsellors. Committee members representing the Academy include: Ms. Eleanor Blackmore and Ms. Karla Posey, faculty; Ms. Frances Beattie, administrative staff, and Ms. Werna Council, housekeeping staff.

A statement from Dr. Chandler outlining Salem's position and goals in this area have been sent to each employee and will be sent to each student later this month.

With work on the library finally completed, its dedication can now take place. By now, everyone is aware that it has been named after Salem's 13th president, Dr. Dale H. Gramley, but what most of you probably don't know is that the dedication will be held on Thursday, April 4th, at 2:30 p.m. If the weather permits, the ceremony will take place outside in order to accommodate what is expected to be a large crowd, according to Ms. Susan Taylor of the library staff. Dr. Gramley will be present, of course, along with the trustees, members of the faculty and administration, students from the Academy as well as the College, and alumnae. A real surprise is the guest speaker, Wallace Carroll; no one will want to miss him.

After the ceremony, a reception will be held and guests will be invited to tour the library. Also, the March issue of the Alumnae bulletin, containing information and news about the library, will be available for guests at the reception. Ms. Taylor stressed that the student body is cordially invited to attend, and the staff sincerely hopes that everyone will come. After all, it is OUR library.
