

Defense Courses Taught In School

Since State Superintendent of Public Instruction, Clyde Erwin, asked all North Carolina schools to introduce defense subjects, Bailey has begun for the eleventh and twelfth grades courses in calisthenics, nutrition, first aid, and communicable diseases.

TEACHERS ARE LEADERS

By cutting the lunch period to twenty minutes the high school has a twenty minute PHYSICAL EDUCATION period each afternoon. The teachers direct these exercises.

Already the girls and boys of the eleventh and twelfth grades have completed a course in NUTRITION under Mrs. Robers. They were taught what foods to eat, and how, through individual health habits, to make a healthier nation.

MR. LOY CONDUCTS RELIGIOUS SERVICES

Beginning next week and continuing through March 20, Rev. W. L. Loy will hold a series of religious lectures in the Bailey School in connection with National Religious Week.

Mrs. Underwood and Miss Lackey each teach a course in FIRST AID. All students above 17 passing the test at the end of the course will receive a senior certificate, any others passing will receive junior certificates.

Mrs. Farmer conducts a class in COMMUNICABLE DISEASES, stressing the causes and prevention of the more prevalent of these diseases.

CREDIT GIVEN

The course in SAFETY has not yet begun, but Mrs. Lassiter plans to start it as soon as some of the other classes are completed. These courses, taught during study periods, will count as a half unit for those who need it for graduation.

FORT BRAGG SOLDIERS VISIT BAILEY

Over the week-end of February twenty-first nineteen soldiers of a Medical Corp from Fort Bragg were entertained in Bailey. During this week-end, homes throughout the county were opened to "Our Boys". Army trucks brought the regiment to Nash, Saturday afternoon, and carried them back to the Post Sunday.

The boys arrived at the drug store Saturday afternoon where they were introduced to their host by Mr. Loy, who was in charge.

ENTERTAINMENT PROVIDED

Here the town people took over and provided various entertainments. For a week-end the boys again enjoyed the luxuries of home-cooked food, a soft bed and an open fire. Quoting from a letter received from one of them, "this taste of home life combined with Bailey's southern hospitality gave me a good feeling inside which will stay with me for a long time."

Plans are being made to entertain another group the third week-end in March.

HONOR ROLL for February

- JOSEPHINE LAMM
- MARIE MORGAN
- KENNETH FARMER
- MAUDE LEWIS
- SEROBA ANDERSON
- FLORENCE JOYNER

CORBETT'S SERVICE STATION

esso products oil fuel

BAILEY, N.C. PHONE 286