

Coach Rogers Gives A Point For A Better Team

"Do you really know what it takes to make a good ball team?" This question was asked recently by Coach Rogers at a meeting of the teams. "No, it is not cooperation alone. I will admit that cooperation has a lot to do with the success of any team but there is one thing that goes for an even more successful team." Mr. Rogers went on to say: "We need two teams, one just about as good as the other."

"But why," the team inquired, "Do you need two teams for one school?"

"Well," said the coach, "If every player knows that there is another player 'warming' the bench who is just as good as he is, it is only natural for that player to do his best as long as he is in the game."

The team agrees with you, Mr. Rogers-- that will make a good team
