LET'S WATCH OUR CONDUCT

Although we may not think so, our conduct grade is one of the most important grades on our report card.

After all if we do not know how to conduct ourself properly, an education will not do us much good.

Last month the conduct grades were lower than they should have been. Perhaps it was because we had not got settled back in the regular school routine. I'm afraid though, it was principally carelessness and forgetfulness on our part.

Remember also that our attitude toward work, classmates, and teachers, as well as school spirit, are included in our conduct grades. If we are a little more thoughtful this month, I am sure that there will be a great improvement in everybody's grade, and a better cooperative spirit will develop between teachers and students.

ONE FOR ALL, ALL FOR ONE

To feel that our efforts at publishing a newspaper has the interest of the merchants of Bailey and Wilson makes our struggles appear not in vain. Then we of the staff of this paper wish to express our thanks to all those who have helped in the promotion of this paper by advertising through its columns. Especially are we proud of the interest shown by Mr. Preston Finch by his full page ad given for each month. We would like to ask that all students, teachers, and parents make their purchases, whenever possible, with those friends. If the publication of our paper is dependent upon their cooperation, certainly their success in turn is dependent upon our purchases from them. We feel indebted, too, to Rachel Bissette, Esther Finch, Jack Farmer, Isabelle Vick, Sidney Jones, and Maebelle Bissette for presenting our cause and need to these firms so effectively.

SUPPORT YOUR BASKET-BALL TEAM

As almost everyone knows, a game can be played better when the members of the team feel they are supported by a spirit of genuine interest. And from where does this interest come? From the crowd that attend the game. If the crowd is not, at the game, the spirit is not, and the playing is not at its best. Is a winning basket-ball team our goal this year? Then we must attend the games and bring our friends also. Attend home games by all means; and, if possible, go with the team to opposing schools.
