HAVE YOU BOUGHT A STAMP?

YOUNG AMERICANS BUY DEFENSE STAMPS

Little Miss Jan Perry has stopped buying popsicles but, instead, is buying Defense Stamps.

Master Penn Warriner bought Defense Stamps with money he received Christmas. He is also trying hard to make "A's" on his report card, because for every "A" his daddy gives him a Defense Stamp.

Others who have bought Defense Stamps are Clara Lou Stott, Elsie Pearl Strickland and Lamar Finch.

STORY WRITTEN
 BY FIRST GRADE
 JEAN'S DOLLIE

Jean brought her doll to school.
 Her name is Dollie.
 Dollie has curly hair.
 She can open and shut her eyes.
 She can cry.
 She is pretty.
 Santa Claus brought Dollie to Jean.

MISS QUINN'S CLASS MAKES RESOLUTIONS

Resolutions made by pupils in our room for the new year were in observance of national defense.

Resolved: to pick up all nails on streets and highways.

Resolved: to pick up broken glass and sticks to help protect tires for this year.

Resolved: to work harder.

Resolved: to become better citizens.

Master Sammy Phillips is recovering nicely from a tonsillectomy. His teacher and playmates have missed him very much and are anxious for his return to school.

Miss Batts' second grade had an excellent attendance last month of 99 $\frac{1}{2}$ %. There were only two absences during the month.

A Problem

James: "Mother, Miss Thompson says I'm a problem child.
 Am I subtraction or addition?"

Teacher: (Reviewing a lesson about Long-fellow). "Whom did we study about yesterday?"
 Pupil: "That tall fellow!"
