SNOOPING SAM

Notice all the sweet couples up and down the halls swapping smiles. (smuch mush!)

Members of the twelfth grade on study hall fascinate me as I watch them patiently tearing out all their beautiful locks over a shorthand book.

Looking down the hall, about two thirds of the students look like boys until we notice the red finger nails. (riding pants fad.)

Boys take a tip from Jack Farmer and have your hair cut in the latest style, "Jap-Sham."

Did I hear Sue Lassiter come to the twel-

Senior Play Repeated

Gross receipts from both performances of the Senior play given March 6 and March 10 amounted to $35.25.

A large number of students unable to come Friday night saw the play Tuesday morning.

Comments were favorable in regard to the plot and acting ability of the players.

fth grade door and call, "Mother"?

Why were certain tenth grade girls so set on having a dance when I'll bet half of them can't even shake a leg.

Did you see, of all things, the twelfth graders come out of the building last during the first fire drill.

Eighth graders complain of seeing spots before their eyes. Gray ones!

Somehow it doesn't seem just right not to see Maebelle around anymore. We miss her two-wheel antics with her bus.

MISS PRIVETTE BECOMES ARMY HOSTESS

Miss Helen Privette recently resigned as music teacher at Bailey High School to take up duties as an army hostess at Fort Bragg, North Carolina.

Miss Privette will be succeeded by Miss Mabel Lewis, librarian of the Bailey Community Library. Mrs. Lewis plans to continue her position as well as to teach the young people piano lessons.

"WHAT HAVE YOU?" PRESENTED

What have you? was the one question that kept everyone searching during a recent chapel program given by the twelfth grade.

Such questions as: Have you a cold? If you have, sneeze twice. Have you a hole in your sock? and Have you the answer?, were asked.

If you possessed the asked for article, or answer, awards were given.
