

NINTH GRADE PAPER SHOWS QUIZ PROGRAM CONTINUES EVIDENCE OF SPLENDID WORK

The staff of the "Bailey Bugle" wishes to congratulate the staff of the Raveloe Weekly for the splendid edition recently published, dedicated to Silas Marnor.

A new project, that of publishing a paper, has just been completed by the ninth grade English Class. The articles for this seven page paper, the Raveloe Weekly, were themes written by the students under the supervision of Mrs. Farmer, English teacher, and the typing was done by Mildred Ruffin. The paper was devoted to the story of Silas Marnor and contained all the important features of the story. Each student had a part in this paper; some wrote and prepared the articles, while others copied them on the mimeograph. Some of the students prepared imaginary advertisements which they supposed would have appeared in a paper of that date. Each character of the story was well represented in the articles and stories of the paper. A map at the back showed the setting of the story and position of the various places mentioned in the novel.

JUNIOR-SENIOR BANQUET PLANNED

Final plans for the Junior-Senior Banquet are being made by the junior class of Bailey High School. The banquet is to be held at the club house in Bailey on Friday night, March 21.

Finances for the banquet are to be obtained from the fifty-cent donations of each student and from the proceeds of the junior play.

The senior class, as well as the junior class, is urged to advertise the play, for without an audience the expenses of the banquet cannot be met without tapping school funds.

*****

Each Friday for the past few weeks Bailey High School students have been "putting on their thinking caps" as the senior class presented quiz programs of news flashes of the week.

To encourage high school students to read newspapers, listen to the news broadcasts, and learn more about the world as it stands today is the purpose of the weekly programs.

Prizes are awarded those scoring highest each week. Almost every week students have tied for first and second places. Those winning prizes to date are Leroy Ray, Sidney Jones, Josephine Lamm, Kenneth Farmer, Brooks High, Hildred Ruffin, and Jack Farmer. The funds for this purpose was donated by Mr. Blackwell of the L. G. Balfour Company, who stated that his gift might be used any way the school deemed advisable.

LIMERICKS

THE CROOKED MAN

I saw a man with a crooked nose;
He also had two crooked toes.
He said "I don't care,
Cause I didn't put them there."
And that's the way everything goes.

Hollis Haskins

MY HISTORY BOOK

I hope that I shall never see,
A book like my old history,
Whose back is blue
And worn out too;
So take that book away from me.
Carl Walker, Jr.

JIM

There was a young fellow named Jim.
He was exceedingly slim;
His hair he wore slick;
And his beard he wore thick,
And he sparkled with health and vim.
